XXV EDITION

TERMS

Cash with order, or a deposit sufficient to cover express charges and balance C. O. D. Orders of $5.00 or less should be accompanied by the cash. When full amount of cash is sent with order, the customer will save the charges made by the express company for collecting and returning the money, and discount of 2 per cent.

 When telegraphing deposit money with agent of express company by which goods are to be shipped, and have him wire us the order, stating amount of money deposited.

HOW TO SEND MONEY

Remittance can be made by Express Money Order, Post Office Money Order, Bank Draft (on Chicago or New York); or if cash is sent, by Registered Letter.

HOW TO SHIP

The SAFEST and most SATISFACTORY way of shipping is by express.

It is cheaper, but not as safe, to send small articles by mail. Orders so sent must be paid for in advance, and sufficient amount added to cover the postage. For mailing rates on slides, see page 251.

WE GUARANTEE

Our goods to be as represented, and should any error occur through defective material or inferior workmanship, advise us at once and it will be corrected.

Should you have friends living in the city, and will have them call on us, we will be pleased to show them the goods you anticipate purchasing.

ADVERTISING

For posters, see page 219. Blank Daters for posters 50c 1000. Admission Tickets free to purchasers of complete outfits.

NOTICE.

Omissions of page numbers will be found occasionally throughout the Catalogue. These were made for the purpose of providing space for future insertion of additional matter.

In ordering slides be sure to give number of slide and page, with title of set from which slide is selected.

See footnotes on Catalogue pages for special prices of slides.

Will it Pay?

x x x

THIS is the question that naturally rises when one anticipates embarking in a new enterprise. Ten years ago it was prophesied that the stereopticon, as an entertainer, would be less used in the future than it was at that time. This, however, was a mistake, for the demand has been increasing ever since and today it is used more for entertainments than ever before. When you add a moving picture machine to the stereopticon, you double its value.

No other class of entertainment has so large a field in which to work, and no other can be operated at so small an expense. There are public halls, schools, churches, fairs, lodges, and an endless number of different societies where exhibitions can be given.

Another profitable channel is street advertising. Live business men are always ready to patronize any attractive method of advertising, for which they are willing to pay a good price. Advertising slides for this work can be made with a kodak by any amateur, or the local photographer will make them at small expense. They should be interspersed with comic slides or local scenes, portraits of prominent people, or still better with moving pictures.

Churches and societies are usually glad of an opportunity to raise money for their own financial assistance, and for a share of the receipts will sell the tickets and distribute the advertising posters.

It is not necessary to prepare your own lecture or to be a public speaker. Printed lectures on almost all subjects can be obtained, which are to be read as the slides are thrown on the screen. In all our lectures, each paragraph has a number to correspond with the slide, so no mistake or delay can be made. Many of the most successful exhibitors have never spoken in public before.

Some give the entire entertainment alone. This can be done by memorizing the lecture and describing each slide as it is thrown on the screen.

For one with limited capital, the small towns offer a good field. These people have few opportunities to see an entertainment; they are easily pleased and are liberal patrons of anything in this line.

About fifty views with printed lecture is usually sufficient for an entertainment. A few comic slides, however, will please the juvenile part of the audience and add "spice" to the exhibition.

Moving pictures are still in their infancy, and as improvements are made will grow in favor with the public. The fact of being able to bring to our very door all the important events of the world in actual life and motion, is sufficient proof that this class of entertainment will never grow old.

The Victor III Talking Machine, with flat hard rubber records, as shown in another part of this catalogue, will be found a valuable addition to an entertainment. With a combined stereopticon and moving picture machine and one of these Grand Concert talking machines, you can reproduce, at your command, all that is beautiful to the eye and all that is pleasing to the ear.

In every locality there is an opening for a man with small capital, and if you will only let it be known that you are prepared to give this kind of an entertainment, you will have little difficulty in procuring engagements.

The labor is light, the employment pleasant; expenses are small and the profits large when well advertised.

There are a few who have gone into this business and made a failure. This can usually be traced to an inferior machine and a class of views of no interest to the public, or to the exhibitor himself, who lacks sufficient tact and energy to manage the business and who no doubt has made a failure of everything he has undertaken. "A business neglected, is a business failure." For a steady, industrious man there is a good living and a good profit.

We have had twenty years' experience as exhibitors and manufacturers, and are always ready to give any suggestions or information to those who anticipate purchasing an outfit. Our dark room is provided with all kinds of lights used for projecting work, and is especially adapted for instruction and practice. Personal instructions are not necessary. By following the printed directions, anyone of ordinary intelligence can learn to operate the apparatus. Still, where convenient to do so, it would be time well spent to call on us, select your outfit, and receive personal instructions and practice under a competent operator.

Many who anticipate purchasing a lantern are at a loss to know what style of lantern to select or of whom to purchase it. We regret to state that there are many inferior lanterns and slides on the market—that from inferior goods, fine cuts can be made and cleverly worded descriptions given, that (with the low price usually quoted) "catch the unwary victim". From a cut you cannot tell the grade of material, class of workmanship or quality of lenses. We always have on hand a stock of second hand lanterns and point with pride to the fact that they are lanterns of other makes than our own. We usually get them in exchange from experienced exhibitors who have learned the difference between a poor instrument and a good one and who recognize and appreciate the superior quality of our lantern. Do not buy a lantern simply because it is cheap. Select what you think best adapted for your work even though it may cost a little more.

The first thing to decide in selecting a lantern, is whether you want a single one or a double dissolving lantern—the next question is the light—whether electric, oxy-hydrogen (calcium), acetylene, etc., and the last to consider is the slides or views. The latter can be rented if desired which will be found very convenient for those who are permanently located. We are the largest manufacturers of slides, stereopticons and supplies in this country—we occupy more space, employ more help than any other firm in our line and are therefore in position to furnish the best goods for the least money. Our goods must be seen to be appreciated.

Should you anticipate a visit to our city, we would be pleased to have your mail sent in our care and have you make our place your headquarters.

Setting Up and Operating a Lantern.

Care should be taken to have a good firm rest for the instrument, as the least shaking or movement of the lens is greatly magnified on the screen.

To obtain the best results, the lantern should be elevated as nearly on a level with the center of the screen as possible. When this is not convenient, tilt the lantern sufficiently so the light will be thrown on center of the curtain. If the instrument is tilted a good deal it would be well to tilt the screen to correspond. When using a short focus objective lens, the lantern is always placed near the screen and the nearer the screen, the less the lantern should be tilted. The same rule applies to placing the lantern on an angle with the screen it should be directly in front.

Place the lantern at proper distance from the screen to obtain the desired size picture, the greater the distance from the screen the larger the picture. Care should be taken to have the lenses clean, and if necessary to remove the glasses, be careful to replace them in the same order you found them.

Instructions for Single Lantern with Calcium Light.

Examine the tubes and blow pipe (light jet) to see that they are free from all obstructions. Place the lime pencil in the holder, so that in revolving it will keep at same distance from the tip of burner. When in proper position the lime should be from an eighth to a quarter of an inch from the tip, the distance varying according to the angle the tip is bent. If the lime is too close, the light will make great deal of noise, and if too far away, the light will not be so bright. After the lime is in position, place the burner in the lamp house, and by means of the rubber tubing, connect the burner with the tanks. Slowly open the hydrogen (black) tank and light at the tip. When the blaze is four or five inches above the lime, slowly turn on the oxygen (red) tank, until the blaze is nearly consumed. The hydrogen gas should always be slightly in excess, which will be indicated by little orange color around edge of the light. Adjust the amount of hydrogen and oxygen to obtain the best light with the least noise—place the burner so there is some light on the curtain—put slide carrier with a slide in the lantern—open or close bellows as the case may require, until an approximate focus is obtained—remove the slide and proceed to “clear up” the field. To do this see cuts and instructions “How to get a good light on curtain”

After a clear field or good light on the curtain is obtained then replace the slide before the condensing lens and “make the picture sharp” by the thumb screw on the objective lens. Do not look directly at the light in the lantern, as it will “blind” the eyes, so you cannot tell when the picture is in perfect focus. You can look at the back of the lime, or in nearly all lanterns there is a colored glass on side of the lamp house through which you can see the light.

Instructions for Double Dissolving Lantern with Calcium Light.

A dissolving apparatus consists of two lanterns of same design, so arranged that a view from each lantern can be alternately thrown on the screen. As one view disappears, the other appears in the same place and without darkening the screen.

To set up dissolving lantern, proceed with each lantern same as instructions for “Single Lantern with Calcium Light”. After clear field is obtained and both lanterns are in focus, put a slide in each lantern and move the slide carriers a little to one side or the other to match the pictures sideways. Then tilt the top lantern up or drawn as the case may require to match the pictures up and down. The idea is to have both pictures cover the same place on the screen. Our “Leader” lantern is provided with special side and up and down adjusting screws which make registering the pictures very convenient. Great improvement will be found in using a slide carrier with a metal mat (see index for Improved Double Slide Carrier).

The Dissolving Key for Calcium Light.

By a simple device called a “dissolving key,” the light from one lantern is “turned” into the other. By this means one view gradually blends, or dissolves into the other—as one fades away the other gradually takes its place. Of dissolving keys there are two kinds, namely the low pressure and high pressure. The low pressure key can be used with two tanks or with one tank and saturator, while the high pressure key can be used only with two tanks.

A dissolving key should occasionally be taken apart, cleaned and oiled. The oil and dirt should be removed with tissue paper or something free from grit. Care should be used not to scratch or injure the plug or seat when the dissolver is apart. Much time and skill is required to make a high pressure key and a scratch or little grit might cause the dissolver to leak, which would practically ruin it. Before the "plug" is put back in place, carefully wipe all the oil out of the grooves and see that the nipples are clear. Vaseline is better than oil for dissolving key.

Instructions for Using a Low Pressure Dissolving Key.

With low pressure key the amount of gas consumed is regulated by the valve at the tank and the gas therefore passes into the dissolver only as fast as it is consumed by the burners, i. e. the tank valve must occasionally be opened a little as the gas is consumed.

With the rubber tubes connect the blow pipe, or jet, of one lantern to one side of the dissolving key, and the other lantern to the other side of the dissolving key. The remaining two nipples of dissolving key should be connected with gas tanks—care should be taken to connect the hydrogen (black tank) with the nipple marked H and the oxygen with the nipple marked O. If not connected right the dissolver will not work. After limes have been placed in the burners and all connections with dissolver properly made, turn the lever or handle of dissolving key around half as far it will turn or until it stands directly over the two nipples connected with the tanks—then slowly open the hydrogen valve at the tank and light both burners—now turn lever of dissolving key from one side to the other and see that the set screws (in dissolving key) are so adjusted that only a small flame is left burning in the lantern that is turned off—when the lever is turned round far as it will go, it should strike against the end of one of these set screws, so the farther it is screwed in the larger will be the blaze. This small blaze of hydrogen is termed the "off flow" and its use is to light the mixed gas when the dissolving key is turned. With some dissolving keys the "off flow" is not controlled by lever striking against end of set screws but by thumb screws that are entirely independent of the lever.

After the flow of hydrogen on both burners is adjusted, turn the lever to one side and slowly turn on the oxygen. Before turning on the oxygen, there should be a blaze of hydrogen four or five inches above the lime. Regulate the amount of each gas until the best light with the least noise is obtained. See instruction under "Single Lantern with Calcium Light." Should the light "pop" or go out when turning the lever, it is usually from lack of sufficient hydrogen. Always keep the hydrogen a little in excess of the oxygen, which can be seen by the yellow fringe or flame around the light.

Instructions for a High Pressure Dissolving Key.

A high pressure key is usually attached direct to the tanks and full pressure of the tanks is turned into the key. The gas for each burner is regulated by small valve in the dissolving key. It is more convenient to operate and by many is preferred to the low pressure key. The Eureka high pressure key (see index) made by us is acknowledged by experts to be superior to any other key on the market.

The end marked O is attached directly to the Oxygen tank while the other end is attached to the hydrogen by means of short piece of high pressure hose. As full pressure of the tanks is turned in a high pressure dissolving key, care should be taken to see that there is no leak in the connections. Oxygen is the more expensive gas and is odorless, therefore special attention should be given to these connections. After the dissolver is connected with the tanks, see that the small valves of dissolver are tightly closed and then open freely both tank valves. By means of the rubber tubes connect the burners with the nipples on the dissolving key, so that one tube from the oxygen side of the dissolver, and one tube from the hydrogen side go to the same burner.

After limes have been placed in the burners and all connections properly made, turn lever or handle of dissolving key half way around or until it stands perpendicular, then slowly open both valves of the dissolving key on the hydrogen side and light both burners. Now turn lever of dissolving key from one side to the other and adjust the set screws so as to leave only a small amount of hydrogen burning in the lantern that is turned off. This is termed the "off flow" and for more information regarding it see "Instructions for using a Low Pressure Dissolving Key." When the "off flow" on each lantern is adjusted turn the lever clear over to one side—have blaze of hydrogen four or five inches above the lime and then slowly turn on the oxygen from one of the small valves in the dissolving key. For more information regarding light, see instructions for "Single Lantern with Calcium Light."

Oil Magic Lantern

Oil is the oldest and most convenient illuminant for projection, and this is one of the best oil lanterns on the market. It makes a picture in size about half the distance between lantern and curtain, or 6 feet at 12 feet from curtain. Body of lantern is made of Russia iron; condensing lenses are 4 inch; the objective lens has rack and pinion for fine adjustment; oil burner has three wicks and slide carrier in the double quick change, taking the full size standard slide. It is all packed in a good case, with handle for carrying.

Although we do not advocate the use of oil as an illuminant, however it will serve the purpose where it is not convenient to purchase a higher priced instrument. To anyone purchasing one of these lanterns from us, we will later on take it back as part pay towards purchase of a better lantern.

PRICE—Oil Magic Lantern$12.00

STANDARD LANTERN

This is a low-priced instrument and is specially intended for churches and lodges where it is not convenient to purchase a higher priced lantern. It is provided with extension bellows, $4\frac{1}{2}$ inch condensing lenses, and has lamp house of sufficient size to accommodate any light desired.

Although this is a remarkably good lantern for the price, however we would advise purchasing a higher grade instrument when it is possible to do so.

Price, Standard Single Lantern, with choice of $\frac{1}{4}$ or $\frac{1}{2}$ size special objective lens and double slide carrier as shown in cut.....\$13.75

The above price does not include the illuminant, and to it must be added price of light selected. For single lantern electric attachments, add \$9.00 for standard electric burner, standard rheostat No. 1, switch and 10 ft. No. 12 flexible wire. For calcium light add \$7.00 for calcium burner, 6 ft. rubber tubing and can $\frac{7}{8}$ limes. For cost of acetylene, gas mantle and other lights see price under proper heading.

The "Monarch" Lantern.

To meet the demands of the public for high grade but cheaper lantern, we are pleased to announce that we can now offer such an instrument.

Cheap in price, but not in quality.

The lamp house is large, well ventilated and is made of high grade sheet metal specially finished to prevent rusting. When packing the lantern the extension or sliding top "4" can be removed and placed inside the lamp house with the objective lens. By doing this and closing the folding bellows-front the lantern will occupy no more than many other lanterns that have a much smaller lamp house.

CONDENSING LENSES.

The condensing lenses are $4\frac{1}{2}$ inches in diameter, mounted in ventilated spun brass nickel plated case. The extension front or folding bellows are of sufficient length so that either the short or long focus lens can be used.

OBJECTIVE LENS.

The objective lens is of good quality and has rack and pinion for accurate focusing. With each lantern is furnished at the same price either a short distance, medium or long distance lens. The short distance lens will make a disc or field about half the distance from the curtain to the machine or a 9 foot field at 18 feet. The medium lens 3-10 the distance from the machine to the curtain or a 9 foot field at 30 feet. The long distance lens $\frac{1}{4}$ the distance from the curtain to the machine or a 9 foot field at 36 feet. When a full size slide is used is used the picture is usually about 1-10 smaller than the field. This is due to the mat around the picture being smaller than the slide. With any of these lenses the machine can be set any distance from the curtain according to the size of the picture desired. For a more detailed description of the lenses see index, special objective lenses.

THE CASTINGS.

The castings are made of the best malleable brass and therefore there is no danger of breaking while shipping. On other low-priced lanterns the castings are made of cast iron, which is easily broken. The lantern is strong, rigid and durable.

THE LIGHT.

The lamp house is large enough so any form of light can be used. With each lantern is furnished at the same price, any kind of light desired. A choice is given of electric arc, calcium or lime light, acetylene, mantle or a special made incandescent globe. For description of each light see index first part of catalogue.

THE CARRYING CASE.

This is a telescope canvas covered case provided with leather corners, strap and handle, described elsewhere as No. 2 carrying case. No. 1 carrying case in place of No. 2, $4.50 additional.

Price. Monarch single lantern with either short distance, medium or long focus "special" objective lens, double slide carrier, a choice of standard electric, No. 2 calcium, calcium king, acetylene burners or special incandescent globe and canvas covered carrying case. $ 28.00

This is known as "Monarch A" outfit.

If electricity is used on current of 110 volts or less, add $5.00 to price for rheostat, 10 ft. wire and switch.

Price. Monarch double dissolving stereopticon with two "special" objective lenses, either short distance, medium or long focus, two double dissolving slide carriers, two burners and one dissolver, either electric, calcium or acetylene and a canvas covered carrying case. $ 50.00

This is known as "Monarch B" outfit.

If electricity is used on current of 110 volts or less, add $10.00 for two standard rheostats, 2 switches and 20 ft. of wire to connect rheostats, burners and switches.

REMARKS.

When ordering one of these lanterns or outfits do not forget to state the kind of burners and size of objective lens wanted.

For size of picture made with the short distance, medium and long focus "special" objective lenses, see description under cut of "Monarch Dissolving Stereopticon."

When using a weak light, use a short distance lens; for calcium or electric light, use medium or long focus lens. If a higher grade of objective lens is wanted, in place of a special lens, deduct $4.50 for the single lantern or $9.00 for the double lantern, then add price of the other lenses as quoted in catalog.

When ordering electric lamp or burner a rheostat or resistance coil is not included. To complete the outfit would require rheostat, switch and 10 feet of flexible cable. Furnished with the Monarch lantern at price quoted for electricity is the Standard Burner and Standard Rheostat No. 1. Any other burner or rheostat can be used by paying the difference in price. Description of these articles will be found elsewhere in the catalogue. When ordering lantern with electric attachments it would be well to include in the order some carbons. The ordinary electric carbons will not give good results with a lantern or moving picture machine. With standard rheostat use the half inch. For description, size and price of the best imported carbons, see index front part of catalog. We would also suggest that you see index for "Lead Wire," which you may need.

When ordering lantern for Calcium Light, add to your order can of $\frac{3}{8}$ limes and 6 ft. of rubber tubing. For Calcium Light two tanks of gas (oxygen and hydrogen) must be used, or a portable gas making outfit.

If the lantern is ordered with acetylene burner, an acetylene generator is not included.

ADDITIONS TO THE MONARCH OUTFIT.

Special objective lens (either short distance, medium or long focus)	$4.50
Calcium light dissolving key, low pressure	9.00
Electric dissolver	4.00
Acetylene dissolving key	4.50
Acetylene generator	8.00
Standard rheostat	4.00
Electric switch	.40
Fuse block	.25
Fuse wire per foot	.10
Flexible electric wire, No. 12, per foot	.10
Rubber tubing, per foot	.10
Limes, $\frac{3}{8}$, 1 dozen in can	1.00

Carbons—For size and price, see index.

Description of the above goods will be found in the catalogue. See index front part of catalogue.

The Monarch Lantern is so constructed that it can be conveniently combined with a moving picture machine. Considering the material, careful construction, size of lamp house and excellent finish, the Monarch lantern is the best medium priced lantern on the market.

THE LEADER LANTERN.

If you intend purchasing a lantern, do not buy until you read description of the Leader. Could you see and compare the Leader with all other lanterns, you would say "it certainly is the leader," for it has no equal.

THE LAMP HOUSE.

The lamp house is made of aluminum and thin rolled steel. Aluminum and gold are the only metals that will not tarnish or oxidize by exposure to the air. Being light, strong, rigid and free from tarnish, it is an ideal metal for a lantern. The thin rolled steel used as a part of the lamp house is enameled, both inside and out, so it cannot rust. This is not an enamel paint, but an enamel finish that is baked or burnt in the metal, same as the steel frame of a bicycle is finished. The front part of the lamp house, where the principal heat is, has a double wall with an air chamber between. This keeps the lamp house sufficiently cool, so it will not burn the hands, should the operator happen to touch it. The lamp house is large and roomy, thoroughly ventilated, and adapted for any kind of light. Beware of a small lamp house, especially for electric light. A small lamp house gets very hot and only short carbons can be used. If you wish to use the light over an hour, it will be necessary to stop the entertainment while the carbons are being changed. Lamp house of the Leader lantern is large enough to use carbons of sufficient length to last two and a half hours.

Some people object to a large lamp house, because of the space it occupies. None of this space, however, is lost, as the lens, burners, etc., can all be packed inside the lamp house.

All parts of the lamp house are screwed and riveted together, which makes it rigid and strong. The post that supports the light can be used either center or right or left of center, and is, therefore, adapted for use of any burner or jet. The saddle that supports the post and light is provided with a long sleeve, so it will not bind on the sliding rod, and will also prevent the operator from accidentally pushing the light up against the condensing lens. The catch on outside of door has an indicator that always shows position of the hook. The oval top of lantern is in sliding order, this top is removed and reversed with the oval part inside the lamp house.

THE OBJECTIVE LENS.

The front of the lantern is so constructed that an objective lens of any size can be used—large barrel or small barrel, long focus or short focus. All objective lenses quoted with the Leader lantern are provided with thumb screw, rack and pinion for accurate focusing. The most popular lens used with the Leader lantern is the $\frac{1}{2}$ size large barrel best grade Bausch & Lomb.

CONDENSING LENSES.

Condensing lenses are two in number, plano-convex, $4\frac{1}{2}$ inches in diameter and are made of the best quality of French crystal glass. The lens cell for mounting is made of spun brass, nickel plated, highly polished and thoroughly ventilated. The mounting with lenses can be instantly removed for shipping or taken apart for cleaning.

VENTILATING AIR CHAMBER.

The lens holder is so constructed that there is free circulation of air between the condensing lenses. The lens cell or mounting is placed outside of the lamp house, so there is circulation of air between the light and condensing lens. There is, therefore, circulation of air on all four sides of the condensing lenses. This accomplishes three things: First, greatly increases the life of the condensing lens; second, prevents the condensing lens from steaming up or "sweating" in cold weather, and, third, permits the slide to stand longer before the light without danger of breaking. The slide when in position for projecting is very near the condensing lens and will be influenced by the heat from the lens. We do not claim that a lens or a slide will never break in the Leader lantern, but we do claim that breakage has been greatly reduced.

SLIDE CARRIER HOLDER.

When using unmounted slides it is necessary to use a slide carrier, which remains stationary in the lantern, while the slides are being changed. As the least movement of the slide holder is magnified on the screen, it is essential that the slide holder be firm and rigid. The usual means provided to accomplish this is by a spring. This serves the purpose while the spring is new, but the constant heating and cooling takes the tension out and it is then of little value. With the Leader lantern, in addition to the springs, there are two thumb screws, which hold the slide carrier as firmly in position as though it was part of the casting.

The slide carrier holder is so constructed that from the lantern, by means of a pencil or hatpin, anything in the picture can be pointed out on the curtain. This will be found a great convenience for those who stand by the lantern while describing the pictures.

THE BELLows.

The folding bellows are made of a material that is a great improvement on leather. The objection to leather is that it gets dry and cracks in the folds; when left folded for some time it will stick and peel off, and when very warm it gives off an unpleasant odor. To preserve it from cracking and sticking it must be frequently oiled, which makes it difficult to keep clean. The material used in manufacturing the bellows for the Leader lantern will not crack or stick and is odorless. Should you want to clean the bellows, wipe them off with a damp cloth and they will be bright and fresh as new.

QUICK ADJUSTMENT.

There are two adjusting posts in the front and two in the rear of the "Leader." By means of these the lantern can be quickly and accurately tilted at either end, throwing the light up or down, as the case may require. Frequently when the lantern is set up the table or floor is not level and the picture is not square on the curtain. With the Leader lantern all that is necessary is to tilt the lantern to one side, until the picture is straight and square with the curtain, and then make the side posts firm with the set screws. With other lanterns, even though they are attached to a tilting board, it is necessary to use blocks and wedges to "square up" the picture on the curtain. A tilting board consists of two boards hinged at one end and provided at the other end with large thumb screws or some other device for raising the front end of the lantern. There are, however, no means of tilting the entire board to "square up" the picture on the curtain. For a lantern a tilting board is not necessary, as you must have a table or stand to set the machine on, even though a tilting board is used. It adds expense and weight to an outfit, and is inconvenient to carry. With a Leader lantern it is not necessary to prop it up with blocks or books or wedges, or to use a tilting board. The four posts give quick and accurate adjustment and the lantern always stands square, level and rigid.

WEIGHT AND SIZE.

Weight of the Leader lantern without lenses is about eight pounds. Size, when packed, ready for shipment, is 10½ inches high, 7 inches wide and 17 inches long. The top or extension part of the lamp house can be quickly removed and with the objective lens packed inside the main part of the lamp house. There is no lantern of the same size, when in use, that is so compact for shipment and so light in weight.

POINTS OF SUPERIORITY.

The "Leader" has many improvements or points of advantage over any other lantern.

Many claim their lantern is "the best lantern made," but do not tell you why. We claim the "Leader" leads them all, and we will tell you why.

First—Lighter and stronger, being made of aluminum and sheet steel, and all parts screwed or riveted together, making it light and rigid.

Second—The "adapter" for objective lens, by which either a large or small barrel lens can be attached.

Third—Ventilating air chamber, between the light and condensing lens.

Fourth—Less danger of breaking the slides by heat.

Fifth—Raising or tilting either the front or rear end of the lantern for adjusting the light on the screen.

Sixth—A set screw, in place of a spring, for holding the slide carrier firmly in position.

Seventh—The lamp house, both inside and out, is enameled and baked to a hard finish. This not only gives fine finish, but prevents rusting.

Eighth—The bellows are made of new material which does not stick, crack nor wear rough like leather. When wiped off with a damp cloth, it always looks bright and new.

Ninth—The slide carrier holder is so constructed that from the machine anything in the picture can be pointed out on the curtain.

Tenth—Style and appearance. The attractive outline of the "Leader"—the satin finished aluminum frame, the highly polished nickel plated trimmings, the dark finish of part of the lamp house, and the rich maroon color of the bellows—gives this lantern a style and appearance superior to any other on the market.

REMARKS.

Any size or any focus lens can be used with the Leader lantern. The half size is the one most in general use, and it is for this reason we selected it in price quoted, simply as an illustration. If any other size or focus lens is desired, add or deduct the difference in price of the lenses. The same might be said of the light. We would not, however, advise using a cheaper lens or poorer light on so good a lantern as the Leader.

The $\frac{1}{2}$ size objective lens quoted with Leader B is the best Bausch & Lomb large barrel objective, bearing their name and serial number. By removing the back combination two different size pictures can be made without changing position of the machine. Some of these points of superiority, to the amateur, may seem like little things, but it is the "little things that make perfection"—and it is perfection that has made the Leader lantern "the leader."

GUARANTEE.

We guarantee the Leader to be as represented. Send $10.00 deposit with order as guarantee of good faith and, when requested, we will ship the lantern subject to examination in the express office before paying the balance. If the lantern is not found as represented, the deposit will be refunded upon return of the lantern.

Price: Single Leader and Calcium Light, consisting of the Leader single lantern, with $\frac{1}{2}$ size genuine Bausch & Lomb objective lens, $4\frac{1}{2}$ -inch best condensing lens, No. 2 inner tube calcium jet with mechanical lime turner and lime adjuster, three feet of rubber tubing, double slide carrier, and No. 1, style A, carrying case.....\$48.00
This is known as "Leader B."

Price: Single Leader and Electric Light, consisting of the Leader single lantern, with $\frac{1}{2}$ size genuine Bausch & Lomb objective lens, $4\frac{1}{2}$ -inch best condensing lens, Monarch electric burner, No. 1 wonder rheostat, electric switch, —10 feet flexible No. 12 lamp cord to connect rheostat, lamp and switch—double slide carrier and No. 1, style A, carrying case.....\$56.00
This is known as "Leader B for Electric Light."

"LEADER" LIGHT SHIELD.

This is a new device for shutting off light from rear of lantern.

Made of enameled sheet steel, and easily attached to our Leader lamp house by means of thumb screws.

Gives ample room for operating, provides additional ventilation, and folds flat for shipping.

Price, Leader Lamp Shield, with thumb screws.....$2.00

We always have on hand a stock of second-hand goods, and point with pride to the fact that they are goods of other makes—have been received in exchange from experienced exhibitors who recognize and appreciate the superior quality of our own make.

THE JUMBO LEADER LANTERN.

This form of the Leader lantern is designed to meet the requirements of a high-grade instrument, using a long focused lens and large amount of current.

It is especially adapted for street advertising, park use, election returns or any heavy work. It can also be used equally as well as any other lantern for lighter work.

The above cut shows the Jumbo Leader with a large barrel 4-4 objective lens. A lens of any size barrel or any focus can be used. The lamp house is part of the electric burner, and for description of both see Jumbo Electric Lamp.

Price, Jumbo Leader Lantern, without rheostat or objective lens $65.00
To the above add price of lens or rheostat desired.

THE "LEADER" STEREOPTICON.

(See description of single "Leader" Lantern. The Dotted lines and set Screws "D" show how either end of the Lantern may be elevated or "tilted.")

This consists of two "Leader" Lanterns mounted and arranged for dissolving views. All the castings being made of aluminum and all the parts being screwed together make the lantern very light, strong and rigid.

The sliding rods, the spun brass lens mounting, and all the brass trimmings are nickel plated and highly polished. The aluminum is given what is termed the "satin" finish, a new, beautiful, rich finish that will never tarnish and never grow old. The thin rolled sheet steel used in partial construction of the lamp house, has a Russian black finish. The bellows are of a rich maroon color and the projecting lenses are finished in the natural brass, highly polished and lacquered. This combination of color and finish, the decorating on the aluminum castings and the general appearance of the stereopticon, is not only artistic and pleasing, but gives the impression of lightness, strength and durability. See description of single "Leader" lantern.

The "Leader" Stereopticon (double dissolving lantern) consists of two complete lanterns that, when desired, can be made into two separate lanterns. This cannot be said of all double lanterns, for the top lantern of many makes is not supplied with the necessary supports and adjustments, so it can be used independent of the lower lantern.

An important point in a double lantern is that the top lantern should be firm and rigid. With the Leader dissolving stereopticon the top lantern is supported at either end and in the center. There are two thumb set screws at each end of the lantern which, when tightened, bind the two lanterns rigidly together. In other dissolving stereopticons, the top lantern is supported only in two places—usually the front and center but they are not provided with set screws at both ends.

REGISTERING THE FIELDS OR SLIDES.

In a double dissolving lantern the fields or pictures from each projecting lens should be the same size and cover the same space on the curtain. A new device of our own is provided by which this is quickly and accurately accomplished.

In order to accurately register the fields there must be a side adjustment as well as a tilting or "up and down" adjustment.

The side adjustment is usually accomplished by moving the slide carriers from side to side and the "up and down" adjustment by tilting the top lantern. The Leader double lantern is not only provided with these adjustments, but with a special side adjusting screw B and "up and down" adjusting screw C. By means of these screws a quick and more accurate register of the field can be obtained, than is possible by the old way. In shipping a double lantern they frequently get sprung or twisted a little so they are not in perfect lineament. By means of side adjustment screw B this defect can be quickly remedied.

When a lantern is set up the bellows is drawn out far enough to obtain an approximate focus, but to obtain an accurate focus, the thumb screw on the objective lens is used. An accurate focus could probably be obtained without using the thumb screw on the objective lens, but it would require much more time and would be very inconvenient. Now, the adjusting screws, B and C, on the double leader lantern, serve the same purpose and accomplish the same result that the thumb screw does on the objective lens; that is, they give an accurate (and quick) registration of the two fields.

TILTING SCREWS FOR SLIDE CARRIER.

Every operator using a double lantern knows the trouble he has to get the lower lines of the two fields parallel to each other. In the top lantern at bottom of the slide carrier is a thumb screw by means of which the slide carrier can be tilted so as to bring the lines of the top picture parallel with those of the lower lantern. Only those who have used a double lantern can appreciate the value of this device.

The material used in the construction of the Leader lantern, the high grade workmanship, the style, the finish, convenience of operating and the many points of superiority all combine to make it "The Leader."

FOR CALCIUM LIGHT.

Price: Leader double dissolving lantern, two improved slide carriers, two No. 3 inner tube calcium jets, low pressure dissolving key, 18 feet rubber tubing, two ½ size best Bausch and Lomb large barrel objective lenses with No. 1 carrying case, $120.00.

This is known as Double Leader No. 1.

If a high pressure key is desired in place of the low pressure key, add $20.00 to above price.

FOR ELECTRIC LIGHT.

Price: Leader double dissolving lantern, two improved slide carriers, two Monarch electric burners, electric dissolver, two ½ size best Bausch and Lomb large barrel objective lenses, two No. 1 Wonder rheostats, two switches, one fuse block, 20 ft., flexible No. 12 lamp cord, and No. 1 carrying case, $140.00.

This is known as Double Leader No. 2.

If a lantern is purchased for use on the road, 50 to 75 feet of lead wire should be ordered with the outfit. (See index under "Lead Wire.")

The ½ size objective lens, and the No. 1 Wonder rheostats are the most popular for general use, and for this reason we select them in quoting the above prices. But any size or focus objective lens, or any rheostat can be used in place of those quoted by paying the difference in price.

LEADER LANTERN SPECIAL.

This is without question the best, most artistic and beautiful lantern made. The finest material and best workmanship is used in its construction.

The entire lamp house is made of aluminum and hand engraved. The main part or body has soft satin finish, while the engraving is highly polished. Gold and aluminum are the only metals that will not tarnish, therefore this lantern will always retain its brilliancy. The body of lantern is set with the finest imported cut glass jewels, sapphires, rubies, emeralds and opals. When there is a light in the lantern, the brilliancy of these jewels gives a most pleasing effect. The "Leader Special" is not only the most beautiful lantern made but will give the best results that is possible to obtain with any lantern. Everybody will admire it and everybody will praise the high class work it does.

If you want something that will be the envy of your competitor, something that will ever be a source of satisfaction and something that will be a profitable investment, then buy a "Leader Special."

"Judicious advertising means success" and the "Leader Special" will be found a constant, faithful, living advertisement.

PRICE, Leader Special Single Lantern with $\frac{1}{2}$ size large mounting best grade Bausch & Lomb objective lens, $4\frac{1}{2}$ inch condensing lenses, double slide carrier, either monarch electric lamp or No. 3 calcium light burner and No. 1 carrying case \$ 95.00
This is known as "Leader C Special".

PRICE, Leader Special Dissolving Stereopticon with two $\frac{1}{2}$ size large mounting best grade Bausch & Lomb objective lenses, $4\frac{1}{2}$ inch condensing lenses, two improved double dissolving slide carriers, choice of two monarch electric lamps or two No. 3 calcium burners, choice of low pressure dissolving key or electric dissolver and No. 1 carrying case.....\$195.00
This is known as "Leader D Special".

When ordering specify Leader Special otherwise the regular Leader will be sent. When ordering electric lamp or burner, rheostat or resistance coil is not included. To complete the outfit would require rheostat, fuse block, switch and 10 feet of flexible cable. For general description of Leader Lantern see previous pages.

DUPLEX DISSOLVING LANTERN

PATENT PENDING

This lantern is constructed on a new principle and is an improvement on the regular dissolving electric lantern. The body is wider than the regular lamp house and has two sets of condensing lenses, two bellows, two objective lenses and one burner. By a reflecting mirror and by swinging the burner from one set of condensing lenses to the other, the most perfect electric dissolving is obtained.

The "Duplex" lantern is specially valuable for use with electric light as only one rheostat and one burner is used, and the dissolving effect is superior to what can be obtained with the old style double electric lantern. No dark shadows appear on the screen when the dissolving is done, for as the burner is turned, the light gradually passes from one lens to the other. From the "off" lens, there is some reflected light sufficient to show an outline of the other picture. To cut this off a metal cap is used which is attached to the objective lens. This metal cap is not used for dissolving but simply to cut off the reflected light or image that comes from the other picture. Placing the ordinary cap on the objective lens would serve the same purpose, but we use the metal cap, as it is more convenient and is more serviceable.

DUPLEX WITH CALCIUM LIGHT

Although the lantern is specially adapted for use with electricity, still it can be used with calcium light, but will not give as good results as can be obtained with a double lantern and two tanks of gas. The regular form of dissolving with calcium light is done by turning the gas through the dissolving key from one burner to the other. Since the "Ozo-Carbi" calcium light (described elsewhere in catalog) cannot be used with a regular dissolving key, the "Duplex" lantern can be used for dissolving with this light. For the regular calcium light we would advise the usual form of double lantern, one above the other, using two burners and a dissolving key.

DUPLEX LANTERN WITH ELECTRIC LIGHT

When a regular double dissolving lantern is used with electricity it is necessary to use two arc lights, and to keep them both burning all the time. The dissolving is done by a mechanical device in front of the objective lenses. The majority of electricity used is in the form of alternating current and an arc light with this current is noisy.

When two arc lights are used, the noise often seriously interferes with an entertainment, especially if the lantern is placed down in the audience.

As it requires twice as much current for two arc lights as it does for one, a traveling exhibitor frequently finds the line is not heavy enough or the meter is not large enough to supply the required amount of current for two arc lights.

DUPLIX LANTERN NO. 1

In "Duplex" lantern No. 1, thin or long focused condensing lenses are used. This to some extent reduces the illumination on the screen, but gives a soft light and a clear field, free from any "carbon shadows" or dark spots.

This lantern is specially adapted for churches, lodges, schools or any place where it is not intended to combine the lantern with a moving picture machine. Better results will be obtained by not placing the lantern too far from the curtain. We would not advise more than 40 or 50 feet, especially if alternating current is used.

DUPLIX LANTERN NO. 2

"Duplex" lantern No. 2 is intended to be used only in combination with a moving picture machine and is sold only for that purpose. See index, front part of catalog, "Duplex Lantern and Moving Picture Machine." Should you have a moving picture machine and wish to combine it with the "Duplex" lantern, write us for price, stating name and make of your machine, and if permanently located, distance machine is from curtain, and size of picture wanted.

POINTS OF ADVANTAGE

The "Duplex" lantern, when used with electric light, has the following points of advantage over the old style double dissolving electric lantern:

- 1st. Better dissolving effect on the curtain.
- 2nd. Uses only one arc light.
- 3rd. Consumes less current and less carbons.
- 4th. More simple to operate, inasmuch as there is only one switch, one rheostat and one arc burner.

5th. In combination with the moving picture machine you can dissolve from still to moving and from moving to still pictures.

Price, "Duplex" Dissolving lantern with $\frac{1}{4}$ size best grade large barrel Bausch and Lomb objective lenses, choice of duplex or wonder No. 2, rheostat, electric burner, switch, wire to connect lamp, rheostat and switch, two slide carriers and a carrying case.....\$125.00

This is known as "Duplex Lantern No. 1."

If calcium burner for the "Ozo-Carbi" light is wanted in place of the electric attachments, deduct $8.00 from above price.

We have quoted lantern with $\frac{1}{2}$ size objective lenses simply as an illustration; any other size can be used. For churches, lodges, schools or anyone permanently located, we would advise using the "duplex" rheostat, but if traveling, the wonder No. 2.

When ordering condensing lenses kindly state if they are for "Duplex" No. 1 (lantern only), or "Duplex" No. 2 (lantern combined with moving picture machine). Also state which lens is wanted. If a lodge or church will advise us whether current is alternating or direct, the voltage, distance machine is to be placed from curtain and size of picture wanted, we can not only quote prices, but can furnish an outfit better adapted to meet their requirements. Such is our confidence in the "Duplex" that, for the benefit of those who are in doubt about purchasing a new thing, we make the following proposition: Should anyone order our "Duplex" lantern and, after trying it ten days, think they would prefer one of our regular double lanterns, we will gladly exchange it. Complete instructions sent with each outfit.

DUPLEX LANTERN AND EDISON UNIVERSAL MOVING PICTURE MACHINE

For description of the "Duplex" lantern see index front part of catalog.

This cut shows the "Duplex" dissolving lantern combined with the Edison universal moving picture machine. For the traveling lecturer or exhibitor this will be found the most practical machine on the market. It is the same moving picture machine as is used with the Leader lantern, and has the same improvements. For description of these improvements and points of superiority see "Edison Moving Picture Machine and Leader Lantern."

With this outfit you can dissolve from still to moving and from moving to still pictures. The dissolving is as perfect as though two still pictures were used in a regular dissolving lantern.

To dissolve from still to moving and from moving to still pictures, it is necessary that the lamp house remain permanent, that is, not to slide over. The Edison universal moving picture mechanism always slides over and the lamp house remains permanent.

For a still picture to melt or dissolve into a moving picture, and this moving picture again to dissolve back into a still picture, is something new. The effect is novel, interesting and beautiful. Since slides form an important part of the entertainment, an exhibitor with this style of an outfit will certainly have an advantage over the exhibitor who has the regular single lantern outfit. We would specially recommend this combined outfit to exhibitors who expect to stay more than one night in a place or to play return dates.

Price, Duplex Lantern and Edison Universal Moving Picture Machine, 1,000 ft. reels, best grade large barrel Bausch and Lomb objective lenses, right angle electric burner, choice of Edison or Wonder No. 2, rheostat, electric switch, 10 ft. No. 12 flexible wire to connect lamp, rheostat and switch, and all improvements mentioned on page 38 and 39 except automatic film protector	$179.00
Automatic Film Protector	15.00
Top magazine for reel	10.00
Fire proof box	15.00
Instructions sent with each outfit.

It is not necessary to use the film protector, top magazine and fireproof box, however, in some cities the fire ordinance requires them.

If the film protector is used there is practically no need of either magazine or fire box. The Duplex lantern will probably be made to combine with the Edison Exhibition moving picture mechanism, also with the Power's. If interested, write us for descriptive circular and price.

EDISON MOVING PICTURE MACHINE AND LEADER LANTERN.

IN POSITION FOR STILL PICTURES.

The above cut shows the Edison moving picture machine combined with the Leader lantern. For description of the Leader lantern and its many points of advantage over other lanterns, see index under "Leader Lantern."

The moving picture part of machine with the objective lens for lantern, is on sliding base. The change from still to moving or from moving to still pictures, requires only one movement and can be easily and quickly done. For general use of both moving and still pictures, the "Edison and Leader" is the most practical machine on the market. It has a number of improvements added to the regular Edison moving picture machine, besides the many improvements for still pictures found only in the Leader lantern.

SPECIAL BASE BOARD.

A special baseboard is used for the lantern and moving picture mechanism. This board is longer and wider than the regular board furnished with the Edison machine and gives more room for adjusting the bellows of stereopticon. The board is hinged in the middle for convenience in packing, and has two brass eyelets for the front posts of lantern.

LIGHT SHIELD OR CONE.

This is made of aluminum, funnel shape and is attached to front end of lantern. The object of the light shield is to concentrate the light on the moving picture film and prevent any "side or stray" light from escaping in the room, or from reaching the curtain. This cone is automatic in action and requires no attention of the operator. Sliding the machine over and back raises the cone out of the way for still pictures and allows it to come in position for the moving pictures. This light shield will be found a most valuable improvement, especially when calcium light is used.

IMPROVED CRANK OR HANDLE.

The regular crank or handle furnished with the Edison machine is provided with a slot that fits loosely over a projection on the shaft. While turning the machine the handle frequently slips off this projection, which permits the crank to turn but not the machine. If the machine is provided with our automatic light "cut off," the film cannot be injured, no matter how often the machine stops.

We furnish with the Edison machine a crank provided with a snap spring catch so that it is impossible for the crank to slip off. With this crank the machine is always under perfect control of the operator and an accident of this kind is impossible.

So many serious accidents have occurred by the machine stopping while the light is on the film that many cities have passed a law requiring the crank or handle on all moving picture machines to be securely attached to the shaft so it is impossible for it to slip or become detached while turning the machine.

FRAMING PLATE.

After films have been made for some time they shrink and have both an "up and down" movement as well as a side movement. This vibration or movement is magnified on the curtain and makes the picture unsteady. The appearance is not only bad, but it is also very trying on the eyes. Some films shrink more than others, depending on how well the stock is seasoned before the picture is made.

Every exhibitor has among his list of films some that have shrunk considerably and are very "shaky." This Framing plate largely overcomes this defect and prevents the shaky appearance on the curtain. All films become more or less unsteady from wear and the framing plate will greatly improve appearance of picture on the curtain.

AUTOMATIC LIGHT CUT OFF, OR FILM PROTECTOR.

The above cut shows position of the light cut off when the machine is at rest, or falls below half-speed. The dotted lines show position of the cut-off when the picture is being shown, or when the machine is above half-speed. C. C. are two lock nuts that serve as levers and can be adjusted to make the cut-off act more slowly or quickly as desired.

This is a most important improvement or attachment to a moving picture machine. The serious objection to the use of moving pictures is the danger of their taking fire from heat of the light used in projecting them. When the machine is in motion the film moves so rapidly that there is no danger of its burning; but, should the machine stop, leaving the film exposed to the concentrated light and heat, it will take fire almost instantly. The automatic "cut-off" is between the light and the film and its position is controlled entirely by the crank of the machine. When the machine is at rest the light is cut off from the film, but when the machine reaches about half the required speed the "cut-off" is lifted out of the way, so the full strength of the light falls on the moving film. Should the machine stop or drop to half speed, the "cut-off" falls back in place, cutting off the light and heat from the picture. The action is automatic and reliable and requires no attention of the operator. The "cut-off" is simple in construction and will last as long as any part of the machine.

It is attached to the door and swings out of the way when the door is open—the only safe and reliable method that will prevent the film from taking fire. This automatic light cut-off and film protector is endorsed by the highest authority, by both insurance companies and fire inspectors.

Price, Automatic Light Cut-off and Film Protector, as shown in cut, each.....$15.00

NEW SHUTTER.

The shutter is a flat piece, about one-third of a circle, that revolves in the machine, between the picture and projecting lens. The object of this shutter is to cut off the light while the intermittent (stop and start) sprocket pulls the film down one picture. It is the shutter cutting off the light that causes the flicker. In place of the regular shutter furnished with the machine, we use a wire gauze or perforated metal shutter, which greatly reduces the flicker and is more durable than the mica shutter furnished with the machine.

The revolving shutter cuts a circle, half the time the shutter being inside the machine head and half the time outside

PROTECTION FOR SHUTTER.

When shipping the machine, the shutter should be kept inside the head, so it can not get bent or broken. With the regular machine no provision is made for locking the wheel in order to keep the shutter inside. We have, however, made provision to protect the shutter so an accident can not occur. By means of a thumb-screw the wheel and gear is locked, so it is not possible for the shutter to be broken in shipment. Many an operator, when unpacking his machine, has found the shutter broken.

SUPPORT FOR OBJECTIVE LENS.

The rod or support for holding the objective lens of the lantern has a swivel friction joint. With it the lens can be tilted at any angle desired and the picture can be thrown up or down on the curtain. This will be found a great convenience for bringing the still and moving pictures both in the same place on the screen.

To obtain the best result, the objective lens should be at right angles with the picture. With a regular lantern (without moving picture machine), this is accomplished by attaching the lens to the lantern. But with the Edison and all other moving picture machines no provision is made to keep the lens of the still picture at right angles with the slide.

By means of the swivel joint the lens can always be at the proper angle and is one reason why the "Edison and Leader" give the highest grade picture possible to obtain.

LENS FOR STILL PICTURES.

The objective lens for the still picture is the genuine, large barrel, one-half size Bausch and Lomb lens, bearing their name and serial number. With all lenses, size of picture can be regulated by distance between the machine and curtain; but with this lens two different size pictures can be made without changing position of the machine. It is practically equal to two lenses and will be found a great convenience for use in rooms of different size. This lens is much higher grade and larger barrel than the one that comes with the regular Edison machine. It will give a picture equal to the highest grade imported lens.

LENS FOR MOVING PICTURES.

A special high-grade moving picture lens is made that has a larger barrel or mounting than the regular lens furnished with the Edison machine. It gives a white, flat field, a bright picture sharp and clear to the edge, and we take pleasure in recommending it to professional exhibitors.

REEL HANGERS OR SUPPORTS.

The arms or hangers are for the large reels, holding from 1,000 to 1,200 feet of film. There are short arms and small reels holding five or six hundred feet which, if desired, we will furnish in place of the long arms and large reels at reduction of $2.50. We would always advise using the large reels, as majority of the feature films are over 600 feet long. Unless otherwise requested, the long arms and large reels will always be sent.

EDISON-LEADER, IN POSITION FOR MOVING PICTURES.

DOUBLE DISSOLVING LANTERN.

Another advantage of using the Leader lantern with the Edison machine is that a top lantern can be added at any time, thus making a double dissolving lantern. Our double Leader with "slide-over-top" lantern is specially constructed to combine with a moving picture machine. With it you can dissolve from still into moving pictures and from moving into still. This can not be done with any other double lantern. (See cut and description.)

BELLOWS OR METALLIC FRONT.

The bellows of Leader lantern are dipped in fire-proof solution so they will not blaze should you accidentally drop a lighted match on them or permit the concentrated rays of the light to strike them.

By some it is claimed there is danger of fire from using a bellows' front. Bellows have been used for many years and are still used on the best lanterns and stereopticons. Occasionally one hears of an operator burning a hole in the bellows, but aside from this, no harm is done. We do not consider it dangerous to use a bellows. However, when desired, we will furnish a metallic front in place of the bellows, or furnish them both at an additional cost of $2.50. With a screw-driver the change can be made in a few minutes. The bellows front will always be sent unless the metallic one is specified.

CARRYING CASE.

The carrying case is the same style and finish as the No. 1 described elsewhere in the catalogue. This case holds the machine complete, except the baseboard and rheostat. There is also a trunk made holding the machine complete, including No. 2 Wonder rheostat and 15-foot curtain. This will be found very convenient as the outfit can be checked as baggage. For description of carrying case and trunk, see index.

BOTH PICTURES CENTERED.

With a majority of machines for still and moving pictures, the lamp-house slides over behind the lens when a change is made from one kind of picture to the other. With the "Edison and Leader" the lamp-house remains stationary and the moving picture part with objective lens for still picture slides over in front of the lamp-house. When the lamp-house remains in one position, both the moving and still pictures come on center of curtain. But if the lamp-house slides over, the moving pictures will come on one side of the curtain and the still pictures on the other side. To keep the pictures in center of curtain, it is necessary to swing one end of the machine around, every time a change is made. Unless the burner is made very tight on the support, the electric wires or rubber tubing, will pull the light out of center, every time the lamp-house slides over. None of this trouble is experienced with the "Edison and Leader." The lamp-house is stationary, the burner remains in position and both pictures are always in center of curtain.

POINTS OF SUPERIORITY.

The "Edison and Leader" has many improvements and points of advantage over other moving picture machines.

- 1st. Framing plate, which makes the picture more steady on the curtain.

2d. Improved crank or handle that greatly reduces the danger of burning the films.

3d. Swivel joint for support of the still picture lens.

4th. Perforated shutter that reduces the flicker, yet gives plain pictures.

5th. Special high-grade lenses both for still and moving pictures.

6th. Light shield or cone that concentrates the light on the picture.

7th. Special baseboard, giving more room for convenient adjustment of the machine.

8th. Thumb-screw for locking the shutter inside machine while shipping.

9th. Automatic light cut-off, that prevents burning of film.

10th. In addition to the above, there are the many points of superiority found in the Leader lantern (see index for Leader lantern).

Price. "Edison and Leader" for calcium light, consisting of Edison moving picture machine with two large reels and all improvements as described, except the automatic light cut-off or film protector. Leader lantern with large barrel best grade Bausch and Lomb objective lens; inner-tube calcium jet No. 3; eight feet best rubber hose to connect tank to jet, and No. 1 carrying case. $115.00

This is known as "Edison and Leader for calcium light."

Price. "Edison and Leader" for electric light. Edison moving picture machine with two large reels and all improvements as described, except the automatic light cut-off or film protector. Leader lantern with large barrel best grade Bausch and Lomb objective lens and choice of bellows or metallic front; monarch electric lamp; wonder rheostat No. 2 or the duplex rheostat; electric switch; ten feet No. 12 lamp cord to connect lamp; rheostat and switch and No. 1 carrying case. $122.00

This is known as "Edison and Leader for electric light."

If automatic light cut-off or film protector is wanted, add $15.00 to the above prices.

ADDITIONS FOR CALCIUM LIGHT.

If "Edison and Leader for calcium light" is ordered, it will be necessary to purchase a gas-making outfit or to buy the gas in tanks. If gas-making outfit is ordered, add to the order, can $\frac{7}{8}$ limes, pair gas pliers and chemicals for making the gas. If gas is purchased in tanks, add to the order a can of $\frac{7}{8}$ limes, pair gas pliers, gauge and a cylinder wrench. A pair of regulating valves would also be found convenient, but is not necessary.

ADDITIONS FOR ELECTRIC LIGHT.

If "Edison and Leader for electric light" is ordered, you should have carbons, gas pliers, fuse plugs, fuse wire, electric tape, screw-driver and, if traveling, about 75 feet of No. 10 or 12 "lead wire." Cost of these supplies outside of lead wire and screw-driver would be about $2.50. For description and price of lead wire, see index front part of catalogue. If the Wonder Special rheostat is preferred to the Wonder No. 2, add $15.00 to the price of outfit and order No. 10 in place of No. 12 wire.

REMARKS.

The Edison moving picture machine combined with the Leader lantern, has more practical and scientific points than any other machine on the market. The attractive appearance, the light weight and the convenience of operating make it the best machine made for general road use. If machine is permanently located, using strong electric light and running ten or twelve hours a day, we would advise using the "Jumbo" Leader lamp house and large electric lamp, which is described elsewhere in the catalogue. If Leader "Fireproof" lamp house is preferred to the regular Leader lamp house as shown in cut, add $10.00 to the price of complete machine.

With "Edison and Leader for electric light" is given a choice of two rheostats. The "Duplex" will give more current and we would advise using it, where bulk and weight are not a serious objection.

For Index to LANTERNS, etc., see Index at Front of Catalogue.
For Index to SLIDES see Index at Back of Catalogue.

EDISON MOVING PICTURE MACHINE AND DOUBLE LEADER LANTERN

The only double lantern with which still pictures can be dissolved into moving pictures and moving pictures into still pictures

This cut shows a double dissolving Leader lantern with the Edison moving picture machine. There is a growing demand for a combined double dissolving lantern and a moving picture machine. This combination is being adopted by the most successful exhibitors and lecturers. The serious objection, however, has been, that the top reel of the moving picture machine obstructed the light from the top lantern so it could not be used when the moving picture machine was in position. Therefore, there was always a wait or delay in changing from the still to the moving and from the moving to the still pictures. In order to avoid this delay, exhibitors and lecturers have been compelled to carry double dissolving lantern and a separate moving picture outfit. To successfully operate these machines requires an extra man, and even then you could not dissolve a still picture into a moving and a moving into a still picture.

This double Leader lantern is so constructed that the top lantern slides to one side and remains in that position during the entertainment. The top reel of the moving picture machine therefore cannot interfere with the light from the top lantern. The fields from the two lanterns can be as quickly and accurately registered with this style of Leader as with the regular double Leader—it is just as simple to operate, just as quickly set up and requires no larger carrying case than the regular double lantern. Connections between the two lanterns are so constructed that the top lantern is firmly bound to the lower lantern and the lower lantern is rigidly secured to the hardwood baseboard by means of four turn-buckle hooks. The combination is therefore firm and rigid—no shake or vibration while operating.

The Leader lantern is the only practical double lantern to combine with a moving picture machine and is the only lantern made with which you can dissolve from still to moving pictures and from moving to still pictures. The dissolving is as perfect as though two still pictures were used in a regular dissolving lantern.

For a still picture to melt or dissolve into a moving picture, and this moving picture again to dissolve back into a still picture, is something new. The effect is novel, interesting and beautiful. Since slides form an important part of the entertainment, an exhibitor with this style of an outfit will certainly have an advantage over the exhibitor who has the regular single lantern outfit. We would specially recommend this dissolving outfit to those who remain more than one night in a place or who expect to play return dates. If you do not care to purchase a double Leader lantern to begin with, buy a single Leader and later on you can add the top lantern.

EDISON'S MOVING PICTURE MACHINES

THE UNDERWRITER'S MODEL.

The fire ordinance of some cities requires a moving picture machine to be constructed so as to obtain the best possible protection against fire. The Underwriter's Model is supposed to meet all these requirements. It is provided with automatic film protector, fire magazines for the reels of film, enclosed switch, asbestos covered wire, spark proof lamp house, etc.

The moving picture part of the Underwriter's and Exhibition Model is the same. The "head" (moving picture part) is enclosed in an oak case, and has a handle by which it can be carried. Choice is given of the No. 2 or No. 3 moving picture lens.

THE UNIVERSAL MODEL.

The Universal Model is somewhat smaller and lighter than either the Underwriter's or Exhibition Models. The electric burner, lamp house and rheostat is the same as the Exhibition Model. The moving picture part is little different, however, the general construction and principle is the same. In the Underwriter's and Exhibition Models, the moving picture part remains stationary and the lamp house slide over when the change is made from still to moving pictures. In the Universal Model, the moving picture part slides over and the lamp house remains stationary. Each have points of advantage over the other, however, when permanently located, we would advise the heavier machine.

EDISON AND JUMBO

This cut shows the Edison Exhibition moving picture machine, combined with the fire-proof Jumbo electric lamp and lamp house. For cut and description of the "Jumbo" lamp house and burner, see index, front part of catalogue. This outfit is specially adapted for use in electric theaters. The "Jumbo" lamp and lamp house is without question superior to anything on the market and can be combined with any moving picture machine.

TRUNK AND FIREPROOF BOX.

FOR THE EDISON AND LEADER.

This outfit trunk is specially made for the Edison moving picture machine and the Leader lantern with fireproof "box-table."

The fireproof box-table is made of galvanized iron, riveted together, and will pass fire inspection. It is provided with four adjustable legs so it can be raised or lowered or tilted at any angle desired. The film should be run in the fireproof box in place of rewinding on a reel as it runs through the machine.

Top of the box is removable, and the entire box is made to fit inside the trunk. Padded trays are made with apartments for each part of the machine, and the trays fit inside the galvanized box. This galvanized box greatly strengthens the trunk and adds but little weight. It is also a fireproof box for the film, and the best adjustable table on the market.

The legs are in a close-fitting metal case inside the box, extending nearly to the top, thereby making a firm, rigid support. Each leg has an adjustment of 12 inches, and for shipping, packs inside the box.

The trunk is large enough to hold the Edison and leader machine complete, No. 4 wonder rheostat, 15 or 18-foot curtain, and has one large extra tray with cover in which can be packed clothing or anything desired. The corners and edges are protected by heavy malleable iron castings, and the trunk being re-inforced with the galvanized box inside, makes it a most serviceable trunk for the road.

Dimensions of trunk, 40 in. long, 20 in. wide and 28 in. high. This trunk is larger than majority of outfit trunks, which gives room for extra things you always have to carry.

This cut shows trunk, with one of the trays, and fireproof box inside trunk.

OBJECTIVE OR PROJECTING LENS.

USE, CONSTRUCTION, TESTING AND CARE OF LENS.

The above cut shows the objective lens and path of light from arc to curtain. "A" is the carbon or source of light; "B" and "C," condensing lenses; "D," opening where slide is placed; "E," back combination of objective lens; "F," thumb-screw of rack and pinion for accurate focusing; "G," front combination of objective; "H," on both sides of barrel, the diaphragm; "I," the image upon the curtain.

The light rays cross as they pass through the objective lens, inverting the image upon the screen, as shown in the cut. For this reason slides must be placed in the carrier with the top of the picture downward.

HOW A PICTURE IS PROJECTED.

The objective lens does not form the image nor invert the picture on the screen as many suppose.

Rays of light passing through the slide form a countless number of faint images of the picture or object, and the objective lens bends these image rays so they all fall exactly on the same spot on the curtain. Moving the lens forward and back to find the point where the lens will combine all these image rays is called focusing the lens.

CORRECTING A LENS.

The quality of an objective lens depends upon how perfectly the image rays are combined in one spot on the curtain. If this could be accomplished with one glass, better illumination and a brighter picture would be obtained. Unfortunately this cannot be accurately done with one lens made from a single piece of glass.

All light, whether natural or artificial, is composed of rays of different colors and these colors are not refracted alike—for example, the blue rays are shorter focus than the red rays. This difference in focus of the various colored rays is called "chromatic aberration." The rays passing through the edge of the lens come to a focus sooner than those passing the center of the lens—also rays from the extreme points of the image tend to shorter focus than those coming from center of the object. This difference in focus is called "spherical aberration." When accuracy is required, these defects must be corrected and in order to do this, a compound lens is used. This lens is composed of different kinds of glass having different refractive power and ground in different shapes.

TESTING A LENS.

See that the condensing lens, slide and objective lens are perpendicular to each other and that the light is perfectly centered. The entire field should be clear white and evenly illuminated. Use a slide covered all over with reading matter photographed sharp and black, or, better still, a slide ruled in perfect squares and all the same size. Every line on the curtain should be straight and in focus and none of the squares distorted. A wire screen or gauze is sometimes used, but is not always a reliable test. Should it be dented or bent only a little, it would show a defect on the curtain and lens might be condemned when it was not at fault.

ARRANGEMENT OF GLASSES.

Sometimes it is necessary to remove the lenses to clean them and when this is done care should be used to see that they are replaced in their proper order.

In the modern objective lens there are two glasses in front end of tube or barrel and two at the back end. Each pair consists of two kinds of glass (crown and flint) and is mounted in a cell known as the front and back combination. In the back combination "E" the glass next to the light is a double convex with one side more convex than the other. The side with the greater curvature should go towards the front. The next is a flint glass, concavo-convex, which is also placed in the cell, so the convex side also points towards the front. The two glasses or lenses in the back combination are separated by a narrow ring. The front combination "G" consists of two glasses cemented together as is indicated by a line shown in the diagram. In the regular objective lens all the glasses, like an arrow, point towards the front.

CARE OF OBJECTIVE LENS.

To clean the lenses, use a silk handkerchief or a soft cotton cloth. Never touch the glass with the fingers as it will leave a greasy spot that is difficult to wipe off. Seldom will it be necessary to clean the glass on the inside, as the tube is practically dust proof. However, in course of time more or less moisture will condense and dry on the inside, forming a coating on the glass. This will greatly retard passage of light and reduce brilliancy of the picture.

Should this occur, remove the glasses, carefully clean them with alcohol, polish with a perfectly clean piece of silk or soft cotton cloth and be sure to put them back in their proper order. This should be done at a place or time when there is as little dust in the air as possible. Even under the most favorable circumstances more or less dust laden air will be shut up in the lens barrel and settle on the glasses.

DIAMETER OF STANDARD OBJECTIVE LENS.

size Projecting Lens, diameter of glass $1\frac{5}{8}$ inches.
$\frac{1}{4}$	"	"	"	"	"	"	"	$2\frac{1}{4}$	"
$\frac{1}{2}$	"	"	"	"	"	"	"	$2\frac{1}{2}$	"
$\frac{3}{4}$	"	"	"	"	"	"	"	3	"
$4/4$	"	"	"	"	"	"	"

The diameter given is size of lens glass and not the tube or mounting. By measuring the glasses of any lens and comparing with above table, you can tell whether or not the tube or barrel of your lens is standard size.

The size of a picture made by a lens, does not depend on the size of the tube or mounting, but upon the focus of the lens; and the focus of the lens is governed by the curve or shape the lens glass is ground.

To obtain the best results, the longer the focus, the larger the glass and mounting should be. With a long focus lens in a small tube, it is not possible to obtain a clear field or a sharp picture.

OBJECTIVE LENS.

The price of objective lenses vary greatly, depending on the grade of material used and the labor spent in their construction. Every lens manufacturer makes two grades of lenses, putting their name and serial number only on the better grade. So when ordering a lens of a certain make, to be sure of getting the best grade, see that the name, address and number is stamped on the lens.

The two popular manufacturers of high-grade objective lenses are Bausch and Lomb of this country, and Darlot of Europe. Scientific and practical tests have proven that the B. & L. lenses are fully equal to the imported, while the brass work is better.

Quality being equal, we believe in giving home industry the preference and advise using Bausch and Lomb lenses. However, we will furnish the Darlot lens when preference is made.

SPECIAL OBJECTIVE LENS.

To meet the demand of those who do not require the highest grade projection, we carry in stock a "special" objective lens in 1/4 size barrel or mounting. For the price these lenses are well made and finished. They have flange for attaching lens to the machine, dust proof cap and rack and pinion for accurate focusing. For those who wish to economize in purchasing their outfit, the "special" objective will be found a great convenience. Up to and including the 1/2 size excellent results will be obtained and we can recommend them where the highest grade work is not required. We could not, however, recommend the 2/3 and 4/4 in so small a barrel. Much better results will be obtained by taking them in the 1/2 size barrel or mounting. The 1/2 size is the most popular objective for general use. Should a 1/2 size "special" be ordered and the customer later want to exchange it for a Bausch and Lomb best grade, we will take it as part payment in the exchange.

Extra Long Focus Objective Lens, in half size tubes, each. 18.00

No. 3, giving a picture in size about one-sixth, one-seventh or one-eighth the distance between the machine and curtain.

With all lenses, the size of the picture will vary according to the distance the machine is from the curtain. It is sometimes desirable to place the lantern near the curtain and still obtain a good size picture. To meet this requirement a special wide angle lens is made that will give about a 10-inch picture for every foot the lantern is from the curtain.

6 feet from curtain, will give 5 foot picture.

12 " " " " " 10 " "

20 " " " " " 17 " "

When using this lens the lantern must be elevated so the lens will be on a line with center of the curtain. If tilted either front or back one side of the picture will be out of focus.

Sometimes it is more convenient to set the lantern behind the curtain and throw the picture through the screen. In this case this lens will be found very convenient.

The size of a picture made by a lens does not depend upon the size of the tube or mounting, but upon the focal length, and the focus is governed by the curve or shape the lens glass is ground. The size of picture and the focal length will vary somewhat in lenses of different makes, however, the following table gives the approximate length of focus for the standard sizes of all makes:

Wide angle, objective.....	4 in. focal length.
Quarter size, " " " " " "	6 in. " "
One-third size, " " " " " "	7½ in. " "
One-half size, " " " " " "	10 in. " "
Two-thirds size, " " " " " "	12 in. " "
Four-four size, " " " " " "	15 in. " "
Special long size, objective.....	18 in. " "

It should be remembered that with all lenses the size of the picture will increase or decrease according to the distance from the lens to the screen. Name and law governing size of the picture of lenses, having different focal length, is approximately as follows:

A "one-fourth" size projecting lens will give picture or disk, in diameter, one-half the distance from the machine to the curtain; a "one-third" lens, two-fifths; a "one-half" lens, one-third less 10 per cent; a "two-thirds" lens, one-fourth; and a "four-four" lens, one-fifth the distance.

The following table will illustrate the above rules:

SIZES OF LENSES.	10 ft.	20 ft.	30 ft.	40 ft.	50 ft.	60 ft.	70 ft.	80 ft.	90 ft.	100 ft.	110 ft.	130 ft.
Wide Angle.....	6 $\frac{1}{2}$	13 $\frac{1}{2}$
$\frac{1}{4}$	5	10	15	20
$\frac{1}{2}$	4	8	12	16	20	24
$\frac{3}{4}$		6	9	12	15	18	21	24
$\frac{1}{2}$			7 $\frac{1}{2}$	10	12 $\frac{1}{2}$	15	17 $\frac{1}{2}$	20	22 $\frac{1}{2}$	25
$\frac{3}{4}$			6	8	10	12	14	16	18	20	23	27

By unscrewing and removing the back lens from the tube, a smaller picture can be made, and as the focal distance is lengthened the lens, (to focus the picture), must be moved farther from the light. Although this detracts a little from the sharpness of the picture, still, in case of an emergency, it will be found a great convenience.

THE NEW POLYOPSE LENS FOR STEREOPTICONS AND MAGIC LANTERNS

Adjustable Focus. Gives any standard size picture at any distance from the screen.

The Polyopse Lens is a wonderful triumph in Lens making. It accomplished that seemingly impossible feat of giving a picture of almost any desired size at any regular distance from the screen. That is, with the lantern say 30 feet from the screen, the size of the picture may be varied as desired from about 15 feet square to about 6 feet square, any size between these being also obtainable. In short, it combines all the properties of the $\frac{1}{4}$, $\frac{1}{2}$, 2-3 and 4-4 size Lenses. It may be used at any distance from 5 to 100 feet from the screen. The method of use is simple.

When used as shown on left of cut it is practically a $\frac{1}{4}$ size Lens, by slipping the cell shown at right of cut over the rear of the Lens, any picture within the range of a $\frac{1}{2}$, 2-3, or 4-4 size Lense may be had by drawing the bellows in or out until the desired size is obtained and then focusing the Lense with the rack and pinion.

Price. The Polyopse Lens, complete.....$25.00

Moving Picture Lens.

The projecting lens is one of the most important parts of a machine, for with a poor lens, a good picture cannot be obtained, no matter how good the other parts of the outfit may be.

The size of each photograph on a moving picture film is about $\frac{3}{4}$ of a square inch while a lantern slide picture is about 9 square inches, it will therefore require a lens with much greater power (wider angle) for a moving picture than for a lantern slide.

A moving picture film is made of celluloid, which is translucent, while the lantern slide is made of glass and is transparent.

One moves rapidly before the light, while the other is stationary.

And again the shutter on a moving picture machine shuts the light off the curtain about one-third of the time.

Therefore the moving pictures require a much stronger light and upon the screen never appear so bright as the slide. The larger the picture the less brilliant—the larger the space covered by the light, the dimmer the field. Where the same light is used it is always advisable to make the moving picture about one-third smaller than the stereopticon pictures.

MOTION PICTURE LENS TUBES AND JACKETS.

A jacket with interchangeable lens tubes is a very convenient form of a moving picture lens. The jacket with lens barrel screws in the machine and is provided with rack and pinion for accurate focusing. The lens tube slips in the jacket, and can be quickly removed when desired. It can be slipped forward or back, as the case may require, to obtain an approximate focus, and for accurate focusing use rack and pinion. There are three of these tubes, No. 1, 2 and 3.

The No. 1 lens tube projects about a three (3) foot picture for every ten (10) feet of distance the machine is from the curtain.

The No. 2 lens tube projects about a three (3) foot picture for every fourteen (14) feet of distance the machine is from the curtain.

The No. 3 lens tube projects about a three (3) foot picture for every twenty (20) feet of distance the machine is from the curtain.

The jacket and tubes are sold separately or the jacket and three (3) lens tubes complete in a case.

SPECIAL LONG FOCUS MOVING PICTURE LENS.

These lenses do not have the interchangeable jacket, but are constructed same as the regular objective lens. It is necessary to use extension tubes and these will vary in length for different machines.

The Allen Moving Picture Lens.

This lens will make a picture from one-third to one-fifth of the distance between the machine and curtain and all sizes between these extremes. These different sizes are made by simply revolving the front ring as indicated by the hand. The picture will gradually grow larger or smaller as desired and keep in focus during the change. This will be found a great convenience for the traveling exhibitor. In appearance the Allen lens resembles the ordinary projecting lens. The following table shows the largest and smallest picture the lens will project at a given distance:

DISTANCE FROM SCREEN	MOVING PICTURE
	SMALLEST	LARGEST
At 20 feet any size picture desired between	4 feet	7 feet.
At 30 feet any size picture desired between	6 feet	10 feet.
At 40 feet any size picture desired between	8 feet	14 feet.
At 50 feet any size picture desired between	10 feet	17 feet.
At 60 feet any size picture desired between	12 feet	20 feet.
At 80 feet any size picture desired between	16 feet	26 feet.

With majority of machines it is necessary to use an extension collar, and the length will vary with different machines. Therefore, always state with what machine the lens is to be used.

OIL BURNER.

For many years oil was the only illuminant used for the so-called "Magic Lantern." The oil lantern is comparatively little used since brighter and better artificial lights have come into general use. Owing to their simplicity and safety oil is used as the illuminant in toy lanterns. Missionaries use the oil lantern because of convenient transportation and the fact that oil of some kind can be obtained almost everywhere. Almost any kind of oil can be used—even solid paraffin or tallow will give a very good light, if melted and kept hot. When using kerosene, get the best grade and dissolve in it some camphor gum.

A tall chimney is used in order to create a draft, which is necessary to obtain a good light. Front end of the flame chamber has a removable glass and the rear end a metal reflector. Each wick is controlled by a milled head thumbscrew. This burner can be used with the Monarch lantern.

Price, Oil Burner $4.00 each.

Inverted Mantle Light

The mantle gas light will be found very convenient to use in a lantern where a strong light is not desired. It can be used with ordinary illuminating gas or from vaporized gasoline or alcohol. Kerosene oil can also be used, but is more difficult to convert into a vapor and consequently is not used for this purpose as much as gasoline. There are several different styles of apparatus on the market for using a gas mantle, but as each one of these is provided with a mantle attachment, the above burner is principally used where the ordinary illuminating gas is in the house. By using a rubber hose it can be connected with any gas jet.

The amount of illumination obtained on the screen by using a mantle with a lantern is usually disappointing. Judging from the amount of illumination a good mantle light will make in a room, the general impression is that a picture almost equal to calcium light should be obtained. Such would be the case if all the light could be collected and utilized; but unfortunately only a portion of light from front of the mantle can be collected. The condensing lenses can condense into the objective lens only the light from place about large as a silver half dollar. The balance of the light from the sides, back and front of the mantle is lost. With the inverted mantle, the light is concentrated and being small, less heat is generated.

One serious objection to using a mantle light is the large amount of heat generated and the danger of breaking condensing lenses. When using this style of light the lamp house should be well ventilated, and lantern set within twenty feet of the curtain. No mantle light is strong enough to make a satisfactory moving picture, and a stereopticon picture should not be made over eight feet in diameter. The stand or support shown in cut is not included in price of burner.

ALCOHOL VAPOR MANTLE LIGHT

The above cut shows a new style of alcohol mantle light for use in a lantern. The alcohol is converted into a vapor, which burns at the mantle. The outfit is small, light and easily carried about. A special mantle is used and it is well to include a few extra when ordering the outfit. Either the wood or grain (ordinary) alcohol can be used, but we would advise using the grain alcohol. Alcohol containing any sediment or foreign substance should not be used, as there is danger of clogging up one of the small openings.

Special Incandescent Electric Lamp.

This is a special incandescent electric lamp for use with a stereopticon. The carbon-filament is made spiral shape so as to concentrate the light. It is better and more convenient than acetylene or gas mantle and will give a very good stereopticon picture 10 feet square. The light, however, is not strong enough for moving pictures, which require either electric-arc, or lime (oxy-hydrogen) light. With the special incandescent lamp is furnished a connecting plug, twenty feet of electric lamp cord, base and support with set screw for attaching to the post in lamp house. The sliding saddle and post shown in cut is not included as part of the outfit. No rheostat is required, except where two lanterns are used and dissolving effect is desired (see dissolving rheostat). With the 50 candle power lamp the light is turned on and off with the socket key, same as an ordinary incandescent bulb; but with the 100 candle power lamp it should be turned on and off by a small switch at the machine. For home use, secret societies and small halls, this light will be found very convenient. We would advise using the 100 candle power lamp.

There is a small bulb for 100 candle-power, same size as 50 candle-power. It is cheaper, but soon burns out. We handle only the best grade large bulb. When ordering state voltage, and if Edison, Thompson-Houston, or Westinghouse attaching plug is wanted. For best light, set globe so filament is little "edgeways" to the lens. No allowance made for damage during shipment. For current 104 to 110 volts.

The King Acetylene Burner.

This is without question the best acetylene burner on the market. It consists of four tips, each having two jets of light, which unite in one blaze. These four brilliant flames, fed by eight air chambers, give perfect combustion and a powerful light. We have abandoned the old fashioned shape burner, because the tips are not durable. They are small, fragile and so exposed that they are easily broken. The tips used with a "King" burner are made from a solid block with heavy walls around the holes, so they will stand the rough usage of shipping. If the tips should become clogged, use a fine soft wire to clean them, being careful not to nick or chip the edge of small hole. A little defect in the tip will cause it to smoke.

Acetylene, when burning, generates great deal of heat and unless the lamphouse is well ventilated there is danger of breaking the condensing lenses. Oil lanterns are usually well ventilated and can therefore be used with acetylene light. It is estimated that acetylene gives from five to seven times as strong a light as oil and from one-fourth to one-third as strong as calcium.

Judging from the bright white flame of acetylene, many are disappointed at the result when using it in a lantern. The reason of this is that only a portion of the light can be brought to a focus on the curtain. One reason calcium and electric light is so well adapted for the lantern is because the light all radiates from one small spot. Where the light is scattered, as in a Welsbach mantle or acetylene burner, the condensing lens can collect or condense only a portion of the light, so it will pass through the projecting lens to the curtain. As a rule those using acetylene push the burner in too near the condensing lens. This not only gives less illumination on the curtain, but there is more danger of breaking the condensing lenses. When using acetylene have the room dark as possible and do not try to make too large a picture or get too far from the curtain.

Acetylene Burner Cleaner.

The importance of frequently cleaning an acetylene burner can not be overestimated. The opening in the tip through which the acetylene gas passes is very small and is easily clogged. This opening is too small for a pin and if an effort is made to force anything in it there is danger of chipping off a small piece from the opening which will ruin the burner. With the acetylene burner cleaner the gas as well as air holes can be quickly cleaned without danger of injuring the tip. The cleaner is small, can be carried in the vest pocket and is always ready for use. No one using an acetylene burner can afford to be without one of these cleaners.

Hand Feed Electric Lamp

Standard Electric Lamp

Electricity is the strongest light used for projection work and should always be used when connection can be conveniently obtained.

Automatic or self-feeding electric lamps are heavy, complicated and always getting out of order. Experience has proven that for traveling the hand feed electric lamp is much more satisfactory.

The Standard electric lamp has quick feed, is light and strong, all parts nickel plated and thoroughly insulated.

The dotted lines show single carbons can be tilted for alternating current. This is the best lamp on the market for the money. Cheap in price, but not in quality.

PRICE—Standard Electric Lamp$ 4.00

Right Angle Electric Lamp.

This cut shows a convenient form of electric lamp for use in stereopticons with a small lamp house. It can be used on either alternating or direct current and by some is preferred to the regular style of lamp. When thumb screw C is tightly set, turning either A or B will operate both carbons together. If thumb screw C is loosely set, either carbon can be operated separately. In other words both carbons can be operated together or each one separately as desired. A moves the top carbon and B the lower one. The carbon holders can be adjusted so as to give the carbons any angle desired and will accommodate either large or small carbon. The lamp is made of the best quality of tempered brass, nickel plated and polished.

Price,$8.50
Stand for electric lamp show in cut not included in the price.

MONARCH ELECTRIC LAMP.

With this lamp the carbons can be operated either from the rear or side by levers A or B. Carbon hood or light shield C serves as a reflector, catches any sparks or refuse from the burning carbons and prevents flood of light coming from rear of lamp house. The dotted lines show how the carbons can be tilted for alternating current.

By a special friction swivel-joint the lamp can be tilted at any angle and will remain rigid on the post. The carbon holders are held in position by lock screws so they will not work loose. The lamp has a quick feed and takes carbons long enough to last from 2 to 2½ hours. The upright supports to which the carbon holders are attached stand directly in front of each other, so the carbons are in alignment.

PRICE. Monarch Electric Lamp$8.50

LEADER ELECTRIC LAMP.

The Leader electric lamp is specially adapted for use with a moving picture machine, having every adjustment to keep the circle of light properly centered on the square hole in the moving picture machine.

Lever A operates the carbons, B raises and lowers the arc, C is set screw that holds the lamp on the post, and lever D moves the lamp from one side to the other. If used in a lamp house with closed back, the lever: A, B and D will be made long to extend through so they can be operated at any angle.

This lamp has more convenient adjustments than any other lamp on the market except the "Jumbo," which must be used in a specially constructed lamp house. The Leader burner is made of the best tempered brass, nickel plated, and heavy enough for strong current.

The dotted lines show how the carbons can be tilted at any angle desired when used on alternating current.

Price, Leader Electric Burner.....$10.00

Foot or support shown in cut is not included in price.

JUMBO LAMP—CUT NO. 1.

JUMBO ELECTRIC BURNER AND LAMP HOUSE

Cut No. 1 shows the electric lamp when it is swung out of the lamp house in position for putting in new carbons. A, is knob used to swing the lamp in and out of the lamp house. B, moves the top carbon forward and back. C, raises and lowers the lamp on the standard. D, turns the lamp to the right or left. E, separates the carbons and brings them together. F, moves the lamp forward and back. H, is folding arm or support that prevents the lamp from swinging back too far. J, is part of the switch that closes the circuit when the lamp is in position. K K are asbestos wires that connect the carbon with two outside binding posts. The dotted lines or white outline of the carbons shows the angle the carbons can be tilted for alternating current.

SUITABLE FOR A STRONG LIGHT

For moving picture machines or loderns where a strong electric light is used, there is demand for a heavy, substantial burner and a large lamp house. To meet this demand we have constructed the Jumbo Burner and Lamp-house, which can be attached to any moving picture machine.

The Jumbo Lamp is intended to use where hard service is required and large amount of current is consumed. It is especially adapted for moving picture theatres, or any place where the lamp is in constant use.

The regular electric lamp, while it is entirely satisfactory for general use, is too light for this heavy work.

EVERY ADJUSTMENT NECESSARY.

The Jumbo Lamp, in addition to its size, strength and durability, has every adjustment that it is possible to use, and this adjustment is all done outside of the lamp house. With the different screw-feed adjustments you can move the lamp forward and back—raise or lower it on the standard—turn it to the right or left—operate or feed the carbons and move the top carbon in front of or behind the lower carbon. By these adjustments the light can always be kept centered on the square hole, or opening, for the moving picture film and the carbons or light adjusted to obtain the best possible results.

WILL NEVER SLIP ON SUPPORT.

The lamp being raised and lowered on the post by a screw-feed, it is impossible for it to ever slip or "drop" as is frequently the case with other lamps using a gear-feed. With a gear-feed you must depend on friction to support the lamp, and when the lamp gets hot and expands the friction is reduced. The little jar or vibration from the moving picture machine has a tendency to cause the lamp to drop, if there is any opportunity for it to do so. The Jumbo Lamp can not slip or drop under any circumstances.

QUICK FEED AND LONG CARBONS.

The carbons have a rapid feed and a large, substantial lever to operate them. The carbon-holders have an adjustment of 16 inches and will hold carbons long enough to burn from $3\frac{1}{2}$ to 5 hours, depending on the number of amperes of current consumed. If the carbons are burned too short there is danger of melting or injuring the carbon-holder. Every time the carbons are changed there is a piece left about $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches long, which is thrown away. With the ordinary electric burner it is necessary to change the carbons three times as often as with the Jumbo Burner, and you will, therefore, waste three times as much carbon. With a burner using long carbons there is a saving both in time and money.

MOVING TOP CARBON.

To obtain full benefit of the light, points of the carbons should be kept in such a position as to keep the crater on side of the carbons next to the condensing lens. For direct current, center of the lower carbon should be from one-eighth to a quarter of an inch ahead of the center of top carbon—for alternating current the points of both carbons should be perfectly centered. By being able to move the top carbon forward and back, points of both carbons can be kept in proper position to obtain full benefit of the light. In other lamps when using direct current, one carbon is tilted more than the other in order to bring point of one ahead of the other. This gives, in a measure, the desired result only for the time being, for one carbon having more angle than the other, the relative position of the points as they burn is constantly changing. With the Jumbo Burner the carbon is not tilted, but the entire carbon is moved forward or back as desired. To obtain the best results, points of the carbons should be adjusted while the light is burning. This can be done with the Jumbo Burner, and the points always kept in the proper position to obtain the best light.

TILTING THE CARBONS.

When using alternating current, better results will be obtained by tilting the carbons as is indicated in the cut by the dotted lines. With alternating current, the crater does not remain in same place, but moves around on end of carbon. By tilting the points out towards condensing lens the light on the curtain will not vary so much, caused by the crater changing position. With the Jumbo Lamp the carbons can be tilted at any angle desired and the relative position of the points is always under perfect control of the operator.

JUMBO LEADER LAMP HOUSE.

The back end of the Lamp House with the electric burner is on a hinge that swings out as shown in Cut No. 1. The Lamp House is specially constructed for use of electric light and will pass insurance and fire inspection. The wire guard on top of Lamp House is not an essential part of the construction, but is required by the fire ordinance in many of the large cities, its use being simply to prevent anything from burning should it come in contact with the hot part of the Lamp House.

NO BROKEN CONDENSING LENSES.

Breaking condensing lens is not only an expense, but is also a source of much annoyance. In constructing the Jumbo Leader Lamp House, special attention was given to this so it is extremely rare that a condensing lens is broken even though 50 amperes of current might be used. The Lamp House is constructed on a new principle, whereby a most thorough ventilation is secured, still there is no light escapes around the machine.

SLIDING BASE FOR LAMP HOUSE.

When using a machine in which the moving picture part does not slide over, it is necessary to slide the lamp house. We have a special base board and a special sliding base for the Jumbo Lamp House. The sliding base of other machines can be used, but they are not so well adapted for the Jumbo as the one specially made for it. The sliding base made by us never binds and works much smoother and easier.

THE STANDARD RHEOSTAT.

When using an arc lamp with an incandescent electric current it is necessary to use a rheostat, sometimes called a resistance coil. The standard rheostat has an improved sliding adjustment or "cut out" that is reliable and always makes a good contact. It also has inside a returning rod for the current which greatly reduces the liability of the rheostat burning out. Other low priced rheostats do not have these improvements and the standard rheostat will last longer than any other two rheostats similar in appearance now on the market.

Standard rheostat No. 1 will give from 12 to 15 amp., and is suitable for current of 110 volts or less.

Standard rheostat No. 2 will give from 12 to 15 amp. of current and is suitable for current of 220 volts or less. This rheostat is larger and heavier than the standard No. 1, and therefore, is not as well adapted for use on the road as the wonder special. The standard rheostats can be used on either alternating or direct current.

PRICE. Standard Rheostat No. 1, for 110 volts or less $ 4.00
Standard Rheostat No. 2, for 220 volts or less 9.00

DUPLEX RHEOSTAT.

A is sliding contact or cut-out. BB are binding posts for attaching wire. This rheostat is wound with two wires in multiples which doubles or multiplies the amount of current used. As a moving picture requires more current than a still picture, this rheostat is better adapted for moving pictures than the ordinary rheostat wound with a single wire.

Although the two wires are wound together, still they do not touch, so there is no danger of "arcing." Each coil of wire is separated by asbestos string wound between the wires. It is therefore impossible for the coils of wire to touch each other. In all other rheostats where two wires are wound in multiples, the wires lie side-by-side against each other. Where perfect contact is not made, the current jumps from one to the other, thereby overheating the wire.

This trouble cannot occur with the Duplex Rheostat. This rheostat will give twenty-five amperes of current without overheating.

WONDER RHEOSTAT NO. 1.

A is cut-out, B binding post, C fuse wire. The Wonder Rheostats are provided with a fuse. This dispenses entirely with the trouble and expense of carrying a fuse block, which is both inconvenient to use and easily broken.

Composition of the resistance wire used in construction of this rheostat is a valuable discovery. It has EIGHT TIMES the resistance of iron wire (such as is generally used in rheostats) and TWICE the resistance of German silver wire. The latter was formerly considered to have more resistance than any other wire. This new wire does not absorb so much heat as other wire, and constant heating and cooling does not make it "brittle," as is the case with German silver wire.

With other rheostats the wire is either in form of a spiral spring or is wound on a drum and depends on tension to hold it in place. In either case the heat will cause it to stretch and "touch," so there is danger of short circuit and burning the wire in two.

The Wonder Rheostat is constructed on a principle entirely different from any other rheostat. The wire is NOT on a tension and will not stretch and then short circuit.

WONDER RHEOSTAT NO. 2.

Owing to the high resistance of the wire, only a small amount is required, therefore the rheostat can be made small and light.

By means of the improved sliding adjustment, not only is perfect control of the light obtained, but the rheostat can be used on currents of different voltage. Many electric plants now being installed are for 125 volts and this rheostat can be used on current of this voltage or anything below 125. The ordinary rheostat is made for 110 volts and is not safe to use it on current of higher voltage.

An arc using a direct current should burn quietly, but with an alternating current there is always a humming or buzzing noise. Part of this is in the arc light and part is due to vibration in the rheostat.

The Wonder Rheostat is so constructed that there is no vibration or noise in the rheostat, but the original noise in the arc still remains. No rheostat can control that any more than to control the amount of current consumed—the more current the more light and the more noise. Some alternating currents make more noise than others, depending on the number of alternations or cycles per second.

WONDER RHEOSTAT NO. 3, WITH WIRE GUARD.

This cut shows style of the wonder rheostat with WIRE GUARD AND ENCLOSED METAL FUSE BOX.

A is the thumb screw that holds the metal cover (D) on the fuse box. C-C are fuse links or fuse wire. B-B are the binding posts, and E is the handle of sliding contact or cut-out.

In many cities the fire ordinance requires a wire guard to be placed around the rheostat, and also requires that all fuse connections be enclosed in a metal case. The bottom of the rheostat has, in addition to the wire guard, a piece of sheet metal covered with asbestos. The object of the wide guard is to prevent anything from coming in contact with the hot wire.

The cover of fuse box on end of rheostat is held in position by a thumb screw, so it can be quickly removed when necessary to replace or examine the fuse.

The rheostat is light, compact and strong. It weighs about 5½ pounds, is 10½ in. long, 7 in. high and 4¾ in. wide.

WONDER RHEOSTAT, "SPECIAL."

This rheostat is truly a "Wonder," for by the different combinations the equivalent of six rheostats can be made, and it can be used on current of 220 volts and ALL currents of less voltage.

The current most generally met with has 106 to 110 volts. From a current of this voltage you can obtain all the light you want—from four amperes to fifty amperes. The Wonder "Special" is like a reliable bank account—you can draw on it for any amount you need.

The rheostat consists of four coils or apartments, each of which has a separate fuse. These coils can be used in series or multiples, on one light or on two lights. If in series, less current and less light; if in multiples, more current and more light will be obtained. For double dissolving lantern using two arc lights, one coil on each light can be used, or two coils in multiples on each light.

The following combinations can be quickly made without the rheostat overheating:

1	arc light,	12 to 15 amperes,	on current of 220 volts or less.
1	"	4 to 50 "	" 110 " "
1	"	12 to 15 "	" 110 " "
1	"	25 to 50 "	" 110 " "
2	" lights,	12 to 15 amperes each,	on current of 110 volts or less.
2	"	25 amperes each,	on current of 110 volts or less.

The greater the number of amperes, the more light will be obtained. All these combinations are made WITHOUT cutting out anything—the full resistance is in all the coils, and there is no danger of burning out or overheating the rheostat. By using the two sliding “cut-outs,” the rheostat can be adjusted to suit the voltage of different currents.

With all other rheostats, in order to obtain more amperes of light, it is necessary to cut out part of the resistance. This will increase the light, but will make the rheostat hotter. If too much resistance is cut out, the wire will become red hot and the rheostat will soon burn out.

With the Wonder “Special,” if you need a bright light, it is not necessary to cut out resistance, simply CUT IN another coil IN MULTIPLES. This will give the desired results and keep the rheostat cool.

In many places the electric plant is small, the wire is “overloaded” and the operator is not able to obtain sufficient light for his machine. In this case all the coils can be used in multiples, and if there is any current on the line, the rheostat will give it to you, providing you have large enough lead wire. It will pull the current from other lights, which will grow dimmer as yours grows brighter. It is the moving picture operator who can best appreciate the convenience and value of the Wonder “Special.”

Price of this rheostat may seem high, but, considering what it will do, it is the cheapest rheostat on the market, and will be a most profitable investment. It is specially adapted for high-class work, and no one who has used a Wonder “Special” would be without it. Instructions are sent with each rheostat, showing how to make the various combinations.

REMARKS.

For moving pictures, when the Wonder “Special” is not ordered, the No. 2 or No. 4 should be used. There is no cut of the No. 4 rheostat. However, it is same style as No. 3.

SPECIAL ALTERNATING RHEOSTAT.

In the above cut the rheostat is inside a galvanized iron case. The case or box is filled with oil and for this reason it is often called “The Oil Rheostat.” When using the regular rheostat and alternating current, it is necessary to use about twice as much electricity as it is when using direct current. The “Special Alternating Rheostat” checks the waste of electricity and therefore the amount of current consumed is much less. The oil used in the case is not necessary for operating the rheostat, but helps to keep it cool.

The induction coil used in construction of the rheostat adds considerable to the cost and weight. This Special Alternating rheostat is not suitable for the traveling exhibitor for it can not be used on direct current, and also is not convenient for transportation.

The buzzing noise, so objectionable with alternating current, is somewhat reduced when using this rheostat. If the machine is permanently located and alternating current is used, the “Induction Coil Rheostat” will be found a very profitable investment.

Points in favor of the “Special Alternating Rheostat” are, consumes about half the amount of current, reduces the noise, does not get hot and is endorsed by fire inspection.

Price, Special Alternating Rheostat. $50.00

THE HALLBERG RHEOSTAT OR THE HALLBERG AUTOMATIC ELECTRIC ECONOMIZER

(Patented.)

This is without doubt the most economical rheostat on the market. Two different kinds are made, one for direct and one for alternating current.

The rheostat never gets hot and it is not necessary to place it in oil to keep it cool as is the case with similar devices. As there is no vibration and no heat, the rheostat does not wear out. It is guaranteed to meet the approval of the board of fire underwriters, city electric inspection and fire department.

On a current of 110 volts, with a 20 ampere fuse on the main or lead wire, 35 to 40 amperes of current can be had at the lamp. The meter, lead wire and fuses can be half the size required when using a regular rheostat.

As comparatively little heat is generated there is little danger of breaking the condensing lenses. It reduces the noise at the arc 50 per cent, and prevents all sputtering when carbons are held closely together for a short arc. This rheostat is too heavy for road work, weighing about 70 pounds.

When ordering state whether it is for direct or alternating current.

CALCIUM OR OXY-HYDROGEN JETS.

This illuminant is known by various names as Calcium Jet, Calcium Burner, Oxy-Hydrogen Jet, Lime Light Burner, etc.

INNER TUBE CALCIUM JET NO. 3.

A is thumb screw of "lime turner" by means of which the lime can be revolved and raised or lowered; B is thumb screw of "lime adjuster" by means of which the lime can, while the light is burning, be moved nearer or farther from the tip; C is thumb screw that holds the jet firmly on the post; D is thumb screw of "adjustable support" by which the jet can be used on post right, left or center of lantern; E is thumb screw that permits the jet to slide forward or back in the support; F F are the thumb screws of the needle-pointed regulating valves, which are an improvement on the old-style stop cocks; H is one of the two nipples to which the rubber tubes are attached for conveying the gas to jet.

The Inner-tube Calcium Jets are constructed on a scientific principle and are a decided improvement on other styles of calcium jets.

THE INNER TUBE.

The inner tube, as its name indicates, is a tube within a tube. The hydrogen gas flows through the inner tube, which ends at or near the bend of jet. The oxygen gas flows in the large tube around the inner tube. This gives a thin layer or ribbon of gas on the outside, with a solid stream of gas on the inside. One important point in obtaining a good calcium light is to have the

GASES THOROUGHLY MIXED.

The inner tube being smaller the force and expanding pressure of the hydrogen in this tube exceeds that of the oxygen in the larger outside tube. The result is that when the hydrogen comes to end of inner tube it expands, penetrating and diffusing through the thin outside layer of oxygen. This makes a most complete and perfect mixing of the two gases. We are the originators of the "Inner-tube" calcium jet and it is the only jet having a scientific method of mixing the two gases. Thorough mixing of the gas is an important point to consider in purchasing a calcium jet. The Inner-tube jet does this and also gives a continuous, steady flow of mixed gas.

THE TIP.

The tip is made from a special composition metal prepared exclusively for this purpose. It is a hard, "close-grained" metal that will admit of a smooth polish. The bore or hole in the tip should be polished smooth as possible, for a rough tip means a noisy jet and a poor light. The tip, or goose neck, of some jets is made of ordinary brass or copper and soon becomes noisy. Tips for the Inner-tube jets are furnished in three different sized openings, small, medium and large bore. A choice is given with each burner, but when size is not specified, the medium size will be sent. We would recommend the large bore for moving pictures, or even for slides if the machine is a long distance from the curtain. A long tip or goose neck is easily clogged and difficult to clean. Tips of the Inner-tube jets are short, tapering bore, seldom clog and are easily cleaned.

LIME CUP OR HOLDER.

The lime cup or holder of the Inner-tube jet is made of spring metal, so it can be used for limes of different size. The lime holder of some calcium jets is made of cast metal and is therefore suitable for limes of only one size. With the Inner-tube jets the lime holder is adjustable to fit all sized limes on the market. Care should be taken not to raise the lime cup too high, lest the flame melt off end of one of the prongs that holds the lime.

LIME TURNER.

The mechanical lime turner is an important attachment to a calcium jet. Inner-tube jets Nos. 2 and 3 are provided with a mechanical lime turner, by means of which the lime can be turned, raised or lowered from outside of the lamp house.

If the blaze is allowed to remain too long in one place on the lime, it will burn or bore a hole in the lime and should therefore be turned occasionally to prevent this "pitting." A tip with a small hole will usually "pit" the lime quicker than a tip with a large hole. Forcing the gas will also have the same effect, in which case the lime should be turned more frequently.

LIME ADJUSTER.

This is a mechanical device for adjusting (while the light is burning) the distance between the lime and tip. With all calcium jets the lime can be adjusted or set before the gas is turned on, but not after the light is burning. An accurate adjustment of this distance can be made only while the light is burning. If the lime is the proper distance from the tip, the light will not only be bright, but will also burn with less noise.

When more gas is turned on for a moving picture or dark slide the lime should be moved a little farther from the tip and when some of the gas is turned off, the lime should be moved a little nearer the tip. The distance the lime should be from tip will also vary according to the angle the gas strikes the lime and the size of opening in the tip.

ADJUSTABLE SUPPORT.

Jets Nos. 2 and 3 are supplied with an adjustable holder or support that can be set to suit post in any lantern. All lanterns are furnished with a post to which the jet or burner is attached by means of a set screw. The post is either in the center or to the right or left of center. In order to bring the light in direct line with the center of condensing lens, it is usually necessary to change position of the post. This requires drilling a hole, cutting a thread, etc. None of this delay, expense and trouble will be had with the Inner-tube jet. By means of a thumb screw the support that fits on the post can be instantly adjusted for any position. No other jet is furnished with this adjustment.

STOP COCKS.

Stop cocks are used to regulate flow of gas to the tip when using double lantern and low pressure key. For single lantern or high pressure key they are of no special value. A stop cock is not practical for this purpose, because it has no fine regulation. In place of the stop cocks, with the Inner-tube jet, is furnished needle point regulating valves. This gives fine adjustment, perfect control of the gas, and is a great improvement on the stop cocks. The regulating valve on the hydrogen side of jet will also be found convenient to use when a saturator is used in place of a hydrogen tank.

MIXING CHAMBER.

The two gases should be thoroughly mixed before reaching the tip, and the smaller the chamber in which this mixing can be properly done the better. A jet with a large mixing chamber does not work well with a double dissolving lantern. The large amount of mixed gas in the chamber will cause the light to "snap out" unless the dissolving key is turned very slowly. This is necessary in order to give the mixing chamber time to be entirely cleared of oxygen. There are several calcium jets on the market claiming to give light of large candle power, owing to the fact that they have large mixing chambers, by means of which the gases are thoroughly mixed. The Inner-tube jet being constructed on an entirely different principle from other jets, accomplishes this thorough mixing and does it in a small mixing chamber.

LESS NOISE.

As the gases both mix flowing in the same direction, with no sharp turns to make, the light burns more quickly. There is always more or less noise when two gases come together flowing in opposite directions, which is the case with most jets. In the Inner-tube jets both gases mix flowing in the same direction. From cut of jets Nos. 2 and 3, one might think there were two main gas tubes leading to the tip. The gas, however, passes through only one side of the jet, the other side serving simply as a means of support for the lime holder and turner.

POINTS OF SUPERIORITY.

The Inner-tube calcium jet has many improvements and points of advantage over other calcium jets.

1. Better method of mixing the gases.
2. Consumes less gas for a given amount of light.
3. Gives a brighter and more steady light with less noise and sputtering.
4. Has mechanical device to adjust distance of lime from tip.
5. A mixing chamber specially adapted for dissolving lantern.
6. Regulating valves in place of stop cocks.
7. Adjustable support for jet so it can be used on any lantern.
8. More convenient to operate.

REMARKS.

A calcium jet is one of the most important things to consider when using oxy-hydrogen light. The lenses, pictures and everything else may be of the best, but if the calcium jet is poor, it is impossible to make a good picture on the curtain. The inner-tube jets cost no more than other burners and have many points of advantage. We would suggest reading carefully "Calcium Light" as applied to projection, see index.

THREE DIFFERENT STYLES.

Jet No. 1—(see cut). Inner-tube calcium jet No. 1 has neither lime turner nor lime adjuster; however, excellent results will be obtained with it and for a low-priced jet, it has no equal.

Jet No. 2—(see cut). Inner-tube calcium jet No. 2 has mechanical lime turner and lime adjuster. It is the same as No. 3 except there are no regulating valves (in place of stop cocks). This is the calcium jet we specially recommend for single lantern. With it the lime can be revolved, raised or lowered and moved forward or backward as desired—it gives absolute and perfect control of the lime.

Jet No. 3—(see cut). Inner-tube calcium jet No. 3 has mechanical lime turner, for revolving, raising and lowering the lime; mechanical lime adjuster for adjusting the distance between the lime and tip, and two needle regulating valves in place of stop cocks. This jet is specially adapted for dissolving lantern when using a low pressure key.

NOTICE.

There are several calcium jets on the market similar in appearance to the "Inner-tube" jet, however they do not have an "Inner" tube, that is, a tube within a tube. Beware of these imitations. See that the name "Inner-tube" is stamped on the jet.

Acetylene Gas.

Acetylene gas for many years was known only as a laboratory curiosity, but in 1893 a method was discovered of manufacturing the carbide in quantities for commercial use. The gas is made by simply immersing calcic carbide in water. This chemical (usually called "carbide") is produced by fusing together in an electric furnace about 40 per cent finely ground coke and 60 per cent unslacked lime. This requires an intense heat, which can only be obtained by an electric furnace. In appearance it resembles lime stone and is just as safe to handle. The same caution applies to its care as does to unslacked lime, that is keep it dry. If a piece of calcic carbide be heated till it is red hot, it will not give off its gas or do it any injury; but place it in water and it immediately begins to liberate acetylene gas. In liberating gas it also liberates great deal of heat. Carbide as found on the market is usually in small pieces and the size used with both the Ideal and Perfection Generator is $\frac{1}{4} \times 1-12$. Each pound of carbide will produce from $4\frac{1}{2}$ to 5 cubic feet of acetylene gas. Two pounds of carbide will give sufficient gas for two hours use with the best quadruple burner. All acetylene tips are constructed on principle of a Bunson burner, that is, air is mixed with the gas before reaching the point of combustion. Every tip has two or more holes to admit air, which is mixed with the gas before burning. When used with a good tip, acetylene burns with a pure white light and without smoke or odor. In brilliancy it is about twelve times that of ordinary illuminating gas. Although it will not compare with calcium or electric light it will give a good ten foot stereopticon picture.

Explosions reported from acetylene gas are usually from using liquid acetylene or where the gas is confined under extremely high pressure. There is no more danger in the use of acetylene for stereopticon, than there is in using the ordinary illuminating gas. All accidents that have occurred with acetylene would have occurred with ordinary illuminating gas under the same circumstances.

We always have on hand a stock of second-hand goods, and point with pride to the fact that they are goods of other makes—have been received in exchange from experienced exhibitors who recognize and appreciate the superior quality of our own make.

The Ideal Acetylene Generator.

All authorities on the manufacture and use of acetylene agree that the best and scientific method of obtaining the gas is to drop small quantities of carbide in a comparatively large volume of water. The Ideal Acetylene Generator is constructed on this principle and automatically drops the carbide in the water as required.

IMPROVED METHOD

This method of dropping the carbide in water, possesses many advantages over the old method of immersing the carbide in water while contained in a wire basket. Generating acetylene gas develops great heat and it is desirable to keep the carbide and water cool as possible. When the carbide is dropped in the water it falls to the bottom, so the gas as liberated, bubbles up through all the water. But when the carbide is used with a wire basket only the surface

With this generator the unused carbide is kept perfectly dry, and the charged generator will stand for days without making or losing any gas. Sufficient carbide can be put in the hopper to run a four jet burner two and a half or three hours. As the carbide in the hopper is always dry and clean, whatever is left can be poured back in the can with the rest of the carbide. Cost of gas is about ten cents per hour.

With the Ideal Generator carbide is fed automatically from the hopper into the water. The gas produced raises the inside tank until the plunger closes the supply tube. As gas is used out the inside tank gradually drops until plunger rod touches bottom of reservoir, when more carbide is released, and more gas formed.

MAKING ACETYLENE GAS

This acetylene outfit is constructed on an entirely new principle and is by far superior to any acetylene outfit made for the stereopticon or magic lantern. "P" is generator and wash bottle and "B" is the storage tank. No heat is required for making the gas. The carbide is gradually brought in contact with the water, liberating the acetylene gas, which is stored by its own pressure in the tank. The process is simple and in a few minutes sufficient gas can be made for several entertainments. The gas is made before the entertainment begins, so all you have to do is to turn on the gas and light it.

THE PERFECTION ACETYLENE GENERATOR ATTACHED TO STEREOPTICON.

IS IT DANGEROUS?

Some people have an idea that the use of carbide gas is dangerous. On this question we refer you to the Scientific American, Acetylene Journal, or any other work of authority. They will all tell you there is no more danger in using carbide gas than there is in ordinary house or illuminating gas, and some even claim, for general use, there is less danger. The generator is so constructed and the amount of carbide is so small that, practically, there is no danger whatever in making the gas. As a safeguard against danger from an accident while making gas, a safety valve is provided. It is very seldom an excessive pressure is obtained or an accident occurs; but in case of an emergency the safety valve will relieve the excessive pressure and no harm will be done.

OBJECTIONS TO THE OLD STYLE ACETYLENE OUTFITS.

In all other acetylene outfits the gas is made as it is used and is kept in the tank by what is termed a "water seal." When full pressure is obtained (or the tank stands unused for awhile) the gas will bubble out through the water, escaping in the air. This is not only disagreeable but unhealthy and dangerous. All the gas or carbide left in the generator after the entertainment cannot be saved for future use and is therefore a loss. Another serious objection is that water frequently gathers in the tube causing the light to constantly flicker.

ADVANTAGES OF THE PERFECTION GENERATOR.

In the "Perfection" acetylene gas generator there is no loss of carbide or gas. The gas stored in the tank can be shipped and used at any future time. There is no danger of gas escaping in the air. There being no water in the tank it is perfectly clean and can be used on a carpeted floor. The gas being free from steam or moisture, no water can accumulate in the tubes. The gas in the tank is always dry and under constant pressure; the flow of which is regulated by a needle valve. This gas gives a steady, bright light and for dissolving with a double lantern, it is far superior to any other acetylene gas making outfit made. Those who purchase the "Perfection" acetylene generator, can any time in the future, add the "Ozo" gas making part of the "Ozo-Carbi" outfit (described on page 86 of our catalogue). This will make the "Ozo-Carbi" outfit complete, which gives a light brighter than calcium and more simple than electricity. Expense of the "ozo" part of the outfit will be $40.00. Only few minutes is required to make the gas and the process will be found very simple. Full directions sent with each outfit.

CALCIUM LIGHT AS APPLIED TO PROJECTION.

This illuminant is known by various names, as calcium or lime light, oxy-hydrogen or gas tank light. The name, however, most generally used in this country is "calcium light."

For many years this was the most popular light used for high class work, but electricity is now rapidly replacing it. Electric light is cheaper, stronger and more convenient to use. Calcium light is made by simply heating a piece of lime to a white heat. This is accomplished by burning against the lime, a mixture of the two gases, oxygen and hydrogen.

THE OXYGEN GAS.

Oxygen occurs in a free state in the air, mixed with about four times its volume of nitrogen. Oxygen is not a combustible gas, but a supporter of combustion. A gas jet would not burn if there was no oxygen in the air. It is the oxygen supporting combustion of the hydrogen, that produces an intense heat by which the lime is made white hot. Oxygen is a colorless gas, having no taste or smell. For this reason care should be taken to see that all connections are tight when making or using it. Frequently an operator will lose quite a percentage of his oxygen by being careless about tight connections or a loose stuffing box. A leak from the gas used for hydrogen will soon be detected by the odor, but not so with oxygen. A convenient test is to light a match, blow out the flame, and hold the glowing ember to a joint where oxygen is escaping. The spark will glow more brightly and frequently relight the match. The better way, however, to test a connection, is to rub on the joint thick soapsuds or lather. The slightest leak will be detected by the gas bubbling through the soapsuds. There are a number of methods used to make oxygen for commercial use, but the one in general use for calcium light is by heating chlorate of potash and black oxide of manganese. No oxygen is obtained from the manganese—it serves simply as a medium for gradual liberation of the gas. Without a medium of this kind the chlorate of potash would melt and then liberate the oxygen with explosive violence. The chlorate of potash should be in small pieces or crystals. If necessary to use the powdered chlorate of potash add to the mixture of potash and manganese, about twenty per cent common table salt. The gas will then be liberated quietly. Oxygen made from chlorate of potash should be washed (allowed to bubble through water) in order to remove the chlorine, some of which is liberated with the oxygen.

One pound of chlorate of potash will make about 4 cu. ft. of oxygen. This is sufficient to last about an hour, when using a tip with a medium bore. One cubic foot of oxygen weighs 1.43 oz. or 1 oz. equals 7-10 of a cubic foot of gas. A 50-ft. tank of oxygen will therefore weigh about 4½ pounds more when full, than it does when empty. Should you weigh a tank before and after an entertainment, finding the difference to be 10 oz., multiply this by 7-10 and it would show you had used 7 cubic feet of oxygen.

THE HYDROGEN GAS.

Hydrogen, often called inflammable air, exists in a free state on the surface of the earth, only in small quantities. It is evolved in large quantities from active volcanoes and petroleum wells. When gas bags were in general use, both hydrogen and oxygen were made by the lantern operator and stored in the bags. The usual method employed for making this hydrogen was by the action of dilute sulphuric acid on scrap zinc or iron nails. The hydrogen obtained by using zinc is purer than that obtained from iron. Pure hydrogen is a colorless gas and has neither taste nor smell. It is the lightest known substance, being about 14½ times lighter than air. Although hydrogen is not poisonous, it is incapable of supporting animal life, owing simply to the exclusion of oxygen. Pure hydrogen at the present time is seldom used for making calcium light. The hydrogen in general use for this light is in form of illuminating gas or vaporized 88 gasoline or ether. The gas sold in tanks for hydrogen is just the ordinary house or illuminating gas pumped into tanks. It has been claimed that with pure hydrogen a stronger light could be obtained. Careful tests have not only proven that this is not true, but have also proven that more oxygen will be required to produce an equal amount of light. The result of burning hydrogen and oxygen together forms an oxide of hydrogen (H₂O)—the common name of which is water. If hydrogen and air, or oxygen, be mixed in certain proportion, and a flame applied to the mixture, they will instantly combine with a violent explosion. A tank that has been used for hydrogen should never be used for oxygen. The gas seems to saturate the metal, so it is almost impossible to remove it.

BUY OR MAKE THE GAS.

To obtain the necessary gases for making calcium light the exhibitor must either buy the gas in tanks or purchase a gas making outfit and make his own gas. To purchase the gas in tanks will cost more than to make the gas, when the oxygen is made from chlorate of potash. Buying gas in tanks or using a gas-making outfit, each has points of advantage, not possessed by the other.

CALCIUM GAS-MAKING OUTFITS.

Of the portable gas making outfits on the market, there are several different styles and prices, description of which will be found elsewhere in the catalogue. All these outfits except the "ozo-carbi" obtain their hydrogen by passing a little oxygen through 88 gasoline or ether. The oxygen passing through the liquid converts it into vapor. This vapor mixed with some oxygen takes place of the hydrogen or black tank.

THE SATURATOR.

Also See Index, "No. 3 Saturator."

The saturator is that part of a portable gas making outfit that produces the hydrogen, and takes place of the hydrogen or black tank. It is filled with cotton or some other porous material, saturated with 88 gasoline or ether. Ordinary gasoline cannot be used, as it is too heavy and will not evaporate rapidly enough. The lightest gasoline in commercial use is the 88, and when ordered for use with a saturator be sure to specify the "88." If ether is used, order the stronger or concentrated. This contains only about 4 per cent alcohol, while the ordinary commercial ether contains about 25 per cent of alcohol. It not only gives better results, but will last longer. The alcohol in a poor quality of ether does not evaporate readily and accumulates in the saturator. The commercial term "ether" always means sulphuric ether unless otherwise stated. Squibb's ether is found in every drug store and is the ether generally used for anasthetical purposes. It is a high priced concentrated ether, but no better for use in a saturator than any other concentrated or stronger ether.

For more information regarding construction and use of saturator, see index, "improved saturator."

GAS TANKS.

In many of the large cities are calcium light companies who furnish the gases in tanks or cylinders. These tanks are made in various sizes. The most popular for use on the road is the largest size, 50-ft. Scaff tank.

It is 12x48 inches, weighs 95 pounds and is tested to 600 pounds hydraulic pressure. The oxygen tank is painted red and the hydrogen tank black. To contain 50 cubic feet, they should be charged to 225 pounds. As a little more hydrogen is used than oxygen, the black tank is usually charged to 240 pounds. A pair of these cylinders (50 cubic feet) will last from 6 to 9 hours, depending on how much the light is "crowded," and size of bore in the tip. The calcium light companies who sell gas make no charge for use of the tanks, unless the tanks are kept over certain length of time, when a small weekly rental is made. In another part of the catalogue will be found list of firms who sell calcium light gas. When speaking of the price of gas, it is always understood to be a tank of each gas. In Chicago the cost of this gas is 12½ cents per cubic foot—that is, a 50-ft. tank of oxygen and a 50-ft. tank of hydrogen will cost $6.25.

CALCIUM JET.

Care should be used in selecting a jet, for on it largely depends success of the light. Among the points to be considered in purchasing a jet are: Adjustment of the lime (revolving, raising and lowering, and moving the lime nearer or farther from tip)—thorough mixing of the gas—a good tip with a smooth bore, and if low pressure dissolving key is used see that the jet has stop cocks or regulating valves.

For information covering these points see index, "inner-tube jet." When shipping, care should be taken that the tip is not injured. A noisy jet, when small amount of gas is used, is due to a dense, high spot in the hole, or to some foreign substance in the tip. To remove a hard instrument to clean the tip, lest you make it rougher. Use a pipe cleaner of wool or cotton. If a wire is used, rub it back and forth wire and then used with care. Never allow the tip to melt, for as there is danger of melting it off or making it so rough that it will be rough and noisy. If a jet has a large mixing chamber it will not work well with low pressure dissolving key. When "in order," the jet, (strong pressure of gas) the lime should be turned more frequently than when using small pressure of gas. A jet with small bore will "pit" the lime quicker than one with a large bore, and when using the small bore, the lime should be turned oftener. When using a tip with a large bore, a fair pressure of gas must be maintained, otherwise the light might "snap back" in the jet and burn where the two gases come together. If a jet with a small bore is used this is not so liable to occur. To obtain the best results, as you increase the pressure at the tip (by turning on more gas), you should also increase the distance between the tip and lime. For further information read description of "inner-tube" calcium jet.

TO OPERATE THE LIGHT.

See that the rubber tubes and pipes of the jet are free from obstruction. See that the piece of lime when placed in the holder and revolved is equal distance from the tip. The proper distance the lime should be from the tip will be governed by the size of bore in tip, amount of gas consumed, etc. However, to start with, set the lime from $\frac{1}{8}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ inch from tip. Turn on the hydrogen first and light at the tip. When the blaze is three or four inches above the lime, slowly turn on the oxygen, until the blaze is nearly all consumed. There should always be a slight excess of hydrogen which will be indicated by a tinge of yellow blaze around the light. Turn on more hydrogen and then more oxygen until the light will slightly hiss or roar, then turn off a little oxygen and a little hydrogen until the light burns quietly. If the jet is provided with a mechanical lime adjustment, move the lime a little nearer or farther from the tip, until you find the hottest part of the blaze. This you can tell by the amount of light on the screen. Never look directly at front part of the lime, lest it "dazzle" or "blind" the eyes. When the eyes are not in normal condition, you cannot see to obtain a good focus. A little experience will soon enable one to judge the quality of light by appearance of field on the curtain. It is well to occasionally glance at the lime from the rear to see if there is a slight fringe of yellow flame around the light.

Care should be taken to adjust the burner so the brightest spot on the lime will be strictly in center of condensing lens. Look at the curtain while you raise and lower the burner a little, move it forward and back, from one side to the other, until you find the place where the best illumination on the curtain is obtained. If the lime is proper distance from the tip, it will also make the light brighter (see "lime adjuster" under calcium jet).

Many operators are careless about adjusting the burner and regulating the gas to obtain a mixture that will produce the best light. Some operators will obtain, with same amount of gas, from 10 to 25 per cent more light on the curtain than others. This difference is due to careful adjustment of the burner, the lime and the gases.

We always have on hand a stock of second-hand goods, and point with pride to the fact that they are goods of other makes—have been received in exchange from experienced exhibitors who recognize and appreciate the superior quality of our own make.

Portable Gas Outfits.

Compare the Different Kinds.

There are a number of different styles of portable calcium gas making outfits on the market and they all have the same object in view—namely that of saving the exhibitor money.

Gas Bags.

This was the first and original portable outfit. The oxygen and hydrogen were both made and stored in the gas bags before the entertainment began. The bags being made of rubber are not durable and this style of outfit at present is not in general use.

Cost per hour for this light is about 35 cents.

Tank and Saturator.

This style of outfit has become very popular during the last few years. The oxygen is made and stored in the tank before the entertainment begins. The hydrogen is automatically made as used from gasoline or ether, by what is termed a "saturator." Beware of a small saturator.

The saturator that will cause the least trouble is the improved No. 3 described in this catalogue.

It is constructed on scientific principles and protected by patents. Compare it with any other saturator on the market and you will readily see its many points of advantage.

When the oxygen is stored in a tank, there is no waste of chemicals or gas—a free steady flow of gas is always obtained and by means of the gauge, you tell at all times just the amount of gas in the tank.

Cost per hour with this light is about 25 cents.

Oxygen Made by Heat as Used.

In this style of outfit no bags or tank are used; but both gases are made automatically as required. The oxygen is made by application of small alcohol lamps to a tube or series of cups filled with oxygen chemicals. This heats the chemicals sufficient to liberate the oxygen gas as required for use. The hydrogen is made by using a saturator. The outfit is light, weighing about 35 pounds and the expense of running is small. Owing to the trouble of making during the entertainment, both the oxygen and hydrogen gases, this style of an outfit has never been very popular.

Cost per hour of light with this outfit is about 30 cents.

Oxylithe and Water.

In this outfit like the preceeding one, neither tank nor gas bags are used, both gases being made while using the light. The oxygen is obtained by bringing in contact with water a chemical called Oxylithe. The hydrogen is made by using a saturator.

Although very good results can be obtained with this outfit, still it is not as convenient to operate as where the oxygen is made and stored in a tank. One of the serious objections is the expense of the chemicals (Oxylithe) for making the oxygen.

Cost of light with this outfit is about $1.00 per hour.

Ozo-Carbi Outfit.

THE KING OF PORTABLE LIGHTS.

This outfit requires two tanks. No saturator is used; but both gases are made and stored in the tanks. No gas is made while using the light. Everyone familiar with calcium light admits that two tanks of gas is the most reliable, convenient and best method of making calcium light. It is the method used by all the theaters, all the large companies on the road and all the best lecturers and exhibitors. The only way to obtain a constant, reliable, even flow of gas and a steady light is by using two tanks. Cost of light per hour with this outfit is about 20 cents.

Comparison of Gas Outfits.

By comparing the cost and quality of the different portable gas outfits, it will be readily seen that the "ozo-carbi" outfit is much superior to all other outfits. It costs less to run it; it gives a stronger and more steady light and is much more convenient to operate. As moving pictures require a very strong light, the "ozo-carbi" light will be found specially valuable to everyone using a moving picture machine. The one to appreciate this light most is the one who has tried some other gas making outfit.

Experience has taught every successful circus, show or theatrical manager to do everything that is possible before the entertainment or performance begins, "If you wish to be successful profit by the experience of those who have made a success."

Not only make your own gas but attend to every detail before time for the entertainment and you will succeed while others fail.

CALCIUM LIGHT GAS COMPANIES.

For the convenience of those who wish to purchase gas we submit the following list of calcium light companies, where oxygen and hydrogen can be purchased in cylinders and tanks. Gas is sold in several different size cylinders; but the one in general use is the large size, 12x48 inches. When charged to 225 pounds, this size cylinder holds 50 cubic feet of gas, sufficient to run about seven hours. All cylinders, large or small, are charged to the same pressure, 225 pounds. Two cylinders are required, one of hydrogen and one of oxygen. A pair of the large size cylinders (12x48) weighs about 200 pounds. The price of gas will vary somewhat with different companies, but is usually about 12½ cents per foot.

The Chicago Calcium Light Company charge $6.25 for two large cylinders of gas (one of oxygen and one of hydrogen), each holding 50 feet. No charge is made for use of the tanks, if returned within thirty days.

ARNOLD'S IMPROVED CALCIUM LIGHT OUTFIT.

THE ONLY PORTABLE CALCIUM LIGHT OUTFIT CONSTRUCTED ON PRACTICAL AND SCIENTIFIC PRINCIPLES

CALCIUM LIGHT.

HOW MADE.

Calcium or lime light is made by heating a piece of lime to white heat by burning the two gases, oxygen and hydrogen. These must be kept in separate cylinders or tanks and mixed in the burner when used.

Making your gas with this outfit the expense for each entertainment will be about 35 cents. To buy gas and pay express charges both ways the expense will be from $1.50 to $2.00 for each entertainment. The saving in express charges alone will pay cost of an outfit in a very short time. Besides it avoids serious losses often accruing from delay in filling orders, misconnections and delays in transit. This is a very important item and one that is liable to occur at any time.

You can always make your own gas anywhere. In half an hour you can make enough to last you for an evening performance of two hours or more.

Where electricity cannot be obtained, where they insist on charging exorbitant pay for same, or where current fails (which is very often the case) the change can be made and you are always ready and independent.

GAS BAGS. From a stand point of convenience and economy, various methods and devices have been tried to obtain a Portable Calcium Gas Making Outfit. Among the most popular of these has been the "Gas Bag" Outfit.

The gas seems to rot the bags, and they soon get to leaking and are rendered useless. You can place no dependence on a gas bag. It is likely to get punctured or spring a leak at any time, and this unfortunate circumstance frequently occurs just before or during an entertainment. As gas cannot be shipped in a bag, what is left after an entertainment is a total loss.

A TANK can always be depended upon. Enough gas can be made at one time for several entertainments. There is no waste of gas, and all this expense and annoyance is avoided.

Oxygen Gas Making Outfit.

A, is plumber's heater; C, retort for chemicals; D, wash bottle; E, connecting tube or hose; F, is stem of tank valve; N, pressure gauge; I, supporter for retort; R, hood for retort.

The most popular method of heating the retort is to put it in a stove or furnace and use wood or soft coal for fuel. The gas can also be made by building fire out on the ground. The above cut shows making gas by heating retort with a plumber's furnace.

Any other method may be used to heat the retort; but if the plumber's furnace is used, much better results will be obtained by covering the retort with a sheet iron hood (R) to confine the heat. Price of furnace with hood is $5.00 and is not included in the price of the outfit.

The tank is 12x36 inches, and tested with hydraulic pressure to 450 pounds. It is made from drawn steel, galvanized inside and out, and has no seams or rivet heads. The tank will hold sufficient gas for two and a half to three hours' constant use.

The oxygen gas is made from a mixture of four parts by weight of Chlorate of Potash in small crystals and one part of powdered Black Oxide of Manganese. These chemicals can be purchased in any retail drug store. The oxygen gas is very easily made. The mixed chemicals are placed in retort C, heat is applied and as the oxygen is liberated, it is stored in the tank. No pump is required—the gas being forced into the tank by direct expansion. There is no waste of gas, for all gas left in tank after an entertainment can be used the next time or more gas added at any time convenient.

The oxygen gas making outfit when packed ready for shipment consists of one box and one tank and can be checked as baggage; weight of complete outfit about 150 pounds.

Price, Oxygen Gas Making Outfit. $35.00

Plumber's Furnace and Hood. $5.00 extra

The above outfit does not include saturator and connections, which is necessary to complete an outfit for use with a lantern.

Oxygen Chemicals.

The chemicals generally used for making Oxygen are Black Oxide of Manganese, 1 part, and Chlorate of Potash, 4 parts. The Manganese is a black powder, and the Potash is in small white pieces or crystals.

These should be of good quality, well mixed, free from dirt, scraps of paper, pieces of wood, etc. Should any carbonaceous matter (substance that will burn) be mixed with the chemicals it might take fire and cause a deal of trouble.

Black Oxide of Manganese is frequently adulterated with charcoal, which cannot be detected by the eye. For ordinary use, this would do no harm; but should never be used for making oxygen. You cannot afford to take chances of using poor chemicals. Our chemicals are the best quality, mixed ready for use, and are sold at a low price. When sent by freight in lots less than 100 pounds 50 cents should be added for drayage. This charge also applies to ozo chemicals and carbide.

As we handle them for convenience of the trade, all orders for chemicals should be accompanied by the cash. Each charge will require about 2½ lbs. Oxygen chemicals should always be ordered with the outfit.

Price, per pound, mixed, ready for use. 20 cents
In lots of 100 pounds or more, 10 per cent. discount.

IMPROVED No. 3 SATURATOR.

The only safe, reliable, and scientific saturator made.

The above cut shows the latest improved saturator, with glass gauge, regulating valve and reserve supply tank. The glass gauge not only shows at all times when the proper amount of liquid is in the saturator, but it also serves as a "by-pass", mixer and agitator whereby the evaporation is greatly increased. The gravity supply tank with regulating valve, automatically replaces the liquid as fast as the evaporation takes place.

YOU CAN BANK ON IT.

Test the saturator before your entertainment begins, and if it works "O. K." the gravity supply tank and regulating valve will keep it "O. K." during the entire performance.

It is simple, safe and reliable; requires no attention; is automatic in action and will insure an even flow of gas and a bright, steady light.

THE ONLY SATURATOR CONSTRUCTED ON SCIENTIFIC AND PRACTICAL PRINCIPLES.

The usual cause of all trouble with a saturator is lack of sufficient gasoline or ether. Everyone using a saturator, has experienced more or less trouble by the snapping or popping noise, when the light is turned off. This usually occurs at the close of an entertainment, when the saturator is nearly empty. By not having sufficient Hydrogen, the gases form an explosive mixture.

If this explosion occurs at the tip a snapping report will be made: but no harm done. Should the explosion occur in the rubber tubes they will burst or be blown off at the jet. Should the explosion take place in the saturator it will burst the saturator.

A saturator should not be made of cast iron or any other strong material, for should it ever explode, serious results might follow.

If too much gasoline or ether is put in the tank at one time, there is danger of carrying the liquid over into the jet.

A very large saturator is not practical, as the elasticity of the gas (that is constantly being made) is such that an even flow to the jet cannot be obtained.

A saturator constructed on scientific principles should be made the right size to obtain free flow of hydrogen and have it under perfect control. When this result is obtained, then means should be provided to keep this free and even flow of gas constant.

The glass gauge, the gravity tank and regulating valve will do this. By this device the saturator will automatically be supplied with liquid to replace that which is evaporated and always gives an even flow of gas and a bright steady light.

A fire will soon cease to furnish heat if fresh fuel is not supplied. A steam boiler will explode if means are not provided for renewing the supply of water as it evaporates. A saturator will soon cease to do good work and frequently explode if means are not provided for renewing the supply of liquid as it evaporates.

No saturator can be used with satisfaction and safety more than one hour without putting in a fresh supply of gasoline or ether. So if your entertainment exceeds one hour in length you should use the improved No. 3 saturator.

The improved No. 3 saturator is practical and scientific, is simple and reliable and is the only perfect saturator made.

This saturator can be used with any portable outfit and connections for this purpose will be furnished on receipt of cap or nut to show size and thread of connection with Oxygen tank. If not convenient to send cap or nut, send a plaster paris cast made to fit half way around the connection. To insure a perfect cast first slightly oil the connection, mix the plaster paris with water to the consistency of thick paste and after placing it in proper position around the connection and while it is yet comparatively soft, cut the cast with a sharp knife, dividing it in the center. When the plaster paris cast is set, it can be easily removed without breaking. It is also advisable to always give name of the manufacturer of your calcium light outfit.

Printed directions for using are sent with each saturator which will be found very simple and easy to operate.

OXYGEN TANK AND SATURATOR.

Consists of the oxygen tank with an improved No. 3 saturator ready to attach to the lantern. There is a regulating valve between the tank and saturator. One of the rubber tubes leads from this valve to the burner and the other from the saturator to the burner. To one side of the tank valve is attached the gauge and to the other side the saturator. By means of the gauge at all times during the entertainment you can see just how much gas there is in the tank. The box shown in cut holds the retort and connections for making the oxygen gas, the saturator and a can for oxygen chemicals.

The Arnold's calcium light outfit consists of the oxygen gas making outfit, saturator and connections and can for oxygen chemicals. The outfit when packed ready for shipment comprises one tank and one box.

COMBINED CHECK AND SAFETY VALVE.

FOR THE SATURATOR.

This is a combination of a check valve and a safety valve, and will be found a most valuable improvement in the Calcium Light Outfit. One part of this combination is a ball valve that permits free flow of gas in one direction; but when there is a dangerous back pressure the ball automatically closes the opening leading to the saturator.

If the valve is closed absolutely tight, neither fire from the jet nor mixed gas from back pressure can enter the saturator. However, this might not always be the case and to prevent fire from coming back, (should there be no back pressure) one chamber of the valve is constructed on the principle of the Davy Safety Lamp (see Encyclopedia). In place of the wire gauze, formerly used, we fill this chamber with a fine wire that serves the purpose better and will not be injured by high pressure. The valve is small, made of brass, nickel plated and is attached to the saturator.

With this combined check and safety valve, neither fire from the jet nor back pressure from the mixed gases can possibly enter the saturator.

All our portable calcium light outfits are provided with these valves and are the only safe, reliable, and scientific portable outfits on the market.

GASKETS FOR TIGHT JOINT.

A very important item in the success of making and using gas, is to keep all the joints tight, so there will be no waste from leakage. Special attention should be paid to this when making an odorless gas like oxygen. As the leakage cannot be detected by the odor, half the gas might be wasted during the process of making.

A gasket for this purpose, should be one that will not be injured by heat or water; that is durable and will make a perfectly tight joint without screwing the coupling so tight to endanger it breaking.

After much experimenting we have succeeded in obtaining a composition for gaskets that meets all the requirements and can always be depended upon. So called ground joints are not reliable for road use. Should a grain of sand or a little dirt get in them, or should they get scratched or bruised in shipping, the joints will always leak and in vain effort to stop the leak the coupling is frequently screwed so tightly that it is broken.

Gasoline for Saturator.

The gasoline used in saturators for making calcium light, is much more volatile than the ordinary gasoline. To prevent evaporation in warm weather it is necessary to glue or seal the cork in the can every time it is used. This is not only inconvenient, but requires a new cork each time. The can shown in above cut has wood jacket or cover, bound with hoop iron and wire bands and has a ribbed top, thus making a strong, serviceable can. In place of the opening for a cork, there is a brass casting with a screw top, by which the can is securely closed. There is no danger of leakage and no loss by evaporation.

Everyone using gasoline on the road will appreciate this can. It holds one gallon or sufficient for ten days or two weeks use. Remember that ordinary gasoline does not burn well in a saturator, it should be the 88 test, one gallon of which is sent free with each outfit.

OXYLIGHT GAS MAKING OUTFIT

The above cut shows the outfit set up ready for use. Rubber tubes A and B convey the oxygen and hydrogen gas to the burner or jet. The hydrogen is made from 88 gasoline or ether by using a saturator. The oxygen is made by action of water on "oxylithe" same way as acetylene gas is made from carbide. Oxylithe is a preparation of per-oxide of sodium pressed or moulded in small cakes. It spoils when exposed to the air and is therefore put up in sealed tin boxes. Owing to its caustic properties, it should not be touched with the hands, but handled only with pair of tongs or rubber gloves. Oxylithe parts with its oxygen so readily that it is liable to set fire to anything that will burn, and should therefore not be brought in contact with wood, paper, cotton, wool or any combustible substance. Care should also be taken not to bring in contact with the hands or clothing any of the solution left in the generator after making the gas. Oxylithe is an imported preparation made in France.

Oxone is an American product similar to oxylithe. It is better, however, in that it gives off more oxygen, is less bulky, not so readily decomposed by air, does not spoil so quickly in generator, crumbles less in shipping, is less injurious to hands or clothing, and gives about 10 per cent more oxygen.

Oxone can be used in any generator where oxylithe is used, and in the same way. A box of oxylithe and a box of oxone each weigh about three pounds.

We carry both oxylithe and oxone in stock, and will furnish either as ordered, at the same price.

As it is impossible to accurately gauge the amount of oxygen chemicals for each entertainment, there will always be some loss from chemicals and gas left in the generator.

Expense of running the Oxylight Gas Outfit when sufficient gas is used to obtain good moving picture light is not less than one dollar per hour.

The oxylight outfit is light and compact, weighing only about thirty pounds. Although not as convenient to operate the light as when oxygen is stored in a tank, still it works very nicely and we can recommend it where an outfit of light weight is specially desired.

A deposit must be sent with all orders. When the full amount is sent with order, return money charges will be saved and a discount of 2 per cent. will be allowed. When telegraphing, deposit money with express company and have the agent wire us the order, stating amount of deposit.

THE OZO-CARBI LIGHT.

(Manufactured under Patents No. 393,737 and 724416.)

WHAT IS IT?

The "Ozo-Carbi" Light is the exhibitor's best friend—a light that will revolutionize the exhibition business—a new and wonderful discovery, and a rival of electricity.

It gives more light and costs less money than the best calcium (oxy-hydrogen or lime) light. No saturator or vaporizer, no gasoline or ether, no trouble or danger. It is always ready and can be used with any calcium jet or burner, but better results will be obtained with our "Inner Tube" jet. (See cut and description.) A jet with large mixing chamber is not desirable.

HOW IS IT MADE?

This wonderful light is made by burning carbide or acetylene gas with a compound (or modified form of oxygen) gas called "ozo." The gases are used in the same jet as oxygen and hydrogen are used in making the regular calcium or lime light.

Two tanks are used, one for the carbide and one for the "ozo" gas.

Ever since carbide or acetylene gas became a commercial article, many attempts have been made to utilize it for calcium light; but previous to this discovery, all efforts to accomplish this have proved fruitless.

The burning of oxygen and hydrogen gas through a blow pipe to heat a piece of lime to white heat (for making a light), has been in use for many years, and until the present discovery, no improvement on the original method has been made.

Calcium light is an incandescent light and the intensity of the light depends upon the degree of heat to which the lime can be heated. The hotter the lime, the brighter the light. Acetylene or carbide gas has a greater number of heat units and produces a brighter light than any other known single gas. Oxygen and acetylene cannot be burned together in a calcium jet; but the "ozo" gas and carbide gas burn in a calcium jet the same as hydrogen and oxygen.

The new mixed gases being so much richer and possessing so many more heat units than the oxy-hydrogen gas, less is consumed and a much brighter light is obtained.

THE "OZO" GAS CHEMICALS.

This gas is made by heating the mixed chemicals in a retort, and as the gas is made it passes through an "electro-galvanic modifier." The chemicals used will not explode, burn or decrease in value by handling and shipping. In appearance they are dark red coarse powder, and upon application of heat gradually liberate the several different gases. The "ozo" gas is colorless, has but little odor, is not combustible and is no more dangerous to use than compressed air.

The method of making the gas is similar to the one generally used in making oxygen, and in a short time sufficient gas (of both kinds) can be made for several hours' use.

BETTER THAN ELECTRIC LIGHT.

For general use on the road, the "ozo-carbi" light is far superior to electric light. The best electric light for stereopticon is obtained from direct current of 110 voltage, but unfortunately for the exhibitor, this current is seldom found. We do not claim this light to be stronger than an arc light that can be obtained from a direct current of this voltage; but we do claim the light to be superior to that obtained from low voltage alternating currents, such as are usually met with on the road.

An arc light from an alternating current is very noisy and unsteady and requires much time and attention to keep it burning. The "ozo carbi" light requires very little time or attention to keep a bright, even light.

If you depend on electricity you will frequently be obliged to hire an electrician and occasionally will be charged an exorbitant price for the current used. Figuratively speaking, with the "ozo carbi" light, you furnish your own electricity and are your own electrician. With this new light you will succeed where others fail.

A GOOD LIGHT MEANS SUCCESS.

A good light to the exhibitor means success and a poor light means failure. A moving picture requires much stronger light than a lantern slide. The latter is made of glass and remains stationary, while the former is made of celluloid and moves rapidly before the light. A picture should be sharp and distinct, and unless a bright, strong light is used, a moving picture will be dim.

The public are quick to appreciate a good picture and are as quick to condemn a poor picture. A bright, steady light means a good picture—a pleased audience—a full house and a fat purse.

The purchase of an "ozo carbi" light will be the most profitable investment you ever made.

MAKING THE "OZO" GAS.

The above outfit shows the tank connected with the retort when making the "ozo" gas.

THE TANK.

The tank is 12x36 inches and tested to 450 pounds hydraulic pressure. It is drawn from a solid piece of steel and has no seams or rivet heads, which is the usual place where a tank begins to leak. After the tank is made it is galvanized inside and out, thus preventing the tank from rusting. The tank will hold sufficient gas for three hours' use. All brass fittings, valves and connections are polished and nickel plated.

DOUBLE WASH BOTTLE.

The gas passes through a double wash bottle, D, D, so it is clean and pure when it enters the tank. With the double wash bottle there is no danger of carrying over with the gas any of the chemicals which frequently clog the small openings in the valve or cut the valve seat so it will leak. Another advantage of the double wash bottle is, that the gas being much cooler, there will be no steam carried into the tank. Steam or moisture will corrode the valves and cause water to accumulate in the tank.

The gas is very easily made. The mixed chemicals are placed in the retort "C," heat is applied, and as the "ozo" gas is liberated it is stored by its own pressure in the tank. The cut shows the retort heated by a plumber's furnace. The retort may be heated by placing it in a stove, by building a fire on the ground, or any other method of heating may be used. The furnace and hood "R" to cover retort, is not included in price of outfit.

MAKING THE CARBIDE GAS.

This cut shows the outfit as connected when making the carbide or acetylene gas. The carbide generator is also provided with a safety valve, that renders the manufacture of the gas perfectly safe.

No heat is required to make the carbide gas and by its own expansion it is stored in the tank. The generator is a combined generator and wash bottle. The process is very simple and in a few minutes sufficient gas for several entertainments can be made.

The carbide tank is made of drawn steel, same as "Ozo" tank, and holds sufficient gas for three hours' use.

Before an entertainment a connection with a support three feet high and acetylene jet can be attached to the tank so that the operator at the close of the entertainment can light the room temporarily if desired. This attachment will frequently prove very serviceable, enabling the operator to instantly control the lighting of the room, or any other place where illumination is wanted. The jet and standard will be furnished at the slight additional cost of $2.50.

"OZO-CARBI" LIGHT IN USE.

This cut shows the "ozo-carbi" gas outfit as it appears when connected with a stereopticon.

A is stem of tank valve that is operated by a cylinder wrench furnished with the outfit. B is a regulating valve that is operated by the hand and is to be removed when the tank is packed for shipping. Each tank is provided with a gauge as well as a regulating valve. The gauges indicate at all times the amount of gas in each tank, and the regulating valves give the operator perfect control of the gas and insures an even, steady flow to the burner.

IS IT DANGEROUS?

There is no more danger in using a tank of carbide gas and a tank of "ozo" gas, than there is in using a tank of hydrogen and oxygen.

Some people have an idea that the use of carbide gas is dangerous. On this question we refer you to the Scientific American, Acetylene Journal, or any other work of authority. They will all tell you there is no more danger in using carbide gas than there is in ordinary house or illuminating gas, and some even claim, for general use, there is less danger. The generator is so constructed and the amount of carbide is so small that, practically, there is no danger whatever in making the gas. As a safeguard against danger from an accident while making gas, a safety valve is provided. It is very seldom an excessive pressure is obtained or an accident occurs; but in case of an emergency the safety valve will relieve the excessive pressure and no harm will be done. The generator for making the carbide gas and the retort for making the "ozo" gas are both provided with a safety valve.

WHEN PACKED FOR SHIPPING.

The outfit when ready for shipping consists of two tanks and one shipping case. The shipping case contains the carbide generator, the "ozo" gas making outfit and two cans for chemicals and carbide.

The outfit can be checked as baggage. With each outfit is sent complete printed instructions, which will be found very simple.

It is always advisable to order some chemicals shipped with outfit. For every hour's use it will require about $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. carbide for the acetylene gas and 1 lb. chemicals for the "ozo" gas. The price of chemicals for making the "ozo" gas is so low that no discount is made for larger quantity. The carbide for making the acetylene gas can be purchased in almost any city or town.

GUARANTEE.

This light is something entirely new and we guarantee it to be just as represented—superior to anything on the market—more simple to operate, brighter and stronger—more safe to use than any gas making tank outfit ever made. We will forfeit $100 to anyone who can prove that this is not the safest portable calcium tank outfit on the market. We will also forfeit $100 to anyone who can explode one of these outfits when directions are followed. The most enthusiastic advocate of the "ozo-carbi" light will be the exhibitor who has had experience with calcium and electric light. It is such a relief after using an unreliable, dim, or "wheezy" light, that a trial of the "ozo-carbi" light will always gain for it a most enthusiastic friend and advocate.

To introduce this light to the exhibitor, we will take your outfit in exchange as part payment on a new one.

TESTIMONIALS.

En Route, N. Y. City, December 26, 1903.

W. B. MOORE, Esq., Manager,
108 Franklin street, Chicago.

Dear Sir:—We have used your Ozo Carbi Light the past year almost every night in 16 different states and we cannot endorse it too strongly, it is so much more reliable than electricity and at least 25% brighter than calcium using oxygen and hydrogen, and costs us 30 cents a night. Mr. Booth will not use anything else now, though you know before he got it he was prejudiced against it.

Yours truly,

F. H. WHITE, Operator.

run each evening between four and five thousand feet of film, giving an exclusive moving picture show. Have been using electricity and calcium light, buying the gas in tanks. The "Ozo-Carbi," however, makes a stronger light, gives much brighter pictures than the gases from two tanks and costs only about one-fourth as much.

W. B. MOORE,

Mgr. Stereopt. and Film Ex.

Dear Sir:—The Ozo Carbi Outfit arrived in good order and opened up to my entire satisfaction, and works perfectly. As this is the 2nd outfit that I have bought of this kind, I feel that I am in a position to speak of its merits. The 1st outfit is in constant use, and has been for the past year and two months; the results are simply perfection in the quality of light, ease of operation and economy in expense, having given my former partner and myself a reputation for the quality of our moving pictures throughout Nebraska that is the envy of every other moving picture outfit that comes through this part of Uncle Sam's domain.

I can't recommend Ozo Carbi too highly,

Very truly,

DR. L. B. BILON.

S. F. EX. Co.,

W. B. MOORE, Mgr.,

Dear Sir:—We are more than pleased with the Ozo Carbi light. It is much brighter than any except electric, and we have showed audiences that preferred the Ozo Carbi light on account of absence of flicker. It is very easy and quick to make. We have timed ourselves making it, and in 30 minutes have made enough to last three hours, or for two nights' run. This is our tenth season, and we certainly have had experience with all kinds. We prefer this to all others, electric included. Can't say too much for the Ozo Carbi light.

Yours truly,

SAFETY VALVE OR VENT.

FOR RETORT OR GENERATOR.

As a safeguard against danger of an accident while making gas it is deemed advisable to use a safety valve.

There are several kinds of so-called safety valves among which may be mentioned the diaphragm valve or vent, the "pop" valve and the alarm valve or whistle. They all possess points of merit; but each one is adopted for a certain class or special work.

After a series of careful experiments lasting several months, we find the diaphragm valve or vent is best adapted for use with a calcium gas making outfit.

The "pop" valve is held in position by a spring or lever which, at a certain pressure allows the valve to open. This valve works very nicely when new and free from rust and corrosion; but to insure safety, the valve should be carefully examined and tested every time gas is made. Great deal of trouble will also be experienced trying to keep this valve from leaking. "Ozo" being an odorless gas, unless great care is taken one-third of the gas might escape and you would not know it. The alarm valve is similar in construction; but is even more faulty than the "pop" valve, in as much as the whistle is easily clogged by dirt or some of the chemicals. An alarm valve or whistle is all right in a boiler to inform the attendant when the water is getting low; but to put a whistle on a calcium gas making outfit will be like blowing a whistle just before a train dashes through a broken bridge.

Very seldom an excessive pressure is obtained or an accident occurs while making gas, and you may never have occasion to use a safety valve. It is like an accident insurance policy, you may never need it; but should an accident ever occur, you want something that is reliable and can be depended upon.

The diaphragm vent valve requires neither time or attention to keep it in order and is simple, safe and reliable. As this valve does not depend on a spring or lever to keep it in position, there is no danger of it leaking. Extra diaphragms are sent with each outfit and it requires only a few minutes to replace a damaged one.

A safety valve should be placed on the retort or generator where the passage is large so it can not be closed either by a defective gasket or by the gas forcing some of the chemicals in the small opening.

LIMES.

The Limes used for calcium light are made from a specially selected grade of white, unslacked lime. The serious objection to the regular limes is the difficulty in keeping them, as they slack when exposed to the air. Many attempts have been made to obtain a substitute for the regular lime pencil, but up to the present time nothing practical has been found. A white, chalky lime will give a whiter, brighter light, but will not last long as the pressure of the flame soon bores or burns a hole in it. A white, smooth, close-grained hard lime will give the best satisfaction for general use.

We handle the celebrated Bird Lime, put up in a specially constructed screw-top can. This can has two covers which offers a double protection for excluding the air and greatly increases the life of the Limes.

The lime dust in the can helps to exclude the air and prevent slacking. Some exhibitors make a mistake by throwing the lime dust away, thinking its object is simply to prevent the limes from breaking when shipping. If a lime is put back in the can when too hot, there is danger of cracking the lime.

For moving pictures, a jet with a large bore should be used. This will consume more gas, and with it should be used a 1 in. or 1 1/4 in. Lime. The difference in amount of light obtained between a 1 in. and 1 1/4 in. lime is small, and for practical use would recommend the 1 in.

PRICE.	Limes, 7/8 in., 12 in can.....	$1.00 per can.
	Limes, 1 in., 12 in can.....	1.10 per can.
	Limes, 1 1/4 in., 12 in can.....	1.80 per can.
	Limes, 1 1/4 in., 6 in can.....	1.00 per can.

The 1 1/4 in. limes have one end turned down to fit the lime cup.

LIMES IN GLASS TUBES.

Limes are put up in glass tubes to exclude the air so they will keep better. When a can of Limes is opened, unless used within a reasonable length of time, it will absorb sufficient moisture to become soft. When put up in glass tubes, each Lime is wrapped in tin foil, placed in the glass tube and the tube is sealed air tight. This will be found a great convenience for those who use only a few Limes. The larger Limes, however, are not put up in this style.

Even when put up in glass tubes Limes will spoil in time, so it is better to buy only a few at a time.

Monkey Wrench.

A wrench of this style will be found useful for those using gas tanks or a portable gas making outfit. The entire bar of this wrench is a solid steel forging of one piece, thereby having the greatest tensile strength. Length 12 inches, jaws will open $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

PRICE, 75 CENTS EACH

Pressure Gauge

To anyone using gas a pressure gauge is a great convenience and almost a necessity. Without it the operator is at a loss to know the amount of gas in the tank or the amount used at each entertainment. The usual size cylinder used on the road, in which gas is sold and shipped, is 12x48 inches. The amount of gas in this size tank when fully charged is 50 feet and should show pressure of about 225 lbs. This gauge will not only show at all times the pounds pressure in the tank but also the number of cubic feet. BEWARE OF CHEAP GAUGES!

Quality the Best.

This gauge is made of the best quality of brass (no iron), fully nickel plated and polished—the face is the best French plate glass, with bevel edges—the interior mechanism is the finest skilled labor can make—the dial is made by a new process on a composition metal that will always remain bright and distinct.

Each gauge has a box or case with sliding cover which protects the gauge when shipping.

Price, complete with connection for tank.....$5.00

Gas Pliers and Lime Tongs.

The best kind of lime tongs is pair of gas pliers. They not only take the place of lime tongs, but can also be used for light hammer, screw driver, wrench, pinchers, etc. A good pair of gas pliers will be found the most convenient tool an operator can have. These pliers are made of drop forged steel and will last a life time.

Price, Gas Pliers and Lime Tongs$.65 each.

REGULATING VALVE.

The main part of this valve is made from one solid piece of brass and the needle pointed stem of the best steel. The valve is nickel plated and polished and provided with fine adjustment for regulating the flow of gas.

A regulating valve will not only save the consumption of gas; but will also give a more steady and brighter light.

By using a regulating valve the light can be "set" before the entertainment begins and thereby save the delay and annoyance of adjusting the light after the audience is assembled.

To "set the light" open tank valve freely and adjust the flow of gas by the regulating valve. To turn off the light, close the tank valve and leave the regulating valve set.

Hydrogen Pump Outfit.

A, is tank valve; B, is connection for high pressure hose to tank; C, is the high pressure hose connecting pump and tank; D, is back pressure valve; E, is connection for supply tube; F, is the supply tube, connecting gas jet and pump, and H, is pump handle.

Hydrogen under pressure in a tank is more convenient to use than a saturator and many would use it if they had a cheap way to obtain it. Several methods have been used by traveling exhibitors for making hydrogen, but none of them have proved practicable.

When hydrogen gas is used it is generally purchased in tanks from some calcium light company. The gas sold by these companies for hydrogen is not pure hydrogen, but is the ordinary artificial illuminating gas pumped in the tank. With the hydrogen pump outfit anyone can connect to a gas jet and in a few minutes pump in the tank sufficient gas for an entertainment. For those who buy gas one of these pumps will be found a most valuable investment. It will not only save price of the hydrogen, but will also save transportation charges on the tank both ways. Those who have their own tanks, will find it a profitable investment to purchase an oxygen gas making outfit and make their own oxygen.

The hydrogen gas can be taken from any gas jet. If the tip in the pillar is removed the gas will flow more freely and it will not require so long to fill the tank.

The tank shown in cut is made of drawn steel without seams or rivets (see description under Calcium Light Outfit).

Caution.—Keep the oxygen tank painted red and the hydrogen tank painted black, so no mistake will be made in filling the wrong tank. If a tank has ever had in it either hydrogen or acetylene gas, do not, under any circumstances, use it for oxygen or “ozo” gas (see Ozo-Carbi Light). The gas seems to penetrate the metal to such an extent that it is almost impossible to remove it. Acetylene or hydrogen gas, when mixed with oxygen or air, and confined in a tank, explode with violence when brought in contact with fire. The blaze from the calcium burner or lighted match would run back in the tank, causing the explosion.

HIGH PRESSURE HAND PUMP.

This is one of the best high pressure hand pumps on the market. It has double cylinder, forcing air or gas in the tank by both movements of the handle.

Hydrogen is the thinnest and lightest of all gases and special care is therefore necessary to prevent the gas from leaking. The pump is provided with two back-pressure ball valves, which should be kept clean. If dirt is allowed to accumulate in the valve seat it will prevent the ball valve from closing tightly.

PRICE—High Pressure Hand Pump with connections for tank and gas jet $10.00
Seamless Drawn Steel Tank 12x37 with cross valve 15.00

SCREEN OR CURTAIN.

Many exhibitors, we regret to say, do not realize the importance of having a good screen, and are therefore careless about this part of the entertainment. A screen well put up, clean and white and free from wrinkles, is not only a source of satisfaction to the exhibitor, but conveys a good impression to the audience and inspires confidence in the entertainment. If the screen, however, is spotted and dirty, full of folds and wrinkles, it will give a poor impression to everyone on entering the room.

HOW MADE.

Our “improved” screens or curtains are made on improved principles and are the best screens on the market. The strain, wear and tear of a screen is on the edge and corners, and these are the parts to “give out” first. To make these parts the strongest, all of our screens are bound with a strong wide linen tape or webbing and the corners are made double thickness. The loops are made of the same webbing, and body of the curtain is made of the best quality of bleached muslin.

LOOPS.

Loops sewed onto a curtain are much superior to the iron rings that are sometimes used. Rings make the screen heavy and more difficult to handle. If the screen gets damp or wet they rust or rot the cloth and must be removed before the curtain is washed. The loops accomplish all the rings do without these objectionable features.

The loops are about 24 inches apart and on all four sides of the screen. To each side of the corner loops is attached a ring with a piece of rope about six inches long. Loops on sides of the curtain vary in length, so that, when a heavy, strong cord is run through these loops and rings, every loop will pull on the curtain, making it smooth and tight. If the loops were all the same length this result could not be obtained.

POINTS OF SUPERIORITY.

Our screens or curtains have a number of points of advantage over others.

First. Bound all around with heavy linen tape or webbing so they will not tear.

Second. Double corners, where the greatest strain is on the curtain.

Third. Reversible, and loops on all four sides—either side can be used for the picture, and any of the four sides used for the top.

Fourth. So constructed that by means of a strong cord running through the rings and loops the curtain can be stretched four ways at once, making it tight and smooth.

Fifth. Being bound with heavy linen webbing, double cloth on each corner and seams double stitched, the curtain is more durable.

CURTAIN ATTACHMENTS.

These attachments include four rings and a foot of rope attached to each corner—a large strong cord running through the rings and loops, as shown in the cut—four curtain pulleys—half dozen screw hooks—50 feet curtain rope, and printed directions for putting up curtain under different circumstances, and how to take care of a curtain or screen.

REMARKS.

We would under all circumstances advise purchasing the "Improved" Screen. The material is heavier, the workmanship better, and it will outlast two of the ordinary screens. The difference in price will be a most profitable investment. Unless the "ordinary" screen is specified we will always send the "improved."

SCREEN FILLER.

A picture thrown on a screen consists of lights and shadows white and black and the varying shades between these extremes. To obtain the best results it is not only important to have a white curtain; but the curtain should not permit the light to pass through it.

This "filler" is not a whitewash, calomine or a paint; but a metallic mixture, that whitens the curtain and fills the pores, rendering the curtain more impervious to light. Treating your curtain with this preparation will increase the quality of your picture twenty-five per cent, making it sharper and brighter and more distinct.

It is easily and quickly applied. This preparation is put up in five-pound packages, with full instructions for using.

One package will keep your curtain in good shape for a year.

Screen or Curtain on Spring Roller.

These curtains are on spring roller like a window shade and are rolled up out of the way when not in use. These curtains are opaque and as they will not permit any light to pass through them, are much better than the ordinary screen. If once a year they are given a light coating of curtain filler, they will always be white and clean and give the best results. They cannot be folded and are therefore not convenient for a traveling exhibitor; but are specially adapted for lodges, schools or any place where the curtain can be a permanent fixture. We carry the six, eight and ten foot in stock, but the largest size must be made to order.

CUT A.

CUT B.

CURTAIN PULLEYS

A curtain is usually hung by a rope drawn tightly over a screw hook. Frequently it is not possible to make the screw hook firm, and then much trouble is experienced in drawing the curtain tight. If the rope is run over a pulley the curtain can be drawn tighter and with much less strain on the screw hook. As the expense of these pulleys is so small no one using a curtain can afford to be without them.

Cut A represents the style in most general use. Style B gives opportunity for attaching extra rope and adjusting curtain in various positions.

PRICE. Either style, each10c

How to Get a Good Light on the Curtain.

The light must be in the right position in order to have the curtain properly illuminated ("clear field," as it is generally termed). When the disk has a dark shadow on the edge, as shown in figure No. 1, the light should be moved to the left; figure 2, it should be moved to the right; figure 3, the light is too high; figure 4, the light is too low; figure 5, the light is too near the condensers. Should there be an orange red fringe around the edge, the light is too far from the condensers. When light is in right position the curtain will be white, as shown in figure 6. To obtain a correct field it is necessary to have the objective lens in the proper position. A convenient way, is to first put a slide in the carrier, move the projecting lens forward or back till an approximate focus is obtained; then remove the slide and adjust the light for a "clear field."

IMPROVED CURTAIN POLES.

Can be used either with or without guy ropes.

Use of curtain poles or frame is a great convenience and sometimes almost a necessity.

They can all be adjusted to suit different size curtains and are generally sold in sections about three feet long.

With the usual form of curtain poles, to hold them in position, it is necessary to always use guy ropes; but with the Improved curtain poles this is necessary only in cases where the ceiling is more than 18 or 20 feet high.

HOW MADE.

In the cut is an enlarged view of a portion of the lower section. One end of this section has a brass tube that telescopes over the hard wood into which are a number of holes about $1\frac{1}{2}$ inch apart. By means of this brass tubing and pin "A" extension can be made to bring the pole against the ceiling.

Near the bottom of this section is brass casting, containing an extension screw operated by wheel B. Both these adjustments are used to make the pole rigid against the ceiling when guy ropes are not used. At the extreme lower end is a short strong point that sticks in the floor and prevents the pole from slipping. Top end of the pole has a pulley set in the wood for the rope, with which the screen is pulled up in position. It also has three screw eyes in which guy ropes can be attached when it is necessary to use them. Each section is about three feet long and the ends are provided with telescope seamless brass tube fittings, which makes a rigid strong joint.

HOW USED.

When the ceiling is not over 18 feet high, put a number of sections together until the approximate length is obtained and put curtain rope through pulley at top end. Stand the pole upright—adjust the telescope part of the lower section at pin A and make the pole tight against the ceiling by turning wheel B. (See right hand pole of cut). Where the ceiling is too high or where there is nothing against which to brace the top end of pole, it will be necessary to use guy ropes as shown in left hand pole of cut. One end of each rope is fastened to a screw eye in top end of pole and other end to screw eye in the floor. When the poles are in position fasten one end of rope from each pole to corner of curtain, pull it up in position and fasten the other end of rope around pin A. Pull the cord tightly that runs through the loops and rings so as to remove any folds or wrinkles that might be in the curtain.

PROTECT FLOOR AND CEILING.

When using the Improved curtain poles, braced between the floor and ceiling, if desired, a small block of wood can be used on each end of the pole. This will prevent any possibility of marring the floor or ceiling and will be found convenient where there is a specially fine finished ceiling and a marble or polished wood floor. The larger the block the less danger of slipping, and if covered with felt or rubber so much the better. We have rubber padded blocks for this purpose, 4 inches square, to which is provided convenient means of attaching to ends of the poles. By using these blocks the finest polished floor and the most delicately finished ceiling cannot be injured. For private residences, lodge rooms, etc., these poles will be found a great convenience. If poles are a little too short, put lower end on blocks or on chair.

ORDINARY CURTAIN POLES.

The ordinary or regular curtain poles on the market do not have the lower sections with telescopic adjustment and extension screw. The sections are all alike, except the lower one, which has a brad in one end to stick in the floor to prevent slipping and the top section has pulley for curtain rope. Guy ropes must be used to hold the poles in position.

EUREKA SINGLE DISSOLVER.

(Manufactured under Patent No. 724432.)

This cut shows the Eureka Single Dissolver attached to lantern ready for use. It may be attached in either horizontal or perpendicular position; but the latter will be found most convenient and desirable.

MAKE YOUR SINGLE LANTERN A DISSOLVING ONE.

Ever since the double lantern has been in use, efforts have been made to devise some means whereby dissolving effects could be obtained with a single lantern. To accomplish this might seem an easy task; however, until this invention was perfected, all such efforts proved a failure.

HOW USED.

With adjustable thumb screw A, dissolver is attached to front of objective lens. By moving lever B controlling the dissolving shutters, one picture will gradually disappear and another gradually replace it. The dissolving can be done slowly or quickly as desired and with either electric or calcium light.

The dissolving effect is not quite as perfect when using electric light. This is due to the electric light being stronger, and the rays not so much diffused as calcium light.

When dissolving slowly, the picture gradually fades away, while the other picture gradually grows brighter until the full illumination is obtained. C and C are dissolving tinters, by means of which a scene may be dissolved from daylight to sun set, and from sun set to night scene. Beautiful effects can be obtained by using these dissolving tinters.

HOW MADE.

The dissolver is made of aluminum, satin finished and beautifully engraved. It can be attached to any lens, is simple in construction, light and strong, and will prove an ornament to any lantern. No one using a single lantern can afford to be without this dissolver. It will double the value of your lantern and will be the most profitable investment you ever made. We guarantee this dissolver to be just as represented and upon receipt of $2.00 as proof of good faith will ship the dissolver C. O. D. $8.00, subject to examination in the express office.

Instructions for use will be sent with each dissolver.

No. 1 Dissolver is adjusted to fit any lens the diameter of rim of front end of objective not exceeding $3\frac{3}{4}$ inches. The No. 1 dissolver will fit $\frac{1}{4}$, 1-3, or $\frac{1}{2}$ size Darlot or Bausch & Lomb lens.

No. 2 Dissolver will fit objective lens, diameter of whose front ring exceeds $3\frac{3}{4}$ inches. This will include 2-3 and 4-4 size Darlot or Bausch & Lomb lens. Unless specified the No. 1 Dissolver will always be sent.

Perfection Acetylene Dissolver.

Acetylene gas can be used for dissolving with a double lantern by using an acetylene key. The key shown in cut is one of the best made and is an improvement over the small acetylene dissolving keys now on the market.

The Perfection Acetylene Outfit described in this catalogue, (see index) is much superior to any other acetylene outfit for dissolving. It gives an even, steady flow of gas and a constant pressure.

Directions for Using the Perfection Acetylene Dissolver.

Connect the tank or generator with the middle nipple and each burner with nipple on either side. Turn handle of dissolver half way around until it stands directly over middle nipple—light both burners—then turn handle of dissolver clear around and adjust set screw, in post of dissolver, so the light can not be entirely cut off. This is called the "off flow" for more information of which, see Instructions for using Low Pressure Dissolving Key.

PRICE, Perfection Acetylene Dissolver.....$4.75

Low Pressure Dissolving Key.

The most popular method of dissolving with oxy-hydrogen or calcium light is by means of the low pressure key. This is not because the low pressure key is better than the high pressure, but because it is cheaper and can be used with a saturator or gas bags.

BEST MATERIAL AND WORKMANSHIP

The important thing in a dissolving key is to keep the "plug" or valve from leaking. Many dissolving keys are made of ordinary soft brass and leak after having been in use a short time.

Our dissolving keys are made from a special composition metal, that will last for years with proper care, without wearing sufficiently to cause leaking.

TWO TANKS OR SATURATOR

Many low-pressure dissolving keys work nicely with two tanks, but do not work well when used with a saturator. By our improved method of cutting the grooves, our low pressure key works perfectly with either two tanks or a saturator in place of hydrogen tank. Many exhibitors have stated that they could never use their dissolving key with a saturator until we had re-cut the grooves in the valve plug of their dissolver. The cost of this re-cutting is about $2.50.

There is nothing more annoying than a dissolving key that will not work properly and you can save this annoyance (and expense) by purchasing one of our keys.

When using a saturator in place of a hydrogen tank, care should be taken to see that there is plenty of gasoline or ether in the saturator and that in cold weather the saturator is kept sufficiently warm so a free flow of hydrogen gas will be obtained.

GUARANTEE

We guarantee our low pressure dissolving key to work perfectly with two tanks or with saturator in place of the hydrogen tank. We also guarantee them (with proper care) to wear for years without leaking. Before leaving our factory every key is thoroughly tested both with tank and saturator.

CLAMP

SMALL BRASS NICKEL PLATED CLAMP
TO HOLD DISSOLVING KEY ON PLATE.

Dissolving Key Attachment.

This is a device for attaching a low pressure dissolving key to a calcium light tank.

A is connection for the tank, B is regulating valve, C is nipple for connecting the hose and D is plate for attaching the dissolver. A low pressure dissolving key is sometimes attached to the lantern, but is usually secured to the table or stand on which the lantern is placed. For general use, however, neither of these methods is practical.

There are very few lanterns to which the dissolving key can be attached. The lantern is usually so hot that it will destroy the rubber tubing and then turning the lever will usually shake the lantern. Every little jar of the lantern is greatly magnified on the curtain and gives a bad effect to the picture.

The usual method of using a low pressure dissolving key is to screw it to the top of the table. This will seriously damage and practically ruin the appearance of any stand or table. Attaching the dissolver to the tank overcomes all these objections and holds the dissolver firm and rigid. Everyone using a low pressure key can appreciate the convenience of this attachment.

Instructions for Using.

Connect attachment to tank by means of coupling A (see cut) and fasten dissolver to plate D. See that regulating valve B is closed and then open the tank valve. With a short piece of hose connect nipple C with nipple of dissolving key and with a longer piece of rubber tubing, connect the other tank with the dissolving key. Regulate flow of one gas by valve at tank and the other gas by valve B.

Be sure there is a good leather washer or gasket in coupling A, and that the joint is sufficiently tight to prevent leaking.

PRICE, Dissolving Key Attachment.....$3.50

Cut A

The Leader High Pressure Key.

A high pressure key is used only with two tanks and cannot be used with a saturator or gas bags. Two separate regulating valves are provided for each burner and there is no darkening of the curtain when changing from one picture to the other. The illumination on the curtain is the same whether the light is on the top or bottom or equally divided on both. The Leader dissolving key shown in this cut is a great improvement on any high pressure key on the market.

THREE BURNERS.

Three calcium light burners can be run from the dissolving key at the same time. For each burner there are two separate regulating valves, so the gas for each burner is under perfect control of the operator. It will often be found very convenient when a double dissolving lantern and a moving picture machine is used.

LIGHT STANDARD.

When three calcium burners are not needed, the hydrogen regulating valve of the third burner can be connected to the light standard (as shown in cut A) and used as a gas light. It can be turned on or off at any time by the operator and gives him a good light at the machine. This will not only be found a great convenience when setting up and testing the machine; but can also be used to light up the room at close of the entertainment. The light standard extends about 3 feet above the tank and is attached by set screws to the dissolving key. Nipple N is connected to H-3 by rubber tubing.

NO LOSS OF GAS.

The gas used for the third or extra burner does not pass through the dissolving plug, and with this burner every pound of gas in the tanks can be consumed. With all other high pressure keys there is sufficient gas left in the tank to burn about half an hour. When making your own gas this is of no great importance, but when buying gas in tanks it is a loss and is quite an item.

IMPROVED DISSOLVING PLUG.

The most particular part of a high pressure key is the dissolving plug. As the plug is subject to high gas pressure, a most accurate fit is necessary to prevent leaking. The dissolving plug of the Leader key is made of the best tool steel while the body of the key is a composition metal special made for the purpose. A spring is the only device known to take up wear. The dissolving plug of the Leader key is provided with a spring which not only takes up any little wear that may occur, but keeps an even tension on the plug and makes the dissolver work smoothly and easily. With this spring the dissolving plug never binds or moves with a jerky unsteady motion when the gas is turned from one burner to the other.

IMPROVEMENT IN DISSOLVING GROOVES.

The objection to the usual high pressure dissolving key is they do not give a perfect dissolving effect, the picture seems to "jump" into place. This is due to the way the dissolving grooves are cut. The improved method of cutting these grooves in the dissolving plug of the Leader high pressure key has overcome this objectional feature. When the gas is turned from one burner to the other, there is a soft blending or dissolving of one picture into the other, an effect very pleasing to the eye. If you want the best high pressure key on the market order a "Leader."

Dissolving Rheostat.

For Single or Double Lantern, Direct or Alternating Current.

This is something new and strictly speaking the only scientific method of dissolving by electricity. The dissolving effect is perfect, as good if not better than can be obtained by calcium light.

The rheostat is intended for use with a lantern where the "Special Incandescent Globe" is used, description of which will be found in another part of this catalogue (see index front part of catalogue).

The 50 or 100 candle power globe can be used and connection made with any incandescent socket. This light is not intended to compete with the arc light or with calcium light, and is not strong enough for moving pictures. An excellent stereopticon picture 7 or 8 feet in diameter can be obtained and with the most beautiful dissolving effects.

BETTER THAN ACETYLENE OR MANTLE LIGHT.

The light in the special incandescent globe is so concentrated that it will give a much better picture than can be obtained with either acetylene or mantle light. Only about one-fourth the light from a four tip acetylene burner or from a gas mantle can be collected and used in a stereopticon. Both these lights give off great deal of heat and frequently break the condensing lenses. The Special Incandescent Globe gives off comparatively little heat, and with it there is no danger of breaking a lens.

SINGLE LANTERN DISSOLVING.

This rheostat can be used with either single or double lantern. With a single lantern the picture can be made to gradually disappear and when the light has reached the darkest point the slide is quickly changed and the new picture gradually comes into view. This change can be slowly or quickly made as desired. The effect with single lantern is not equal to that of double lantern. It is however a great improvement on the usual single lantern, as the audience does not see the picture change, and there is the gradual disappearing and re-appearing of the picture. The rheostat for the single lantern is little larger than the one for the double lantern.

DOUBLE LANTERN DISSOLVING.

With the double lantern there is a time when both pictures are on the screen and the gradual blending or dissolving of one into the other gives a most pleasing effect. The dissolving is done by simply moving the sliding contact from one end of the rheostat to the other. One light gradually grows brighter as the other grows dimmer. The light is quickly attached and the operating very simple. Complete instructions sent with each outfit.

PRICE, Dissolving Rheostat No. 1 (110 volts or less) for double lantern.....	$10.00
Dissolving Rheostat No. 2 (110 volts or less) for single lantern.....	12.00

The above prices are for rheostats to be used on either alternating or direct currents of 110 volts or less. For currents of greater voltage, write for special price.

GEM ELECTRIC DISSOLVER.

Cut "A" shows the Gem dissolver attached to a stereopticon where one lantern sets directly above the other. Cut "B" shows the Gem "Special" dissolver attached to a stereopticon when the top lantern sets to one side of the lower one. This style of Gem dissolver is especially adapted for double lantern and moving picture machines. (See cut under moving picture machines.)

The Gem dissolver is attached to the objective lens so it can be used with any lantern. The dissolving shutters are made of aluminum and are therefore very light and will never tarnish. The V-shaped ends of perforated metal is a great improvement, giving a blending or dissolving effect superior to that obtained with any other electric dissolver. The shutter is divided in two parts and can be adjusted to suit the distance between the objective lenses of any lantern.

Price, Gem Electric Dissolver, $8.00 each.

CUT "A."

CUT "B."

LEADER ELECTRIC DISSOLVER.

Cut "A" shows the "Leader" dissolver in position for use, with portion of shutter cut away to show mechanical construction.

Cut "B" shows dissolver when not in use, also its position when both lights are on the curtain for registering the fields.

An electric dissolver is a mechanical device placed in front of the objective lenses, and as the end of one lens is gradually covered the end of the other is uncovered. In dissolving by electricity one light cannot be gradually shut off and the other turned on, as with calcium. But both lights are burning all the time and the dissolver merely covers one while the other is projecting a picture.

When dissolving the lanterns should be so adjusted that the "fields" from both lenses fall in exactly the same place. To accomplish this the top lantern is provided with regulating screws or other device by which the two fields may be registered accurately on the curtain.

For information as to setting up and operating double lantern with electricity, see index, under heading "Instructions for Double Lantern," also "Electricity as Applied to the Stereopticon."

The electric dissolver shown herewith is especially adapted for use with the "Leader" lantern described in this catalog. A support for holding dissolver is fastened to the lantern. This holds the dissolver firm and rigid and prevents any movement of the picture on the screen when moving the dissolver.

The shutter "D," as shown in the cut, is made of aluminum. By moving the lever "B" the end of one lens is gradually covered by the shutter, while end of other lens is uncovered. As the picture on the curtain fades away another gradually takes its place, producing a very pleasing effect.

"G" shows the perforated metal on the V-shaped ends of the shutter. These give a dissolving and blending effect superior to that obtained by any other style of electric dissolver.

When dissolver is in position, shown in cut "B," the shutter is held firmly by thumbscrew "C." While so fixed the dissolver may be moved down between the two lenses, leaving light from both lenses on curtain at the same time. This will be found very convenient, for to register or match the fields both lights must show on screen at the same time.

Price: Leader Electric Dissolver, $8.00 each.

CARRYING CASES.

This cut shows "Style A" of the No. 1 Carrying Case. It has two apartments, top one for the lantern, $8\frac{1}{4} \times 11 \times 17\frac{3}{4}$ inches, and lower one for slides, etc., $8\frac{1}{4} \times 6 \times 17\frac{3}{4}$ inches. Outside measure of entire case is 9 inches deep, 18 inches high and $18\frac{1}{2}$ inches long. The frame work of the No. 1 Case is stiff and rigid, with a leather finish, nickel plated trimmings, lock and key, and is lined with dark colored cotton flannel. It is not only a fine looking case, but the workmanship and material are of the best. Majority of cases for a lantern are made of canvas, which not only looks cheap, but not being stiff and rigid, affords only small protection to the lantern. Style B for double lantern has only one apartment.

Price No. 1 Carrying Case, Style A, for single lantern . . . $6.00 each
No. 1 Carrying Case, Style B, for double lantern . . . 6.50 each

CARRYING CASE NO. 2.

This is a canvas covered telescope carrying case, with leather trimmings, straps and handle. Size of case, "Style A," outside measure when closed, is $8 \times 12 \times 24$ inches. This case has leather corners, and for a light, cheap case will give good service.

Price No. 2 Carrying Case, Style A, for single lantern . . . $2.00 each
No. 2 Carrying Case, Style B, for double lantern . . . 3.50 each

ELECTRIC SWITCH AND FUSE.

This cut shows a fuse and switch combined ("fused switch") with the connecting wire attached. Wires "a" are the supply wires that lead from the switch board to the machine. Wires "b" are the wires that lead to the rheostat and electric lamp. "c" are the fuse links or wire that connects the supply wires with those leading to the machine. "D" is an enlarged view of fuse links with copper terminal. If more current is consumed than the fuse is intended to carry, the fuse will be melted in two and your light will go out. Ordinary fuse wire can be used in place of fuse links. When ordering fuse links or fuse wire, always state the amperes wanted. This "fused switch" is much more convenient to use than a separate switch and fuse block. It has a slate base and is one of the best made.

Electric Stage Connection.

For traveling exhibitor as well as where the lantern is permanently located, this will be found a most convenient way of making a quick connection. The part of the connector with the holes or sockets should be attached to the supply wire, and the part with the posts or plugs to the wire leading to the machine. When using this connector should the lamp be burning "up-side-down", the current at the lamp can be instantly changed by pulling out the plug and turning it half over. The connector will carry from 35 to 45 amperes and has split posts or plugs that always fit tightly and make a good contact.

PRICE, $1.00

FLEXIBLE ELECTRIC WIRE.

The current for lantern or moving picture machine should not be taken from an ordinary electric lamp socket. The wire and socket are not heavy enough to carry the amount of current required.

Every exhibitor using electricity on the road, should have from 50 to 100 feet of flexible electric wire to convey the current from the main cutout or switch board to the machine. Ordinary line wire of sufficient size can be used, but is not nearly so convenient. Of this flexible wire there are two kinds in general use, namely, lamp cord and flexible cable.

LAMP CORD.

Lamp cord consists of many strands of fine copper wire insulated with rubber or okonite and then covered with a green cotton braid. After this, the two conductors are twisted together and sold in this manner by the foot or yard. The price quoted on lamp cord always means for two conductors.

If you purchase fifty feet of lamp cord you get two pieces each fifty feet long, twisted together. The ordinary electric light drop cord used with an incandescent bulb is too small to convey the required amount of current for a regular stereopticon light. There is danger of over heating it, burning off the insulation and causing a fire by short circuit. To use a wire so small, violates the fire insurance law and might cause serious trouble. For single lantern do not use lamp cord smaller than No. 12—for double lantern use No. 8 or 10. There is a cheap lamp cord on the market in which the insulation is only half thickness. We handle only the best, with heavy rubber insulation.

The longer and the smaller the lead wire, the greater the resistance; that is, there is more resistance in a wire 100 feet long than there is in a wire 10 feet long, and a No. 12 wire will resist flow of current more than a No. 10 wire. If the lead wire gets warm, it shows it is too small for the amount of current carried, and a larger wire should be used.

If the wire gets hot, there is danger of melting or burning off the insulation and causing a fire.

FLEXIBLE LAMP CORD OR WIRE AND STAGE CABLE.

Remember the smaller the number the larger the wire, that is, No. 10 wire is larger than No. 12.

Price—No. 12 Lamp Cord..... 9c per foot
No. 10 Lamp Cord..... 12c per foot

This consists of two insulated conductors bound together with other non-conducting material. Each conductor consists of many fine, copper wires, same as is found in lamp cord. The heavy insulation that binds the conductors together, makes this cable very serviceable. Although not so flexible, light or convenient to handle as lamp cord, it will stand the rough use on the road much longer. Flexible cable is frequently called "stage cable" because it is generally used in theaters for stage settings and all temporary arc lights. Stage cable No. 12 has same size wire and will carry same amount of current as lamp cord No. 12.

This cable is the best quality and will pass fire inspection.

No. 10 Flexible Stage Cable 12c per foot

ELECTRIC WIRE TIPS.

B shows wire attached to a tip ready for use and C shows appearance of wire when tip is not used. To use the tip the insulation should be removed from the wire, so the setscrew B will come in contact with the bare wire. This tip will not only be found a great convenience, but will insure perfect contact so full strength of the current will be obtained.

FUSE BLOCK

All fuse blocks are made of some non-conducting material, usually porcelain, and are constructed on the principle, that when more current is used than the fuse is intended to carry, the fuse will melt in two and the light will go out. There are a number of different kinds of fuse blocks, but the two shown in the above cuts are the most popular styles in use.

The fuse block shown in cut No. 1 uses the ordinary fuse wire, while the one in cut No. 2 uses an enclosed fuse, called a fuse plug.

Cut No. 1 shows two wires extending from either end of fuse block. To attach the wire, it is necessary to remove the porcelain cover by unscrewing the small thumb nut on top.

When ordering fuse plugs for No. 2 fuse block specify "for Edison socket" so they will be sure to fit. The largest fuse plug made is for 30 amperes.

Fuse Block No. 2, each..... 35c

FUSE PLUGS

The largest regular fuse plug made is 30 ampere, but we can furnish a special 40 ampere "fusable" plug, for Edison socket. With this plug, should the fuse burn out, any one with a screw driver can put in another fuse. Any size fuse wire can be used of 40 amperes or less. When the regular fuse plug "burns out" the fuse can not be replaced, and the plug must be thrown away. As there are not many places the regular 30 ampere fuse plugs can be purchased, the traveling exhibitor should have a few of the "fusable" plugs. These plugs are intended for only 30 ampere fuse, but we make them so they will take 40 ampere fuse wire.

Electric Signal

It is necessary for the lecturer to have some method of communicating with the operator and of all devices used the Electric Signal has proven the most satisfactory. It consists of two dry batteries or cells, flexible covered wire, a push button and what is known as an electric "buzzer." The lecturer holds the push button in his hand, while box containing buzzer and batteries is placed at the machine with the operator. Sound of buzzer can be so regulated as to be heard only by the operator, and will therefore not interrupt the lecturer by attracting the attention of the audience.

Electric Signal No. 1 has 75 feet of flexible covered wire. The outfit is packed in a special made box, dovetailed corners, sliding cover and separate apartment for the batteries. This outfit is equal in service to any high priced outfit.

ELECTRIC SIGNAL NO. 2.

Electric Signal No. 2 has 100 feet flexible covered wire, wound on a spool with crank for re-winding. This outfit has fine carrying case, leather finish, nickel plated trimmings and is lined with dark colored cotton flannel. This "buzzer" and push button are of new design, very attractive in appearance and simple in construction.

This is the finest and best signal outfit on the market.

ELECTRIC SIGNAL NO. 1.

ELECTRIC FLASH LIGHT.

Pocket size, $1\frac{1}{2} \times 8\frac{1}{4}$ inches, $3\frac{1}{2}$ volt lamp. Gives 4,000 to 5,000 lights before battery needs renewal. Brilliantly illuminates to great distances the darkest spaces.

The most serviceable electric light invented. Can be flashed, or will burn continuously as desired. As the room is usually dark during an entertainment, this light will be found a great convenience to an exhibitor. In case the light should accidentally go out, or it be necessary to replace a carbon or lime, the advantage of a quick and ever ready light will be appreciated.

VEST POCKET FLASH LIGHT.

The "Every Ready" vest pocket electric light answers the same purpose as the "Eureka," in a more convenient form. Size $2\frac{3}{4} \times 3\frac{3}{4}$ inches, 1 inch thick, voltage and illuminating power same as the "Eureka."

ELECTRIC CARBONS.

All electric carbons are made of finely divided or powdered carbon with sufficient sticky substance to hold the powder together. The best carbons are imported and are made of the purest refined lamp black and tar. Most of the American carbons are made of petroleum coke, 80%, and pitch, 20%. The former is a by-product of oil stills and the latter is made from coal tar.

In the manufacture of carbon a pressure of five or six thousand pounds to the square inch is used. Some carbons are pressed in moulds, but most of them are squirted or forced out of a hole in a disc by hydraulic pressure. After being formed the carbons are baked several days in an oven until they are dry and hard.

When a carbon is burned, the heat is so great that it is practically volatilized before it is burned. Carbons are divided into two classes, cored and solid. A cored carbon has hole in center filled with some material more soft and volatile than the rest of the carbon—usually a mixture of carbon and some metallic salt. Object of the core is to increase length of the arc using a given voltage—to maintain a stable condition of the arc by affording plentiful supply of carbon vapor—to help keep the arc in one place and prevent it from wandering around.

The ordinary carbons used for street arc lamps are not satisfactory, and in fact should never be used for projecting purposes. The carbons generally considered the best are the imported "Electra." There are several grades of these carbons, but on the best grade is stamped or moulded in each carbon the word "Electra." Therefore, when purchasing these carbons see that this word is "stamped in" on every carbon.

All carbons should be pointed before using, and this can be conveniently done with a coarse file or wood rasp. Carbons are made and sold in various lengths, but the most economical length to buy is 12 inches. As a rule the carbon should be broken near the center, using the shorter piece for the lower carbon. To be sure of breaking a carbon at a certain point, make a deep crease with a file. For ALTERNATING current use two carbons same size and both cored. For DIRECT current use top carbon cored and lower carbon little smaller and SOLID.

Size of carbon should be governed by amount of current used. For rheostat giving 12 to 15 amperes on alternating current, use both $\frac{1}{2}$ -in.

cored—for 20 or more amperes use both $\frac{5}{8}$ -in. cored. On direct current 12 to 15 amperes use top $\frac{1}{2}$ -in. cored and lower $\frac{5}{8}$ -in. solid—for 20 or more amperes, top $\frac{5}{8}$ -in. cored and lower $\frac{1}{2}$ -in. solid.

INSULATING TAPE.

Every exhibitor using electricity should carry with him a good quality of insulating or, as it is often called, "splicing" tape. When "splicing" or connecting two electric wires, the insulation should be removed and the bare wire tightly twisted together, and then securely wrapped with electric tape.

The tape not only serves as an insulation, but holds the wires together and makes a stronger connection. The usual width of tape is $\frac{3}{4}$ of an inch and is wound in a flat roll.

ELECTRICITY.

AS APPLIED TO PROJECTION

Electric arc light is the best artificial light for the lantern and moving picture machine. This is not only due to its brilliancy, but the light radiating from a small point the condensing lens can gather most of it, so there is very little loss of light. An arc light cannot be made from a battery, but must be taken from a current where a dynamo is used.

Electric light is rapidly coming into general use and every operator should become familiar with its use for projection. Most of the electricity used now is low voltage current (110 or less) for incandescent lights. In a current of this voltage there is practically no danger from a shock, as the voltage is too low.

Electric currents are of two kinds, direct and alternating.

DIRECT CURRENT.

The direct or continuous current is better for projecting purposes than the alternating. This is because direct current gives a more steady light and burns more quietly. In fact, if the right carbons and rheostat are used, it should be perfectly steady and without any noise. When using an arc light for projection, the carbon should be tilted so as to throw the light FORWARD as much as possible, towards the condensing lenses.

POSITION OF CARBONS FOR DIRECT CURRENT.

The above cut shows position the carbons should be to obtain the best results when using direct current. Both carbons should stand at an angle of about 25 degrees, and point of the lower carbon should be about one-quarter of an inch farther forward than the point of the top carbon. If the carbon is not far enough forward, the LOWER part of field will be a shade darker, and if too far forward the TOP part of field will be a shade darker. Accurate adjustment can usually be made by tilting one of the carbons with a pair of pliers while the light is burning.

The top carbon (when both carbons feed alike) should be little larger than the lower carbon. Best results will be obtained by using a CORED carbon on top, and a SOLID carbon on the bottom, one-sixteenth or one-eighth of an inch smaller.

With direct current the positive wire should be connected to the top carbon, otherwise the light will burn, as it is termed, "up-side-down." When burning in this manner a great deal of the light is lost, for the crater is on the LOWER carbon and it should be on the top carbon.

TESTING LIGHT AND CURRENT.

The only way you can tell which is the positive wire is to test the light or test the current.

To TEST THE LIGHT, let it burn a few minutes, then open the switch and look at the carbons while they are still red. The carbon that is the redder and remains hot the longer is connected to the positive wire.

To TEST THE CURRENT, close the switch, take ends of both wires attached to the lamp, and hold them near each other in a glass of water. Care should be used not to let the two ends of the wires touch each other or touch any piece of metal that would connect them. As the ends of the wires are brought near each other, bubbles will form freely at the NEGATIVE, and few if any at the positive wire.

Many are careless about reading the instructions and have the impression it is the positive wire that bubbles. Do not make this mistake—remember "N. B."—negative bubbles.

Testing the current with water is always reliable. Sometimes it is difficult to tell which is positive wire by looking at the carbons, as they both seem to be equally red. If in doubt, make the "water test."

ALTERNATING CURRENT.

In alternating current the positive and negative poles alternate back and forth, that is, each wire is positive half the time and negative half the time. Owing to the reversal of the current, there is no decided crater, both carbons remaining pointed and burning equally. The top carbon, however, will consume a little faster, due to the ascending heat from the arc.

Both wires in alternating current being the same, you cannot connect the lamp up wrong or burn the light "up-side-down." With the same carbons and same amount of electricity, the alternating current will give only about half as much light as the direct. Therefore, when using alternating current, especially with moving pictures, provision should be made for using plenty of electricity in order to obtain a good picture. The Wonder Rheostat "Special" will be found very convenient for this purpose.

POSITION OF CARBONS FOR ALTERNATING CURRENT.

The above cut shows position carbons should be when used with alternating current. The carbons should both be cored, and as they burn equally, the rule is, both should be the same size. Theoretically this is correct, but from a practical standpoint, better results will be obtained for projecting purposes, by using the top carbon a sixteenth to an eighth of an inch larger than the bottom one.

When consuming 12 to 15 amperes of alternating current, use $\frac{1}{2}$ in. cored top and 7-16 cored bottom. For 20 or more amperes use $\frac{5}{8}$ in. cored top and $\frac{1}{2}$ in. cored bottom. When using alternating current special care should be taken in selecting only the best imported carbons.

THE HUMMING NOISE.

The serious objection to use of an alternating current is the HUMMING noise and the unsteady light. When an arc is fed by an alternating current, the arc is lighted and extinguished at every alternation. The humming noise is therefore caused by the contraction and expansion of the arc stream of current, that produce corresponding vibration in the surrounding air.

The longer the arc, that is, the farther apart the carbons are, the greater the humming. For this reason the carbons should be kept close together as possible without hissing. With some alternating currents there is much more humming than with others, depending upon the number of alternations per minute. The higher the frequency the less the noise.

UNSTEADY LIGHT.

The unsteady light or uneven light from an alternating current is due to the arc traveling around the carbons. When the arc is on front side of carbons, next to the condensing lens, the light is brightest, but when the arc is on side or rear of carbons the light is dimmer.

The less amount of current used the more the arc will travel; and also, if the carbons are too large for the amount of current consumed, it will give the same trouble. This trouble can be greatly reduced by using plenty of current—carbons proper size and larger carbon on top, as previously described.

HISSING, FLAMING AND SPUTTERING.

Hissing is usually caused by too short an arc, that is, points of the carbons are too close together. Flaming is usually caused by too long an arc, that is, points of the carbons are too far apart. If the current is too strong for size of carbons, it will also cause both hissing and flaming. Sputtering is due to coarse grained and impure carbons.

What has been said of hissing, flaming and sputtering applies equally to direct and alternating currents.

DISSOLVING BY ELECTRICITY.

In dissolving by electric light, you cannot gradually turn one light off and the other on, as can be done with calcium light. Both electric lights must be kept burning all the time, and it requires two electric lamps and two rheostats. The dissolver is a mechanical device placed in front of the projecting lenses. The shutter is worked by a lever, and as the end of one lens is covered, the end of the other lens is uncovered. By this means the curtain is never dark. As the picture in one lantern gradually disappears the picture in the other lantern gradually takes its place.

DIAGRAM FOR DISSOLVING STEREOPTICON.

TO CONNECT ELECTRIC LAMPS AND RHEOSTATS.

There are several methods of connecting a Double Dissolving Electric Lantern; but the above method is considered one of the most convenient. Each light being controlled by a separate switch, the two lanterns are operated independent of each other. The fuse block controls the current for both lanterns.

FUSE BLOCK.

The fuse block should be placed near the machine, and provided with a smaller fuse than the one controlling the current supplying the lights of the house. The fuse at the machine is used to protect the lights in the house, for in case of a short circuit or any other accident at the machine, the smaller fuse will "blow" first.

There are several kinds and styles of fuse blocks, and as they are made of porcelain, care should be used in packing them lest they be broken in shipping.

For general use with a single lantern a 25-ampere fuse will be large enough; but for a moving picture machine 30- or 35-ampere fuse should be used. For a double lantern use a fuse that will carry 40 or 50 amperes. With the "Wonder" Rheostat it is not necessary to carry a fuse block because each rheostat is provided with a fuse.

FUSE WIRE.

Fuse wire is a composition metal, of a low melting point, similar in appearance to lead. If more current passes through the wire than it is made to carry, the fuse will melt and the light will go out.

The size (diameter) of fuse wire does not necessarily indicate the number of amperes it will carry, for that depends upon its composition. A fuse wire that is hard will have a higher melting point and carry more current than one of same size that is soft and has a lower melting point.

Fuse wire is sold by the pound and wound on a spool, on which is stamped the number of amperes it will carry. Fuse plugs are made to carry not more than 30 amperes. All fuse plugs and fuse links are stamped with the number of amperes they will carry.

TO MAKE ELECTRIC CONNECTION.

Connect the lamp, rheostat, and switch as shown in diagram for single lanterns; put the proper carbons in the lamp, adjust them to suit the current (alternating or direct), attach the lead wire (supply wire) to the fuse block or switch at the machine,—see that points of the carbons are separated, that the switch is open, and then connect other end of the lead, or supply, wire to the "cut-out" box or main switch of the building.

Connections with the house wire should be so made, that current to the machine can be supplied when the house is in darkness. The flexible lead or supply wire should be drawn tightly and tied with a string at either end, so it cannot be pulled out of place or jerked loose from its connections.

TO START THE LIGHT.

When all the connections are properly made, close the switch and screw the carbons close enough together to start the light. Soon as you see a spark separate the carbons far enough to obtain a bright light. If the carbons are separated too much it will 'break the current' and the light will go out. If the carbons are too near together, the arc will be so small that full power of the light will not be obtained. The points of the carbons should be far enough apart to show a little blaze.

By the "arc" is meant the light, which is the distance between the points of the two carbons. As the carbons are consumed they must be screwed closer together, otherwise the distance between the carbons will be so great that the current cannot, figuratively speaking, jump from one carbon to the other, and the light will go out.

THE RHEOSTAT.

A rheostat, or resistance coil, is used to convert an incandescent current into an arc light. Many rheostats on the market are made for currents of 110 volts. Some are adjustable for any voltage below 110, while others have set connections and can be used only on current of 52 or 110 voltage. All our rheostats are adjustable, and can be used on current of 110 voltage or less.

The more resistance you cut out, the brighter will be the light and the hotter the rheostat. If the rheostat becomes red hot, it shows there is not enough resistance for the amount of current being consumed.

"Burning out" a rheostat means that the wire has been burned or melted in two, by getting too hot. The larger the wire, the greater is its carrying capacity, and two wires or two rheostats in multiples will give double the amount of current.

TWO RHEOSTATS IN MULTIPLES.

There are two ways of coupling up two rheostats, either in multiples or in series. The above cut shows two rheostats coupled in multiples.

When connected in this manner you multiply or increase the amount of current consumed, without increasing heat of the rheostat.

At the letters A. A. the bare wire is twisted together and wrapped with tape. At letter B the wires are not fastened together, but simply cross each other.

When connected in multiples, half the current goes through one rheostat and half through the other, thereby giving the lamp double the amount of current. If, when using a single rheostat, you cut out resistance to obtain more current and a brighter light, you do so at expense of the rheostat, and the more resistance you cut out, the hotter will become the rheostat.

Moving pictures require much stronger light than still pictures, and coupling two rheostats together in multiples will be found a great convenience.

The Wonder Rheostat "special" consists of four parts, and is so constructed that any or all of these parts can be used in multiples or in series. With it you can obtain anywhere from five to fifty amperes of current without cutting out any resistance.

For cut and description of this rheostat, see index, front part of catalogue.

TWO RHEOSTATS IN SERIES.

The above cut shows two rheostats coupled in series. When connected in this manner, all the current goes through both rheostats, thus increasing the resistance and permitting less current to pass. If the current is too strong for one rheostat, by connecting several together in series, the current can be reduced to the desired voltage.

The two rheostats are connected together with a short wire. It makes no difference which poles or sides of the rheostat are connected.

COMBINATION SWITCH BOARD.

This cut shows how two rheostats can be used separately on two arc lamps, or thrown in multiples on one lamp. Since moving pictures require about twice as much light as lantern slides, this switch board will be found a great convenience when using a double dissolving lantern and a moving picture machine. By means of the double-throw switch, rheostat No. 1 can be used either on the top lantern alone or in multiples with the other rheostat on the lower lantern for the moving picture machine. Care should be taken when making this switchboard to get connections right, otherwise a short circuit will be made when the two rheostats are thrown in multiples.

The main or lead wires are connected to a double fuse block, with two fuse plugs for each lamp. The letter A shows where two wires are "taped together," and at letter B where the wires simply cross each other. With the proper material and by carefully following the diagram the switchboard can be easily made. However, we furnish it complete with a tag on end of each wire telling where it is to be connected.

Even for single lantern and moving picture machine, this combination switchboard will be found very convenient. When a moving picture is run, by simply closing a switch, two rheostats can be thrown in multiples, thereby making the light stronger and brighter just at the time you need all the light you can get.

Price, Combination Switch Board, complete with wire. .$.650

VOLTS CONSUMED.

The number of volts consumed in making an arc will vary, but for a good light is usually about 50 volts. The use of a rheostat is to take care of the balance of the voltage, which in a rheostat for 110 volts would be the difference between 50 and 110, or 60 volts.

If you want to use current of 220 volts, the lamp (or arc) will take about 50 volts, leaving 170 volts which must be taken care of by the rheostat. Since there is 60 volts resistance in one rheostat (for 110 volt current), it will require three rheostats, connected in series for current of 220 volts. Current of this voltage is frequently met with on the road, and many exhibitors have the idea that two rheostats of 110 volts each, will give sufficient resistance for a 220 volt current. If two automatic arc lamps were used in series, only two rheostats would be necessary.

WATER RHEOSTAT.

Water can be used as a substitute for a regular rheostat, and in case of an emergency will be found a great convenience. It will also be found convenient for reducing a current of large voltage. A regular rheostat that would reduce a 500-volt street car current would be an expensive investment as well as cumbersome and heavy.

HOW MADE AND USED.

Take a tub that does not leak and fill it nearly full of water, being careful not to spill any on the ground or floor around the tub. If the operator stands on wet ground there is a possibility of getting a shock, especially if a strong current is used. Dissolve in pail of hot water one-half pound each of washing soda and salt, and add this solution to the water in the tub.

From the two ends of the wire that attach to the rheostat, cut off the insulation two or three inches back, and securely fasten each end of the wire to a different piece of metal. A car link, coupling pin, piece of lead pipe, or any other piece of metal will serve the purpose so long as a good contact can be obtained between the metal and bare copper wire.

Place both of these pieces of metal attached to the wires in the water—close the switch—bring the two pieces of metal close enough together to start the light when the carbons are brought together. As the distance between these two pieces of metal in the water increases or decreases, so will the amount of current and strength of the light be increased or decreased. The distance the pieces of metal should be separated will vary according to the voltage of current and amount of light desired.

When using direct current the metal in the water will be gradually dissolved, and if the copper wire attached to the metal is allowed to remain in the water, it will soon be eaten off. Therefore when using direct current, provision should be made to keep the connection between the copper wire and piece of metal out of the water.

This can be done conveniently by using two pieces of lead pipe bent at right angles at one end, and the other end bent to hook over the edge of the tub. Keep the ends of the right angles towards each other and slide the lead pipe around edge of the tub to bring them nearer each other. The resistance is the water between the two points, and the closer they are to each other, there will be less resistance, more current, and a brighter light.

With alternating current there is practically no action on the metal and the copper wire can be immersed in the water.

The serious objection to a water rheostat is that the water becomes steaming, boiling hot. A pail of water could be used equally as well as a tub, only it would become boiling hot in a few minutes.

Even when using a tub of water it is advisable to have a pail of cold water near to add in case the water begins to boil. No harm can come from the water boiling, more than that the steam might be mistaken for smoke and someone raise the alarm of fire. If the room should be filled with steam, the picture will be dim, as it will be difficult for the light to penetrate it.

After making a water rheostat a few times it will be found very simple. However, to begin with, it might be well to experiment with a current not exceeding 125 volts. Great care should be taken in using a 500-volt current, and an electrician should always be consulted. The ordinary street car current is 500 to 560 volts.

THREE WIRE SYSTEM.

The exhibitor will frequently find a current with three wires. A three wire system has for its object the saving of wire distribution. The extra conductor (the middle wire), is called the neutral wire, as it is positive to one wire and negative to the other.

If the system is exactly balanced it carries no current; but when the amounts of current on the two outside wires are not the same, the middle or neutral wire supplies the difference. As the neutral wire carries only half the current it is frequently (especially in feeders) much smaller.

A three wire system requires two dynamos, or a single dynamo specially constructed for this system. Majority of the three wire systems are for 220 volts; that is, 220 volts on the two outside wires, and 110 volts on either one of the outside wires and the inside, or neutral, wire. Therefore, when connecting on a 220-volt three wire system, take your current from one of the outside wires and the middle of neutral wire.

GENERAL INFORMATION ON ELECTRICITY.

No electric outfit is complete without 75 to 100 feet of flexible wire to convey the current from the main supply wire to the machine. No. 12 wire is usually large enough for single lantern, but No. 8 or 10 should be used for double lantern.

For a moving picture machine, when over 30 amperes of current are used, the No. 10 wire should be used. If the wire is too small it not only checks the supply of current, but there is danger of over heating the wire and burning off the insulation.

Should you wish to adjust or change the wires or carbons in the electric lamp, first throw the current off the lamp by opening the switch. A shock from a current of 110 volts is not sufficient to cause any alarm and it is customary to place the thumb and finger on switch or some connection of the two wires, to see if the current is on. The shock from alternating current is greater than from direct current of the same voltage.

If the thumb and finger are wet when applied to the wires, you will get the current stronger.

Place your fuse block and switch on the end of the operating table or in some convenient place near the machine. There are holes in the porcelain base for screws to hold it firmly in place. Never allow the ends of the two "live" wires to touch each other, or to touch the same piece of metal. If any conductor of electricity should touch both sides of the metal part of the switch at the same time, there will be a flash of light from the arc made at the switch. So if the switch should be placed on top of the operating table, see that there are no carbons, tools, or metal near it.

It is well to look the line over and locate the fuses supplying the house wire so that should one "blow out" during the entertainment, you can quickly replace it. Should your light go out, first examine the fuse at the machine, and if this is all right then examine the fuse supplying the circuit you are using.

Unless you know the fuse at the supply wires of the building is large, do not throw on your light when all the lights in the room are on. Wait until all or part of the lights are off. The line is often fused out on the pole, before the wire enters the house. This fuse, however, should be larger than the one in the house.

Never look directly at an arc light unless wearing dark colored glasses. There is not only danger of injuring the eyes; but the light will (for the time being) "blind you" so you will not be able to tell when the picture is in sharp focus.

If insulation burns off wire in lamp house, use asbestos covered wire. If rheostat "burns out" twist ends of wire together to bridge over the break. You can get no shock from the rheostat or one wire unless standing on wet ground or on some good conductor that is connected to the wet ground. It is well to remember this when working in a tent if not standing on dry wood.

Do not try to pull thirty amperes of current through a 10 ampere meter. Better to connect behind the meter than to take the chances of burning the meter out.

If you have rheostat for 110 volts and the current is 220 volts, connect your rheostat in series with a "water rheostat." Keep in all resistance in your rheostat and do what "cutting out" is necessary with the water rheostat. By doing this the water will not get hot so quickly. When making a water rheostat, the more salt you put in the water the brighter the light will be. The salt makes the water a better conductor of electricity.

When using alternating current special care should be taken to see that all connections are tight and that the best imported carbons are used. A loose connection or a poor carbon will increase the noise and cause the light to be more unsteady.

To obtain a picture of equal quality, it will require about twice as much electricity when alternating current is used as it would if direct current is used. In other words, 25 amperes of direct current will give a picture equally as bright as 40 or 50 amperes of alternating current.

VOLTS, AMPERES AND OHMS

The most popular terms applied to electric currents are volts, amperes and ohms. They are practical units of measures of electricity and relate to both alternating and direct currents.

A volt is the practical unit of electro-motive force. It is the power or force that causes the current to move or flow. It means the same as "pounds" when we speak of gas, air, steam, etc., having certain number pounds pressure. A current of 220 volts has twice as much pressure or power as has a current of 110 volts.

Ampere is the practical unit of electric current strength or intensity. It is the unit measure of the flow of a current. When we speak of a rheostat "110 volts and 25 amperes," we mean at a pressure of 110 volts the rheostat will permit a current of 25 amperes intensity to flow through it. The larger the wire or the less the resistance, the greater the flow or amperes of current.

The ohm is the practical unit of resistance. Everything has more or less electrical resistance. Some things have comparatively little resistance and are called conductors, such as copper, iron, etc. Other things have comparatively no resistance and are called insulators, such as mica, asbestos, etc. The ohm is the unit by which this resistance is measured. As for example, if a tank was filled with water and a hole made in the bottom containing a tube six inches long, the weight or pressure of the water would correspond to the volts, the resistance of the tube to the flow of the water to the ohms and flow of the water to the amperes.

The size and length of the wire in a rheostat corresponds to size and length of the tube in the tank of water. As you increase the size or decrease length of either you increase the flow. When you cut out resistance in the rheostat you simply shorten the wire and thereby increase the flow or amperes.

When two rheostats are connected in multiples, it increases or multiplies the flow of electricity same as adding another tube to the tank would increase the flow of water.

Reading Lamp.

A reading lamp for a stereopticon or moving picture entertainment is almost a necessity, especially if any manuscript is to be read. As the room should be kept dark, it is necessary to have a lamp that will concentrate the rays upon the manuscript without diffusing them through the room. A reading lamp using a candle is much preferable to one using oil. There is no danger of leaking when packed with other goods, and it is much cleaner to handle. The light is supplied by a special candle, held in position by a spring, that keeps the flame burning in the same place. The ordinary candle is not generally used in this reading lamp, but a large size, called "Coach" candle. We have special candle made to order that is little harder than the regular coach candle and gives better satisfaction for this purpose. A reading lamp should be set level so the melted candle will not run down side of the holder. When a new candle is put in, see that the holder is clean inside around the spring, and let the new wick burn a few minutes to get in good working order. Each candle will burn about 2½ hours.

Geometrical Chromatope.

On two glasses are transparent geometrical designs in brilliant colors which revolve in opposite directions. By turning the crank at different speeds, forward and backwards, the lines weave into each other, making a large variety of artistic designs. These designs blend, dissolve into each other, disappear and appear again in a manner most pleasing.

We carry only the best quality of imported chromatropes.

PRICE, EACH $3.00.

Good Night Chromatope.

This consists of three glasses. On one is the words "Good Night" which remains stationary, on the other two are brilliantly colored designs which revolving in opposite directions, produce a most pleasing effect. Is the best imported make and will fit any lantern.

PRICE, EACH $3.50.

Tinters.

Tinters are usually made of colored gelatine or glass, and a few bright colors will be found a valuable addition to an outfit.

For throwing colored lights on a tableau, the tinters should be used in a slide carrier or color wheel; but when used to tint a picture, they should be held in front of the projecting lens. They will be found useful for throwing tinted background on statuary and for giving to scenery a sunset or moonlight effect. With a little practice, a pleasing effect can be obtained by blending or dissolving one color into another.

We have two kinds of tinters; both are the same size as an ordinary stereopticon slide. One is made of colored gelatine between two cover glasses, and the other is colored glass. Gelatine is more easily affected by heat, and is therefore not so durable.

Price, Gelatine slide.....	15 cents.
Colored glass.....	25 cents.

STOCK SLIDE BOX.

The above cut shows a box for keeping stock slides. One end is provided with a slot or pocket for name card and also a thumb strap at the bottom for pulling box out from the shelf. The cover is divided in two parts so it is not necessary to remove the box from the shelf to open it. Size of box, outside measure, is 12½ in. long, 4 in. wide and 4½ in. high, and holds 100 slides. This box is intended for stock slides and not for road use.

Price, Stock Slide Box, each.....	35 cents

Leader Slide Box.

For convenience and practical use, for strength and finish, this slide box excels anything on the market. The box is made of wood covered with leather, has metal corners, leather drop handle, metal clasps, lock and key, four compartments separated by card board partitions, a separable top and holds 120 slides. If desired, to carry more than 120 slides, the cardboard partitions can be quickly removed and 60 more slides added to the box.

One of the important features of this box is the removable top or cover which is a great convenience to the operator. As a rule the room on a table by the machine is limited and a box with a hinge cover when open, requires twice as much room as though the cover could be removed. The metal corners not only strengthen and protect the box from injury, but also greatly improves its appearance.

As special protection to the slides, this box is padded top and bottom. Each side is firmly held in position by cushion so it cannot shake or rattle, and will not break.

Slides are usually carried in the hand and if there is any one thing about an outfit that should be first class it is the slide box.

PRICE, $5.00.

Standard Slide Box.

A slide box for unmounted slides will be found not only a great convenience for carrying slides, but almost indispensable to the operator as a means of keeping his slides in proper rotation. The slide box shown in above cut is covered with cloth, has nickel plated clasp, and card board partitions. It is light and strong, and a decided improvement on the wood box.

This box is made in two sizes holding 60 and 100 slides. The box holding 100 slides is provided with straps and handle for carrying.

Price, Standard Slide Box No. 1, for 60 slides $1.00 each.

Standard Slide Box No. 2, for 100 slides 1.75 "

Jumbo Slide Box.

As there is danger of breaking slides when checked as baggage, it is advisable to always carry them. To accommodate those who have a large number of slides, we have a box holding 240 slides.

This box or carrying case is 25 inches long, 9 inches high and 5 inches deep—has removable cover—card board partitions—metal corners—lock and key and a drop handle similar to the one shown in cut of Leader Slide Box.

Price, Jumbo Slide Box, for 240 slides..... $4.00 each Business Advertising Slides.

See List Page 579.

Every business man realizes the importance of advertising. The value of an advertisement depends on the attractive manner in which it is displayed and there is no method more attractive than an artistic and beautifully colored lantern slide. An advertisement of this character will not only arrest one's attention, but will be carefully read by every body who sees it. This can not be said of any other class of advertising and for this reason little trouble will be experienced in soliciting ads.

These are the most striking slides of this character ever shown and were gotten up by one of the leading advertising artists of this country.

Some are comic cartoons, some fancy lettering, some appropriate pictures relating to the subject and some are beautiful scenery.

Name of Advertiser.

On all these slides is left a blank space for name of the advertiser. The usual method of "filling in" the name of the exhibitor is to write or print it on the slide with a pen and India ink. India ink on glass, even when used by an expert, will flow or spread more or less and when magnified on the curtain gives a very bad appearance.

We have entirely overcome this objection, by devising or discovering a method of printing opaque letters on glass. With it any one can fill in the name, and then the entire slide will have the appearance of being specially made for the advertiser. Not only that, but special ads or announcements can be printed on a plain slide glass and thrown on the curtain. This outfit for printing on glass is put up complete in small box and by using it you can double the value of your advertising slides.

Price, Opaque Printing Outfit on Glass,.....$1.50

A Clear Profit.

It is easy to get ads when you have fine slides to show and what you get in this way is a clear profit. Quoting from one exhibitor he says: "Since receiving your advertising slides I have made enough from my ads to pay all my rail road fare and hotel bills. It is just like finding that much money every day."

Advertising customers will create local interest in your entertainment which means large audience and increase in the profits.

On receipt of 25 cents we will send print of the complete list of Advertising Slides. Of some lines there are a number of different styles and new ones are constantly being added.

Special slides made to order.

BILL DATING OUTFIT.

The name and date of an entertainment should be plainly printed or stamped on show bills and all advertising matter. A show bill dating or rubber stamping outfit for this purpose will be found convenient and economical.

Each outfit contains an improved type-holder, ink pad and type-setter, and the type is made of the best grade of rubber. Outfit No. 1 is 3-a font, and each letter is $\frac{3}{8}$ in. high. In addition to the single letters and figures, the outfit has the following words: Hall, Opera House, School House, Music, Court, Church, Cong., Presb., Bap., M. E., Rink, Evening, etc.; also abbreviations for every day of the week and month of the year.

Outfit No. 2 is 5-a font, and each letter is $\frac{5}{8}$ in. high. This outfit has no words or abbreviations as in outfit No. 1.

Price, Dating Outfit No. 1.....$3.30

We always have on hand a stock of second-hand goods, and point with pride to the fact that they are goods of other makes—have been received in exchange from experienced exhibitors who recognize and appreciate the superior quality of our own make.

Curtain Slide Carrier.

This is a novelty in a slide carrier and is for use with a single lantern. By pulling cord A or B the curtain is lowered, the slide is changed and the curtain is raised on a new picture. The change can be made slowly or quickly as desired.

This carrier will use either the American or English size slide. To center the smaller (English) slide, pull out lever C. The two set screws are to hold the carrier rigidly in the opening of lantern.

PRICE, Curtain Slide Carrier.....$4.75

Double Slide Carrier.

For general use this is the simplest and best carrier on the market. Being made of wood it is light, and when in position need not be removed during the entertainment. While one slide is showing another is put in the other compartment. The change is quick, accurate and self-centering. No springs or levers to get out of order. Can be used equally as well for dissolving as for single lanterns.

Price, Double Slide Carrier, each50 cents.

IMPROVED DISSOLVING SLIDE CARRIER.

For dissolving stereopticon this is without question the best slide carrier on the market. It is not only suitable for double lantern, but equally as good for single lantern. To obtain the best dissolving effects every slide should occupy exactly the same place in the slide carrier and all the mats should be of the same size. "A" is a spring that automatically centers each slide, holds it rigid and always in the same place. "B" is a metal mat or aluminum frame that makes the picture of all full size slides the same size. The paper mat on a slide is not reliable. In putting the mat in place it is frequently pulled a little to either one side or the other, and again mats cut by the same form or die will vary in the size. A large number are cut at the same time, so that the pile of paper will "squash" or stretch. A very little difference in the size or shape of the mat when magnified is sufficient to give bad appearance on the curtain. The metal mat not only prevents this, but also serves as a most valuable guide in matching the fields of a dissolving lantern. Another feature of this slide carrier is that it can be used for both American and English size of slides.

SLIDES OF DIFFERENT SIZE.

The American slide is $3\frac{1}{4} \times 4$ inches while the English is square $3\frac{1}{4} \times 3\frac{1}{4}$. The picture however on both slides is the same size and the metal mat will therefore fit the picture of either slide. To center an English slide all that is necessary is to place in the slot of slide carrier opposite the spring, a small piece of wood about $\frac{3}{8}$ of an inch wide. For double lantern, the slides are used only in one side of the carrier, therefore the other side can be used for the English size. This will be found very convenient where the operator has both the American and English size.

A BRIGHTER PICTURE.

When using a double lantern with calcium light, a dissolving key is used to turn the gas from one burner to the other. This leaves the lime luminous in the "off" lantern, which always shows light on the curtain and dims the picture. This objectionable light is often termed a "ghost" and is sometimes prevented by holding the hand over the objective lens or capping it with the lens cap. As previously stated, with a double lantern, slides are used in only one side of the double carrier. By keeping a "blind" (piece of cardboard or other opaque substance) in opposite side of carrier this "ghost" is instantly and completely destroyed, soon as the carrier is pulled over to change the slide. This "blind" will also be found convenient to keep the light off the curtain when lighting up the machine or until ready for the first picture. When using a double lantern, should an accident occur to one of the lanterns, the Improved Double Slide Carrier will be found a great convenience.

SPECIAL MADE CARRIER.

This carrier is not the ordinary double slide carrier made of cheap material and put together with iron nails. The Improved Carrier is made heavier and stronger, of the best cherry and special provision is made in the construction to accommodate the metal mat. All joints are glued and the small nails used are polished brass. The spring used in each side of the carrier is of polished brass and so simple in construction it will not get out of order. Each carrier is packed in separate box with directions for using.

Price, Improved Double Slide Carrier. Each.....$1.25

METAL SLIDE CARRIER.

This carrier is made of thin pressed steel. All parts are riveted together and it is strong and durable. Fire underwriters in some places require moving picture machines to use a metal carrier, and this meets all requirements.

Price, Metal Slide Carrier. Each$1.50

INGENTO SLIDE CARRIER

This carrier is specially designed for use with a single lantern. Its operation is simple and rapid. The slide is dropped in the slot at top of the carrier and pushed into place by means of a lever. Then the next slide is to be inserted, while the former slide is still projected on the screen, the same operation of the lever carries the second slide into place in front of the other slide. The lever is pulled back, which immediately withdraws the first slide, and the second slide is pushed into optical position by means of the springs. The complete operation of changing the slides is quickly done, and a dissolving effect is produced on the screen.

This carrier is made in two styles, style No. 1 being made entirely of brass and handsomely nickel plated, while style No. 2 is made of hardwood, mahogany finish, polished, with nickel trimmings. They measure $11\frac{1}{2} \times 4$ inches.

EXHIBITION OUTFITS.

So many combinations and different priced outfits can be made, even with the same style lantern, that we do not consider it practical to make a large list of complete outfits. In the list given here will be found a few of the most popular, but should none of these meet with your approval, they will serve as a guide in selecting other outfits. If any one will select from the catalogue the style of lantern and light they prefer, we will take this as a basis and quote a price on a complete exhibition outfit; with itemized list.

MOVING PICTURES.

We would recommend the addition of a moving picture machine to all lecture outfits. Although a full entertainment can be given with only a stereopticon and slides, still the addition of moving pictures will greatly increase the attendance and yield better returns.

When used as part of an entertainment there should be about 1,000 feet of moving picture films. It is better to have one long special film (seven or eight hundred feet), that you can feature on your advertising matter. In addition to this, one or two good comic subjects will give variety and add much to the interest. If not convenient to purchase this amount to start with, less can be used and more added from the profits of the first few entertainments.

ILLUSTRATED SONGS.

One of the most popular additions to an entertainment is illustrated songs. While the song is being sung, slides illustrating the principal scenes, as described by the words, are thrown on the curtain. If the entertainment is given for a church or society, local talent can usually be found who will donate their services. By interesting home talent you increase the popularity of your entertainment.

TALKING MACHINE.

When playing small places, a good talking machine to sing the illustrated songs will be found a great convenience.

Combining a talking machine with the pictures thrown on the curtain is somewhat of a novelty, and an excellent substitute for a singer and piano. In fact, a good talking machine with the late improved concert reproducer or speaker, and a first-class record, will give better satisfaction than a poor singer and an old piano out of tune, which you usually find in halls. Another advantage is saving salary and expenses of a singer.

A few special high-grade instrumental records would also be found convenient to fill in any delay that might occur. For use on the road we would recommend the flat disc, hard rubber record. Advantage of these records is that they are not easily broken and can be conveniently packed for shipping.

RENTED GAS TANKS.

In place of buying a calcium light outfit to start with, rented tanks can be used. In nearly all large cities there are firms who sell gas in tanks ready for use. It is necessary to have two tanks, one for hydrogen and one for oxygen. Approximate weight of the large tanks is 200 pounds, and they contain sufficient gas to burn six or eight hours. Cost of the gas is about $6.25, to which must be added transportation charges.

LANTERN OUTFIT A, Price $39.50.

Monarch lantern—special $\frac{1}{4}$ size objective lens—double slide carrier—acetylene burner—No. 2 carrying case—acetylene generator—5 lbs. of carbide (to make acetylene gas)—10x10 ft. screen—dating outfit, and 1,000 admission tickets.

LANTERN OUTFIT B, Price $98.75.

Monarch lantern with special $\frac{1}{2}$ size objective lens—double slide carrier—No. 2 inner tube calcium burner—8 ft. rubber tubing—No. 2 carrying case—Arnold's calcium light outfit—can of $\frac{7}{8}$ limes—25 lbs. of oxygen chemicals—improved screen 15x15 ft.—40 plain and 12 colored slides (list 25c and 50c each), your selection from any of our lecture sets, with lecture—two illustrated songs—1,000 advertising posters, and 500 admission tickets.

If double dissolving Monarch lantern with dissolving key is wanted add $30.00 to the above price.

LANTERN OUTFIT C, Price $60.00.

Same as Outfit B, except that in place of gas-making outfit and calcium light attachments, are electric light attachments are substituted. These include Monarch electric lamp—No. 2 Wonder rheostat—electric switch—1 doz. $\frac{1}{2}$ in. cored "electra" carbons, and 10 ft. of No. 12 lamp cord to connect rheostat, lamp and switch.

For double dissolving Monarch lantern with electric attachments, and electric dissolver in place of single lantern, add $36.00 to above price.

MOVING PICTURE OUTFIT D, Price $165.00.

Edison universal moving picture machine—electric lamp—standard rheostat—1 doz. $\frac{1}{2}$ in. cored "electra" carbons—double slide carrier—15x15 ft. improved screen or curtain—ten 50 ft. moving picture films, or their equivalent in longer films—40 plain and 10 colored slides, with lecture—two sets illustrated song slides, colored—"good-night" slide, colored—1,000 advertising posters, and 500 admission tickets.

The slides and films can be of your own selection:—slides at the regular list price of 25 cents each plain, and 50 cents each colored; and the films at the usual price of 12 cents per foot.

If, with Outfit D, calcium light is preferred in place of electric attachments the following will be sent:—No. 2 inner tube calcium jet—8 ft. rubber tubing, and can of $\frac{7}{8}$ in. limes.

MOVING PICTURE OUTFIT E, Price $207.00.

Same as Outfit D, except that in place of the regular Edison moving picture machine is substituted the moving picture part combined with the Leader lantern. This is known as "Edison and Leader," and its high-grade lenses, automatic film protector, and many other improvements, make it much superior to the regular Edison machine. The difference in price will be found a most profitable investment.

MOVING PICTURE OUTFIT F, Price $283.00.

Edison Moving Picture Machine combined with the Leader Lantern (see cut and description); Monarch Electric Lamp; No. 2 Wonder Rheostat; 1 doz. "electro" carbons; electric switch; 10 feet No. 12 lamp cord, to connect rheostat, lamp and switch; 75 feet No. 10 lead wire; double slide carrier; 15x15-foot improved screen or curtain; 1,000 feet moving picture film; bottle film cement; film mender; 10 feet blank film; 40 plain and 12 colored slides with lecture; two sets illustrated song slides, colored; "Welcome" and "Good Night" slides, colored; 1,000 advertising posters; 500 admission tickets; rubber type bill dating outfit, and No. 1 carrying case.

The slides and films can be of your own selection, slides to be at the regular list price of 25 cents plain and 50 cents colored; and moving picture films at the usual price of 12 cents per foot.

If with Outfit F, calcium light is preferred, in place of electric light attachments, the following will be sent: No. 2 inner tube calcium jet, 8 feet rubber tubing, and can $\frac{7}{8}$ -in. limes. With calcium light in place of electric, the outfit will cost \$6.00 less, or \$277.00.

This outfit, with its special high grade lenses, automatic film protector and other improvements will produce the best still and moving pictures that is possible to obtain. This is the style of outfit the most successful exhibitors are using.

Moving Picture Outfit G. Price.....$335.00

Same as outfit "F," with electric connections, except in place of "Leader" lantern is the "Duplex" dissolving lantern.

Moving Picture Outfit H. Price.....$205.00

Same as outfit "D," except in place of the Edison Universal moving picture machine is the Edison Exhibition machine with electric connections.

Black tents, made to exclude the light, are used by exhibitors who wish to project moving pictures and stereopticon views during the warm weather. If a tent is used during the day time, much better results will be obtained by having a lined tent, which is specially important when moving pictures are shown.

Tents, up to and including 30x50, can be made either gable ends, both ends alike, or round end in front and gable end in the back. Tents above this size must be round ends like an ordinary show tent. All these tents are made up and roped in regular showman's style and are first-class in material and workmanship.

As we do not carry these tents in stock, time must be allowed for making them, and full payment should accompany the order. Time usually required after receiving order before shipment can be made is 10 days to two weeks.

LANTERN SLIDES OR VIEWS.

The making of good lantern slides is a special branch of photography and the coloring of slides a special branch of art. A photographer or an artist, as the term is usually applied, cannot make good lantern slides, nor successfully color them.

Our slide department is the largest and most complete of any in this country. We have four dark rooms, with a capacity of eight hundred slides per day.

In our show room are over two thousand slides under electric display. We have our own power and electric light plant and buy all material used in making slides direct from the manufacturers in Europe and America. The size of our plant and the plan on which it is conducted enables us to make a high grade slide at a low price.

SONG SLIDES.

We are large manufacturers of song slides, and with few exceptions all song slides made by us are from life posings. We do not use painted background for scenery; but send our photographers to California, Florida, Canada or wherever it is necessary to obtain the actual scenes for the song. For instance, if a song called for scenes of the Swannee River, we send a photographer to the Swannee River to get them. Our song slides are therefore true to life and correctly represent the sentiment of the song.

There are many cheap song slides on the market. They are usually copied from other slides and are poorly colored. "A good slide will help a poor song and a poor slide will kill a good song."

COLORING SLIDES.

Beware of cheap colored slides—they are dear at any price. There is as much difference in artists who color slides as there is difference in artists who paint pictures. In both classes you will find "daubs."

Good coloring increases the value of a slide, poor coloring decreases the value. Better to have a good plain slide than a poorly colored one.

SPECIAL SLIDES TO ORDER.

We will make slides from negatives or pictures furnished us, providing they are not copyrighted. No slide will be made from anything copyrighted unless permission in writing is furnished us by the party holding the copyright.

The usual price of plain slide from a black and white picture is 50 cents each, and plain slide from negative is 40 cents each. Additional price will be charged for any special work that might be required, like lettering a slide or building up a weak part of the picture to "bring it out."

The usual price for coloring a slide is 40 cents. When sending a colored picture from which a slide is to be made, remember that red, green and yellow photograph black, and that black is not transparent. The slide must be transparent to show the color on the curtain.

A colored slide can be made from a picture having strong colors, but the negative and positive must be retouched and worked over so the dark places will be transparent enough to show the color. This adds to the expense, and it would be necessary to see the picture before cost of a colored slide could be given.

A good slide can not be made from a picture taken from a newspaper or from a book printed on cheap paper. However, such a picture often conveys an idea and is therefore valuable to the lecturer. A slide made from a picture printed on poor paper, when magnified on the curtain, shows the grain of the paper, and gives the picture a coarse, rough appearance.

When it is possible, select a picture that is smooth, full of detail and is printed on a close grained paper. A good slide, as a rule, can be made from a steel engraving, but the best slides, like the best pictures, are from life posings. When sending pictures from which slides are to be made, do not fold or crease them, but send them flat or rolled and protected so they cannot be crushed in transportation.

The rapid growth of this department is largely due to tourists, missionaries and lecturers. They recognize and appreciate our high-class work, for with them it is important that they have the best slide it is possible to obtain from their negatives and photographs. We do more special slide work than any three firms in this country.

SLIDES BETWEEN MOVING PICTURES.

A most valuable investment will be a few choice slides to use between moving pictures. They will be found restful to the eye and will please the audience; they will lengthen your entertainment and give variety to your program.

We have ten of these slides, and every one is a work of art. They are made by reduction from large negatives, and are full of detail, sharp, clear, and brilliant. All are from life posings except the Raging Storm, which is from a special drawing. The coloring is done by the best color artists, and no better slides were ever made at any price.

No. 1. SUNSET IN MID-OCEAN. This is a difficult picture to obtain, owing to the movement of the vessel and the fact that the photograph must be made against the sun. It is a sublime sight to see the sun, like a ball of fire, sink to rest 'neath the dancing waves, shedding its golden rays as far as the eye can reach.

No. 2. MOONLIGHT ON THE OCEAN. The full moon, the fleecy clouds, the great expanse of water and the path of the moon all combine to make this a beautiful slide.

No. 3. A RAGING STORM. This picture was made from a high-class drawing and shows dark clouds, flash of lightning and the dashing rain. The blowing of a fierce gale is indicated by a broken tree, the bending grass and trees, and the slanting rain.

No. 4. THE RAINBOW. This is a scene after a storm, when the clouds have broken away and a beautiful rainbow appears. A good picture to follow No. 3.

No. 5. SEASHORE AND WAVES. After a high wind the waves come rolling in to shore and in the distance are seen breaking over a large rock. A typical scene on the seashore when the waves are high.

No. 6. A SUNBURST THROUGH THE CLOUDS. This is one of those beautiful views where a bank of dark clouds has parted and the sun bursts through in long, golden streaks, extending out like the points of a star.

No. 7. A WESTERN PRIZE. This is a prize picture of the Golden West. It shows the fertile valley, group of farmhouses, foothills in the distance, and fifteen miles away the snow-capped mountains. From a photographic standpoint it is a masterpiece.

No. 8. NIAGARA FALLS IN WINTER.

No. 9. NIAGARA FALLS IN SUMMER.

These are companion pictures and need no description.

No. 10. A COTTAGE COVERED WITH ROSES. A Southern California scene in which "all nature smiles her sweetest smile."

Price, Colored only, each.....$1.00

An investment in these slides will be found more profitable than three times the amount in moving pictures.

The following views have been secured since the above list was published, and are of the same high grade quality, both in the scenes selected, and the perfection with which they are presented on the slides.

Mark Your Slides.

To prevent error of putting a slide in up-side down or wrong-side-te, a star or mark of some kind on one corner of the slide will be found a great convenience. We have them, same size and shape as ours, gummed ready to stick on.

Poses Plastique

FOR LIST OF SLIDES SEE INDEX

This is a screen specialty in which the picture is thrown on the individual in place of on the screen. The picture usually covers the entire slide with a V or U shape piece cut out of the picture for the head.

The individual who is posing stands before a black curtain dressed in white costume (white dress or tights) and wears a cloak that is white inside and black outside. With extended arms the inside of the cloak and the white costume, take the place of the curtain on which the picture is thrown. When the picture is changed the cloak is closed by bringing the arms together. While the cloak is closed the picture is changed, so when the cloak opens a new picture is shown. A single or double lantern can be used; but as a rule a single lantern with a double slide carrier is preferred. When this is used the operator should cap the projecting lens, while the next slide is being "pushed" in place. As the cloak opens and closes, the picture should appear and disappear.

When closing the cloak, some think the effect much better to bring the arms together high enough to conceal the head. The object of standing in front of a black curtain, is, so that only the part of the picture falling on the cloak will show. The curtain should be made of some rough material that will absorb light, like black velvet or black cotton flannel. Better results will be obtained by placing the black curtain about ten feet back of the party posing.

THE CLOAK.

The cloak is usually square or oblong, fastened at the shoulders and should have a loop near the edge for the hand to hold the cloak when the arms are extended. The cloak is very easily made as there are no sleeves or armholes to be made or any fitting to be done. The objection to buying a cloak ready made is the difficulty of getting one the proper length. Spread of the cloak can be increased by using a short stick held in the hand between the cloth and lining. The best cloak is made of black velvet outside and white satin inside. Cheaper material, however, can be used with good results. If not convenient for the party posing, to wear a white costume, the cloak can be placed in front of the individual and fastened at the shoulders, and waist. The cloak should extend from the shoulders to the floor. One of the advantages gained by placing the cloak in front is that the party posing can stand on a box or some elevation which will give appearance of being much taller. This will enable a person of short stature to make a good size picture and for ancient and fashion costumes this is specially desirable.

Many prefer these slides without cut outs, but if any desire to have them made with cut out, kindly state so when ordering.

Poses Costumes and Ancient Costumes

Black Curtain Not Necessary with these Slides

Slides of Ancient Costumes will be furnished as requested with head "cut out" for poses or when not used for posing will be furnished complete with the head and head-gear. These costumes are authentic in both style and color and were secured at expenditure of much time and money. They date back over two thousand years and are the only set of slides of the kind ever made. They are sharp and clear, brilliantly colored, (true to life), and will be found not only instructive, but novel and interesting.

Black Curtain not necessary. In slides of Ancient Costumes the back ground is "black out," so only the costumes will show on the curtain. Therefore it is not necessary for the party posing to stand in front of a black curtain. The cloak and method of using the slides is the same as described under head of "Poses Plastique."

On the black back ground of each slide, cut in white letters, is the name of the nation and date the costume was worn.

Selections can be made all from one nationality, showing the different style of dress or costumes worn by a certain country at the different centuries. In this selection you can include Kings, Queens, Men and Women of rank, Warriors, Bishops, Priests, Musicians, Citizens, Servants, etc. Another interesting set can be made by selecting from each country one or more individuals of similar rank, by which a comparison of their odd and interesting costumes can be made. If this selection is left to us, we will send only those that are strikingly odd and interesting.

FOR LIST OF SLIDES SEE INDEX.

Poses Facion and Fashion Costumes

Like the slides of ancient costumes, these slides will be furnished with or without "cut out" for the head. The slides are made from the latest Paris fashion plates, artistic in design and beautifully colored. There is nothing more interesting to a lady than a fashionable gown and whatever interests the ladies, will secure patronage of the gentlemen.

There is set of twenty-five of these slides consisting of different styles of ladies' evening dress, street costumes, etc. They will be sold separately or in sets as desired.

A Profitable Investment.

Some of the ancient court costumes are gorgeously brilliant in precious stones and rich colors. One of the expenses incurred in the manufacture of Costume Slides, is the time required to obtain accurate registration, that is, the neck of the picture should exactly fit neck of the individual who is posing. These slides can be shown with equal interest in theaters, churches or schools and will prove a most profitable investment.

If not convenient to use them with a cloak for posing, order them complete with the head. They will give variety to your entertainment and prove a most valuable addition to your program.

Slides of Tissot's Life of Christ.

Tissot's paintings of the Life of Christ are universally considered to be the finest production ever made of this great subject.

They are not only valuable as a work of art; but cover nearly every incident in the Life of Christ as well as the Gospel stories. The McClure-Tissot Company are owners of the copyright and control all publications and reproductions of Tissot's paintings. These slides are therefore sold at higher price than other slides and each slide is marked copyright. For churches and Sunday evening services these slides will be found very popular. They are sold both plain and colored. The colored slides are an exact reproduction of the original paintings.

These slides should be used only colored, for without coloring it is not possible to conceive this great artist's idea of the scenes. We usually keep sets of these on hand for rental. See list on page 469.

PRICE, COLORED SLIDES $2.00 EACH. PLAIN SLIDES 75 CENTS EACH.
Rental, 5c each per day, 10c each per week, same price as for Song Slides.

Advertising Posters.

We have, at large, expense, provided a supply of advertising posters in two colors and by printing them in large quantities we can supply them to our customers at much lower prices than would be charged for similar bills if printed as they were required. These posters are attractively displayed and their proper use will be found very helpful in securing a good attendance at your entertainments. Order by number. Blank white Daters 50 cents per 1000.

In less quantities than 1000 the posters will be furnished at 60 cents per 100.

We have also bills advertising special lectures only, that we sell at the same price as above named. Samples sent free on application.

MOVING PICTURE FILMS.

We have separate catalogue of moving picture films, which will be furnished on application. When selecting moving picture films, care should be taken to not only select interesting subjects; but those that are sharp, clear and distinct. You cannot judge the value or quality of a film by the name or description. If you will leave selection of film to us, we will give you the benefit of our experience and send you only those that are sharp and clear and interesting to the public.

COLORED FILMS.

Beware of cheap colored films. Some firms advertise to color films for two or three dollars each. This so-called coloring is simply tinting the film, or perhaps only a small part of each picture has a little color daubed on it. Many a good plain film is ruined and rendered hideous by this kind of work.

There are between seven and eight hundred pictures on a fifty foot film and to color them artistically, requires an expert artist and great deal of time.

Films colored by us are colored in entire. Not only the faces; but the furniture; carpets, wall paper and draperies are artistically colored and blended in pleasing harmony.

We keep in stock the following colored films: The American Flag, Skirt Dance and the Fire Dance. These films are beautifully colored by a high class artist who makes a specialty of coloring films. The great advantage of these films is, that the picture on the screen is the same, whether it is run forward or backward. A film of this kind can therefore be kept on the curtain as long as desired and in value to the exhibitor, is equal to a 150 foot film.

As a closing picture, there is nothing that will receive applause equal to a beautifully colored film of the American Flag waving in the breeze. It can be shown in any church or theater and will be found the most profitable investment an exhibitor can make. Coloring greatly improves some films, while others the improvement is not sufficient to warrant the additional expense. The American Flag and the Fire Dance without color are of comparative little value; but when properly colored always win big applause.

Price, Skirt Dance, Fire Dance, or American Flag, Colored $10 each. This price includes both the film and the coloring.

Price for coloring other films will vary according to the subject.

CONDENSING LENS

A condensing lens is a circular piece of glass and in shape is called a "plano-convex," that is, flat or plain on one side and oval or convex on the other.

Two of these lenses are used with their convex sides toward each other. They are mounted in a cell or case and are placed next to the light. The purpose they serve is to gather or condense the light so it can pass through the projecting lens.

The thinner the lens, the longer the focus, and the thicker the lens the shorter the focus. The condensing lenses generally used in stereopticon are the $6\frac{1}{2}$ and $7\frac{1}{2}$ inch focus and $4\frac{1}{2}$ inch diameter. When using a $6\frac{1}{2}$ inch focus lens, the light is nearer the lens than when using a $7\frac{1}{2}$ inch focus.

With the long focus lenses there is less danger of breakage, but there is also some loss of light. When two lenses of different thickness or focus are used it is customary to place the thinner or longer focus one next to the light. From a practical standpoint this is correct, as the contraction and expansion of a thin (long focus) lens is more even than it is in a thick lens, and therefore less liable to break. From a scientific standpoint, however, a little better illumination would be obtained by placing the thicker or short focused lens next to the light.

A lens that has been properly annealed will stand the heat better, and although they originally cost more, still they are cheaper in the end.

CONDENSING LENS MOUNTING

The above cut shows a cross section of a lens cell or mounting. The cell, being cut in two, shows construction and arrangement of the condensing lenses.

The lenses should be placed with convex sides towards each other and slightly separated. They should be held firmly in position, still have room for expansion when hot. This lens mounting or cell is made of spun brass, nickel plated, highly polished and thoroughly ventilated.

Price, Lens Mounting or Cell, each.....$1.50

PRACTICAL TALK ON CONDENSING LENSES

Condensing lenses are usually made of Crown glass, which has a greenish color. Better illumination would be obtained if they were made of optical flint glass. They would not only absorb less light, but would be thinner for the same focus, and therefore less liable to break. The expense, however, would be so great that it would not be practical to use them. A lens ground to a thin edge will give little better illumination, and is less liable to crack than a lens with a thick edge.

TRIPLE CONDENSERS

Condenser mountings containing three and even four lenses have been used with a view of getting better illumination on the screen. Theoretically, the light should be better, but there is some loss of light due to the increased number of reflecting surfaces, so there is practically little gained when used with a regular lantern. With a projecting microscope, where it is necessary to condense the light to a very small surface, an increased number of condensing lenses is an advantage.

BREAKING CONDENSING LENSES

One of the most frequent troubles an operator has is breaking condensing lenses. When one is on the road and must set the machine where it is exposed to draughts this difficulty cannot be entirely eliminated. It can, however, be reduced to a minimum by proper precautions.

SMALL MOUNTING AND DRAFT

Breaking condensing lenses is due to two causes, namely: The glass fitting too tightly in the lens cell or a draft striking a lens when it is hot.

The glass and metal do not expand equally, and if a lens fits too tightly in the cell, there will not be sufficient room for expansion when it gets hot. The lenses should fit loose enough in the cell so they can be easily turned around with the fingers.

PRINCIPAL CAUSE IS A DRAFT

The principal cause of breaking condensing lenses is a draft of air. Keep the cold air from a condensing lens and you can heat it to redness without breaking. If lens cells and lamp houses were closed up so the cold air could not reach the lenses, there would be comparatively few condensing lenses broken.

AN OLD IDEA

An old idea is to thoroughly ventilate a lens cell so as to keep it cool, and the condensing lens will not break. It is true that if a lens can be kept cool enough it will not break, even if brought in contact with a draft. This, however, is not possible, especially when a strong electric light is used. With moving pictures it is necessary to use a much stronger light than for still pictures, and therefore the condensing lenses become very hot and are more liable to be broken. The lens that usually breaks is the one that gets the hotter, and that is the one next to the light.

AN OPEN LENS CELL

In experimenting we have placed the condensing lenses outside of the lamp house in an open lens cell in which the lenses were held in position by four very small spring clamps. There was nothing to bind them, there was no rim to the cell and nothing to prevent free circulation of air on all sides of both lenses. In this open cell condensing lenses will break sooner than they will in the usual form of cell that is partly ventilated. Sometimes a lens would break within ten minutes after being placed in the cell.

A CLOSED LENS CELL

We have also placed the lenses in a cell lined with asbestos so the glass could not touch the metal casing, wrapped around the cell several layers of asbestos. The condensers and cell were then placed inside a lamp house closed at the bottom so no draft could reach the lenses. For several hours 50 amperes of alternating current was used without breaking the condensing lens.

SWEATING OR STEAMING

If lenses are cold they will "sweat" or "steam up" unless some provision is made to ventilate them. There should be a hole in the lens cell so the air can circulate between the lenses. If no ventilation is provided, the moisture that collects on the lens will gradually dry on the glass. This will leave a coating that will "burn in the glass" so it is difficult to remove. The lens cell should be so constructed, that after the lenses are warm, the ventilating hole can be closed, so no draft can pass between the lenses.

HOW TO PROTECT CONDENSING LENSES

If the lens fits too tightly in the cell or mounting, with a saw cut several slits in the side, so as to give room for the glass to expand. Cut a piece of asbestos just a little wider than the condenser holder and long enough to go once or twice around it. With a wire or string bind this around the condensing cell or holder. If the lenses should "steam up" or sweat, wait until they are warm and dry before wrapping the asbestos around the cell. With other asbestos close up the rear of lamp house and in fact every place where a draft might reach the condensing lens next to the light. If the lens cell is outside of the lamp house, see that any opening between lamp house and cell is closed with asbestos.

This will be found a great convenience for re-winding films, also for examining the sprocket holes, repairing, taking out or putting in film in a roll.

THE UNIVERSAL PROJECTOSCOPE

To meet the special requirements of educational work we have introduced this apparatus.

By its aid all opaque material such as maps, photographs, lithographs, drawings, printed items and other desired objects, not exceeding five and one-half inches square, can be reproduced in their exact form and color. The space underneath is sufficient to permit the exposure of any part of a page from the thickest book with printed matter $10\frac{1}{4}$ inches long.

Designs in books can thus be easily reproduced without injury to the book or magazine and without any expense or preparation. It is readily apparent that such an apparatus is a part of the essential equipment of every up-to-date school seeking to teach in the most helpful and successful method such subjects as geography, physics, chemistry, biology, physiology, psychology, astronomy, art and literature.

The apparatus which we now offer represents the latest and best results in this line of projection, meeting the difficult requirements of educational work as does no other lantern now upon the market.

In order to obtain good results it is necessary to have the room dark, machine not too far from curtain and a good strong electric light.

Price, Universal Projectoscope, complete for lantern slides, opaque and vertical projection with electric radiant and including the following equipment: One optical bench; one hand-feed arc lamp with support and all fine adjustments for direct or alternating current; one lamp-house; three condensing lenses, $4\frac{1}{2}$ inches diameter; two condensing lens cells; one dark chamber with supports and reflectors; one vertical objective holder; one projection objective; one adjustable mirror for projective objective; one adjustable stage for opaque objects; one stage for slide holder; one double slide holder; one cooling tank; one single objective, or microscope holder, with flange, one projection objective, quarter plate; one rheostat, adjustable; fifteen feet flexible cord; one knife switch; one fuse block \$135.00

The above equipped with double objective and microscope holder 157.00

Opaque attachment which may be connected with any lantern using arc lamp. 50.00

TWENTIETH CENTURY GRAPHOPHONE

This machine involves the latest improvements in the talking machine art and is specially adapted for electric theaters or public exhibitions. It is distinctly in a class by itself. As soon as it begins to play you recognize immediately that it represents a gigantic stride ahead and has no competitors. It reproduces the human voice and all other sounds more naturally than any other machine. It is louder, and words spoken or sung are reproduced clearly and distinctly.

LARGE HORN

Any horn can be used, but where loudest effects are desired we would recommend the hammered brass horn, length 54 inches, diameter of bell $23\frac{3}{4}$ inches.

The Twentieth Century Graphophone has long cylinder, and on it can be used cylinder records of any length. List of records sent on application.

Price, Twentieth Century Graphophone $100.00

We exercise all due precaution in packing goods; and our responsibility ceases when goods are delivered to transportation company.

All claims should be made within ten days after goods have been received.

When sending orders while traveling, kindly give more than one address, as it is not always possible to make prompt shipment, and mail may be delayed so that the order is not received by us on the date expected.

If not convenient to obtain money order, enclose a bill. The risk of loss is very small when paper money is sent by mail. For anything less than one dollar, send two-cent stamps.

It is not necessary to know exact price of goods as an excuse for not sending money, for if too much money is sent, we will promptly refund balance, or place the amount to your credit, as preferred.

To protect ourselves from loss, we must insist that when goods are ordered sent C. O. D., sufficient money must accompany the order to pay express charges both ways. When telegraphing, deposit money with agent of express company by which goods are to be shipped, and have him wire us the order, stating amount of money deposited.

Freight charges are based upon 100 pounds weight, so that it will be found cheaper as well as safer to send most packages weighing less than 100 pounds by express. Should customers desire small shipments sent by freight, 50 cents should be added to their remittance to defray drayage in Chicago.

DON'T BUY

A lantern or moving picture machine until you have consulted the prices and examined the merits of our goods. We place our goods on their merits and invite comparison. Our trade is largely among the professional people who are quick to recognize the quality of our goods. To the amateur, we would suggest that, before purchasing, he should secure catalogues from other firms and compare the practical points of the different machines on the market. "Comparison is our best salesman."

PRICE OF SLIDES.

Unless otherwise stated, all slides are 25c each plain; 50c colored. Special prices are given at head of lists or bottom of pages.

SLIDE RENTAL.

Desiring to place our large collection of slides at the disposal of customers we offer them at the new rental rates found on page 252.

To insure your orders being filled completely and promptly, kindly anticipate as far in advance as possible.

NOTICE TO EXHIBITORS.

Exhibitors should always furnish us their permanent address and list of future dates.

Only by so doing can prompt and direct communication be insured.

LECTURE ON THE YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK.

See List on Page 265.

No known area of equal extent in the whole world contains so great a number of natural wonders as the Yellowstone National Park. Globe travelers regard this marvelous wonderland as unrivaled.

The negatives for these slides were made by the celebrated landscape photographer, Moe Wineman. The coloring on the slides is true to nature and of the best quality. The lecture is written by J. L. Dinslap, whose descriptive ability as a writer is well known. We specially recommend this set of slides and lecture. To bring out the beauty of the slides, we would suggest that they all be colored.

NORTH DOME, WASHINGTON COLUMN, AND ROYAL ARCHES, YOSEMITE VALLEY.

Illustration from
LECTURE ON THE YOSEMITE VALLEY.

See List on Page 267.

Travel, like charity, should commence at home. Many think that only abroad can the finest scenery be found. Such, however, is not the case; for in our own land are beauty and grandeur of mountain, vale and plain unsurpassed elsewhere in the world.

Among the beauty spots of America none presents greater attractions than the far-famed Yosemite Valley. The story of its discovery reads like romance.

Our lecture on this subject is comprehensive and instructive, and appreciated by audiences everywhere.

Being made from original negatives taken by our own photographer, and with the coloring true to nature, the slides are works of art.

PRICES AND TERMS

As it is impossible to keep in stock a full line of all slides ready for shipment, it is therefore advisable to always anticipate your wants a few days in advance.

PRICES

The prices of our slides are 25c plain and 50c colored, unless otherwise stated. When price is higher it will be so stated at the top or bottom of page where slides are listed.

Statuary with background blocked out.....	each, $0.50
Advertising slides, colored.....	each, .50
Ram's Horn Cartoons, colored only.....	each, .65
Serpentine Dance	each, .65
Poses Plastique	each, .65
Special Slides between moving pictures.....	each, 1.00
Tissot's Life of Christ, plain 75c each, colored	each, 1.25

TERMS

Cash in advance or C. O. D. If it is desired to have slides sent C. O. D., a sufficient remittance to cover transportation both ways must accompany the order. Orders of $5.00 or less should be accompanied by cash. When full amount of cash is sent with order, the customer will save the charges made by the express for collecting and returning the money, and discount of 2 per cent. Slides will be mailed at the following additional prices, which include box, packing and postage:

For mailing one unmounted slide.....	$0.10
For mailing each additional slide.....	.03
For mailing registered package08

If you wish goods sent by mail, send amount of postage with order; otherwise goods will be sent by express, which is the safest way. Slides are sent by mail at the PURCHASER'S RISK!

We exercise the utmost care in packing, and cannot be held liable for breakage under any circumstances.

SPECIAL SLIDE WORK

We have special facilities for making high-class slides to order from any "copy," furnished at the following prices:

One plain slide from negative, net	$0.40
One plain slide from photo, or illustration, net50
For coloring one plain slide, net.....	.40

The above rates for making slides apply only to uncolored copy. Prices for slides from colored copy will be furnished on application. Special slides made to order must be paid for at the time the order is given. We will make no copies of any article that is copyrighted without a written permission from the owner of the copyright, accompanying the order.

SLIDE RENTAL RATES

For each slide plain or colored 5 cents for the first day and 1 cent per day, or fraction thereof, thereafter. Subject to the following rules:

1st. Rent commences day order is filled and only terminates when slides are received by us. Customers residing outside the city and within 100 miles of Chicago will be allowed one day's rent without charge. Customers living more than 100 miles from Chicago will be allowed two days for shipment and return of slides without charge. In order to accommodate those living more than 200 miles from Chicago, special prices will be made on application.

2nd. Value of slides must be deposited with us in advance, or written guarantee by bank, responsible business house, or church trustees must be furnished by us. To insure prompt shipment send cash with order to cover full price of slides, which will be returned after deducting the rental.

3rd. Renter must pay transportation charges both ways and be responsible for all damage done to slides while out of our possession. We exercise the utmost care in packing and cannot be held liable for breakage under any circumstances. After slides are returned the charges will be deducted from the deposit and balance returned.

SPECIAL RATES

The rental for our special sets of slides, not over fifty in number with lecture:

One exhibition	$2.50
Two exhibitions of one set given within 4 days.....	4.00
Two exhibitions of one set given within 8 days.....	5.00

HOLIDAY SLIDES

Inasmuch as many of the slides ordered during the holiday season are of a character that is required at no other season of the year, our terms for rental of such slides during the holiday week are ten cents for each slide.

SPECIAL RATES

To electric theatres, changing each week, or to those using a large quantity of slides, special concessions will be made.

Those who anticipate renting slides should place their order several days in advance, as it is impossible to carry a complete line in stock ready for immediate shipment. We exercise all due precaution in packing goods, and our responsibility ceases when goods are delivered to transportation company.

Renters may specify whether plain or colored slides are desired, but we reserve the privilege of substitution, and will send either colored or plain as we may have in stock.

Orders for miscellaneous slides, selected at random through the catalog, are not included in above terms, but are subject to our approval.

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK—With Lecture*

* There are three lectures in one. The first has 106 slides, the second covers all the star numbers and has 65 slides, while the third covers only the double star numbers and contains 40 slides.

Price, 40c each plain, 80c each colored.

Complete set 106 slides, with Lecture, Colored $75.00; Plain $38.00.
 " " 65 " " " $48.00; " $24.00.
 " " 40 " " " $30.00; " $15.00.

Lecture, with less than complete set of slides, $1.00.

Yellowstone Park scenery includes the greatest variety and most brilliant natural coloring in the world. Nature's colors have been faithfully reproduced by our special artist, at great expense, and this set of slides will be found vastly superior in all respects to any others on the market. We would recommend them in colors only, as otherwise much of the natural effect will be missing.

A TRIP FROM CHICAGO TO CALIFORNIA

150 Slides with Reading

The reading is arranged in parts, each part illustrated with fifteen slides. The reading for each part is so written that it can be used alone, taking fifteen or twenty minutes to read; or it can be used with any or all of the other parts, so that an entertainment of any desired length up to two hours can be given from this set.

The coloring of slides adds greatly to their beauty and attractiveness on the screen. It is therefore desirable, when purchasing, to have as many colored as possible.

Price: Plain, 40c; Colored, 80c.

PLANTING SUGAR CANE IN HAWAII.

Illustration from LECTURE, "A VISIT TO HAWAII."

See List on Page 332.

The Hawaiian, or Sandwich Islands, present a wonderful and interesting history. Redeemed from absolute heathenism within a generation, and now a part of Uncle Sam's possessions, these islands present many points of interest.

Their story is told in two lectures by Rev. W. D. Westervelt, for many years a resident missionary there. The slides are from original negatives, and present all phases of the life, manners, religion, architecture and material growth of the natives.

You will find these lectures a valuable addition to your list.

PALACE OF LIGHT—LUCKNOW, INDIA.

Illustration from LECTURE ON INDIA.

See List on Page 408.

India has ever been a land of mystery and romance. A tour of this country presents scenes not to be duplicated elsewhere in the world.

Its marvelous temples, unsurpassed in beauty and richness, the wonderful carvings from ivory and other material; the mystic rites of its ancient religions, and many other features offer a tempting field for the traveler.

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK

125 Slides with Reading

The reading is arranged in parts, each part illustrated with fifteen slides. The reading for each part is so written that it can be used alone, taking fifteen or twenty minutes to read; or it can be used with any or all of the other parts, so that an entertainment of any desired length up to two hours can be given from this set.

The coloring of slides adds greatly to their beauty and attractiveness on the screen. It is therefore desirable, when purchasing, to have as many colored as possible.

Price: Plain, 40c; Colored, 80c.

SAMOA.

Hon. Bartlett Tripp, United States Commissioner to Samoa, collected a very fine selection of views during his stay among the beautiful islands of the southern seas, and the series of slides given below is among the most attractive which we offer. Their value is increased by the interesting lecture which our commissioner has prepared to accompany them, giving in addition to the description of the scenes, a very complete and concise statement of the resources of the islands and the character of their inhabitants. Copyrighted.

BULU BOYS OF FOUR TRIBES.

Illustration from LECTURE ON AFRICA.

See List on Page 415.

From many different missionaries and travelers we have received original negatives of scenes in Africa.

They have also supplied us with written descriptions of the customs, religion, superstitions and other details of the lives of the various tribes.

Hence our slides on Africa are very comprehensive, and true to life, and great care has been exercised to select only the best from the large amount of material available.

Pastors and others interested in missions in Africa will find these slides very helpful.

HANGING GARDENS OF BABYLON.

Illustration from
LECTURE ON THE SEVEN ANCIENT WONDERS OF THE WORLD.

See List on Page 430.

Among the ancient cities of the world Babylon was very prominent. The hanging gardens of Babylon were among the "Seven Wonders of the Ancient World," a description of which will be found in our lecture on this subject.

Our lists of slides cover views in all parts of the Old World, and give the most interesting things to be found in all countries. Students of ancient and modern history, architecture, customs and inhabitants of the Old World, etc., etc., will find it profitable to study carefully this section of our catalogue.

THE BOAR HUNT.

Illustration from
DRESDEN GALLERY COLLECTION OF PAINTINGS.

See List on Page 474.

Paintings, statuary and other works of art are always attractive to the general public.

Our catalogue contains many slides covering the works of the old masters, as well as those of the best modern artists.

The above illustration is from our selections from the paintings in the famous Dresden Gallery. Others will be found under various heads in the section devoted to History, Literature and Art. The best sacred scenes will be found in the list of "Famous Paintings and Gems of Sacred Art." We invite a careful study of this section of our catalogue.

A SUMMER TRIP THROUGH EUROPE.

The value of a series of slides illustrating travels is greatly enhanced by a lecture prepared by one who has himself visited the places shown, and is thus able to give a clearness of description and a vividness of detail which would be impossible to any but an eye-witness. Hon. Bartlett Tripp, United States Commissioner to Samoa, has selected the finest views that could be found in his summer trip through Europe, and has accompanied them with a graphic account of their present appearance and interesting facts regarding their past history which will render this series one of the most attractive and popular that we make.

AROUND THE WORLD—with Lecture

Recent historical events have directed the eyes of the world toward the far east as never before. The geography, customs and habits of the Orientals, so little known before this time, have now become of great and increasing interest to the general public.

The writer has taken advantage of this fact and in his trip around the world spent most of his time in China, Japan and Ceylon. Some of his photographs were made in the "Forbidden City," where never before had a camera been. This "Around the World Trip" differs from the usual ones in that it combines with the scenes of public buildings and panoramic views of large cities, beautiful views of waterfalls, tropical plants, trees and products, coffee and tea plantations, and illustrates the customs and habits of the people. Read the list of slides and notice the great variety of subjects treated.

SIEGE IN PEKIN—With Lecture

The uprising of the Boxers, the connivance of the Empress Dowager, the massacre of missionaries and native Christians, the murder of the German Ambassador, the siege and bombardment of the foreign legations, make a combination of events so startling and unexpected that the "Siege in Peking" will go down in history as one of the most remarkable series of events recorded on its pages.

These slides were made from photographs taken on the spot by missionaries and others who were in the besieged city. Many of the places here shown had never before been photographed; and the value of the set will increase with passing years.

Supplementary slides may be had by making selections from our sets on "The Noble Army of Martyrs," "Around the World Trip," or "China Against the World."

THE AGONY IN THE GARDEN.

Illustration from

LECTURE ON THE PASSION PLAY OF OBERAMMERGAU.

See List on Page 535.

As is well known, the solemn and religious Passion Play is given every ten years at Oberammergau. The slides illustrating it were made from official photographs of the last representation, and are clear and fine. The lecture was written by an eye-witness of the play, and is of unusual interest.

Our list of slides on biblical subjects and scenes in Bible lands is very large and complete, many being from original negatives.

The series of sermons on "How We Got the Bible" contains valuable material that can be obtained nowhere else. The same is true of many other lectures.

The general classification and plan of indexing our catalogue is simple and comprehensive, enabling one to find any subject very easily. Give it a thorough perusal.

Tower Falls, Yellowstone Park—Copyright 1907
by Mado Wineman.

Hidden like some beautiful flower in the wilderness, Tower Falls chants its everlasting song in a sequestered spot off the main road of travel in the Yellowstone Park. For this reason comparatively few persons see the most graceful waterfall in the Yellowstone. To photograph this waterfall is a problem. It not only requires the confidence of nature, but an enthusiasm that makes one un-mindful of danger. Furnished colored only $1.00.

Brady Glacier, Alaska—Copyright, 1907, by Mado Wineman.

Brady Glacier bears the name of the former governor of Alaska. Governor Brady is seen in the picture leading a party of travelers over the glacier on the twenty-fifth anniversary of its christening, which was quite recently. As no person is known to have visited this dead glacier (a glacier is said to be dead when it is not fed) within that quarter century, and as Mr. Wineman was the only member of the party who carried a camera on the recent visit, this picture is of unusual interest, especially when it is related that the adventurers nearly lost their lives on the occasion. The tide, suddenly going out, left the unhappy explorers exposed at night in a drizzling rain, on the wild shores of Alaska. Furnished colored only $1.00.

Mt. Moran, Teton Range, Jackson Hole Country
—Copyright 1907 by Mode Wineman.

The Teton Timber Preserve, adjoining the Yellowstone Park in the South, is a region of magnificent scenery and of big game, and a region destined to attract the world. Majestic Mt. Moran (named in honor of Thomas Moran, the artist, whose wonderful painting of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, and the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone are in the National Capitol) wears a mantle of ermine, and on its breast, as a sparkling pendant, is a hanging glacier, upon which sunbeams dance, while big bears inhabit the black forest below. Furnished colored only $1.00.

Nevada Falls, Yosemite Valley—

Furnished colored only $1.00.

AFRICA—with Lecture

These slides were made from photographs brought from his field of labor by Rev. M. Fraser, who has worked for years at Elat, W. Africa, under the Presbyterian Board. The lecture was prepared by the Rev. J. T. Ladd, under the dictation of the missionary.

There is an interesting pictorial account of the Bulu Savages, their occupations, amusements, etc., of school and church work among them, and of the results. One series of illustrations widely presents the effects of witchcraft as it is believed in and practiced in Africa today.

We heartily commend this illustrated lecture to those who care to know what real missionary work is among savage heathen. It is a powerful missionary sermon.

GREAT THINGS OF THE GLOBE

The "Great Things of the Globe" is a magnificent lecture set of wide variety and exceptional quality. The lecture is the work of Mr. John L. Dunlap, author of our famous "Russo-Japanese War" series, the "St. Louis World's Fair," and other deservedly popular lantern lectures: It is written in such a brilliant and delightfully entertaining way as to be well worthy of attention even without the slides, while with the beautiful pictures in this collection, it commands absorbing interest from the start to the very close.

This charming picture story is arranged in the nature of a trip around the world, yet it depicts and describes many things that would require several trips around the world to see, and some which the globe tourist cannot now see. All the really great and most renowned things of the earth are included, from the snow-clad Jungfrau in the wonderful Colorado of Europe, to that great gash in Nature's face—the Grand Canyon of Arizona; and from where Pike's Peak rears aloft and kisses the clouds to the frowning Sphinx in the sands of the Sahara. The lecture is rich with the finest views and replete with the most graphic description, and in every respect this is one of the very best lecture sets ever offered. Motion pictures can be introduced and are suggested at appropriate intervals in the lecture.

The lecture is written so as to use either the entire 100 or only 50 slides, the numbers marked with a star showing the 50 views used in Set No. 1, which is complete in itself; or it can be conveniently divided into shorter talks at will, thus giving the lecturer something suitable for any and all occasions. It is a new and timely treatment of a subject that never grows old. It is a set that will not get out of date and can be shown with equal interest before any audience.

Never before has a lecture been written covering a field so broad or a subject so popular. There is so much on this to select from that the monotonous details ("dry part") usually found in all lectures, has been omitted and only the choice, crisp parts of each subject used.

Price—Set No. 1 in list of slides and lecture, is marked with a star,
 25 colored and 25 plain.....$18.75
 Additional slides, colored.....each, .65
 Additional slides, plain.....each, .35
 "Set No. 2," 50 colored and 50 plain..... 35.00

List of slides will be found on succeeding page.

WHEN THE FROST IS ON THE PUMPKIN.

James Whitcomb Riley.

(Illustrated with fourteen beautiful Slides and title.)

- | | |
|--|--|
| 2 When the frost is on the pumpkin and the fodder's in the shock, And you hear the kyvack and gobble of the struttin' turkey cock. | 9 But the air's so appetizin' and the landscape through the haze Of a crisp and sunny morning of the early autumn days |
| 3 And the clackin' of the guineas and the cluckin' of the hens, And the rooster's hallylooyer as he tiptoes on the fence; | 10 Is a pictur' that no painter has the colorin' to mock— When the frost is on the pumpkin and the fodder's in the shock. |
| 4 Oh, it's then's the time a feller is a feelin' at his best, With the risin' sun to greet him from a night of peaceful rest; | 11 The husky, rusty rustle of the tassels of the corn, And the raspin' of the tangled leaves, as golden as the morn; |
| 5 As he leaves the house bareheaded and goes out to feed the stock, | 12 The stubble in the furrows, kind o' lonesome-like, but still A-preachin' sermons to us of the barns they grewed to fill; |
| 6 When the frost is on the pumpkin and the fodder's in the shock. | 13 The straw-stack in the medder, and the reaper in the shed; |
| 7 There's something kind o' hearty-like about the atmosphere When the heat of summer's over and the coolin' fall is here. | 14 The hoeses in their stalls below, the clover overhead; |
| 8 Of course we miss the flowers and the blossoms on the trees, And the mumble of the hummin' birds and buzzin' of the bees; | 15 Oh, it sets my heart a-clickin' like the tickin' of a clock When the frost is on the pumpkin and the fodder's in the shock. |

THE VILLAGE BLACKSMITH

- 8 Slides, including portraits of Longfellow and beautiful view of his home
- | | |
|--|--|
| Under the spreading chestnut tree,
The village smithy stands;
The smith, a mighty man is he,
With large and sinewy hands;
And the muscles of his brawny arms
Are strong as iron bands. | He goes on Sunday to the church,
And sits among his boys;
He hears the parson pray and preach,
He hears his daughter's voice,
Singing in the village choir,
And it makes his heart rejoice. |
| His hair is crisp, and black, and long,
His face is like the tan;
His brow is wet with honest sweat,
He earns whate'er he can,
And looks the whole world in the face,
For he owes not any man. | It sounds to him like her mother's voice,
Singing in Paradise!
He needs must think of her once more,
How in the grave she lies;
And with his hard, rough hand he wipes
A tear out of his eyes. |
| Week in, week out, from morn till night,
You can hear his bellows blow;
You can hear him swing his heavy sledge
With measured beat and slow,
Like the sexton ringing the village bell,
When the evening sun is low. | Toiling,—rejoicing,—sorrowing,
Onward through life he goes;
Each morning sees some task begun,
Each evening sees it close;
Something attempted, something done,
Has earned a night's repose. |
| And the children coming home from school
Look in at the open door;
They love to see the flaming forge,
And hear the bellows roar,
And catch the burning sparks that fly
Like chaff from a threshing-floor. | Thanks, thanks to thee, my worthy friend,
For the lesson thou hast taught!
Thus at the flaming forge of life
Our fortunes must be wrought;
Thus on its sounding anvil shaped
Each burning deed and thought. |

THE COUNTRY TOWN.

- | | |
|---|--|
| 2 It's common to sneer at the country town,
With its quiet streets and peaceful air 3 Where the little river meanders down
To be lost in the broad, blue sea, somewhere. 4 As we who think we are wise are lost
In the roaring city that, like the sea, 5 Has its ebb and flow, with its millions tossed
As bubbles robbed of identity. 6 There's fellowship in the country town,
With its empty streets and its spreading trees, 8 Where the country song birds warble down
At maids as fair as man ever sees; 9 Where the wind blows sweet from the fields nearby, | Where men know the names which their neighbors bear, 10 Where a man is missed if he's gone to lie
With the peaceful ones who have ceased to care. 11 There are joys out there in the country town
That we of the city may never learn: 12 In the rush for money and renown, Confronting strangers where'er we turn! 13 Oh, wasn't God's world serene and fair
In the country town ere we came away? 14 And won't it be sweet to sleep out there,
Far from the city's roar, some day? |

Moose Falls, Yellowstone Park—Copyright 1907 by Mode Wineman.

Off the tourist route, yet in the confines of the Yellowstone Park, some 20 miles south of Yellowstone Lake on the road into the Jackson Hole Country, Moose Falls, in pristine freshness, makes the traveler realize what the day of Creation might symbolize. It seems that in the adjacent forests where the morning sun casts its slanting rays on bear and deer, and bird, might have been the very spot where day first was and still is. Furnished colored only $1.00.

Great Falls of the Yellowstone, Yellowstone Park—
Copyright 1907 by Mode Wineman.

Down some 500 feet below the brink of the glorious Canyon of Oriental hue (more a thing of imagination than of earth) looking out through a vista of hazy pines, the great Falls of the Yellowstone are seen in symphonic splendor. Furnished colored only $1.00.

Minerva Terrace, Yellowstone Park—Copyright 1907 by Mode Wineman.

Within a few rods of the Mammoth Hot Springs boiling water has built for itself a fairy abode from its own mineral deposits, and all the "Turners" of the National Gallery of London could not have outdone the extraordinary color-blending of nature. Below in the distance is Fort Yellowstone; beyond is Mount Everts. Furnished colored only $1.00.

Valley of Ten Peaks from Trail, Canadian National Park—Copyright 1907
by Mode Wineman.

From afar the Ten Peaks, like ten mammoth ghosts, beckon the traveler to the valley of strange sights, when lo! a thundering noise frightens the spectator as a white avalanche, somewhat in the manner of a comet with a tail of star-dust, shoots down through the frosty air to the white valley below. Furnished colored only $1.00.

THE OBEDIENT HUSBAND.

Comic Recitation, illustrated by 6 colored slides and title.

Life Posings, Colored Only, Price per Set, $4.50

To be obedient is a plan I've acted on through life,
And on this simple principle I always treat my wife.
The other day her cousins came, each one a charming miss,
And like a loving relative, I gave them all a kiss.

- 1 Four lovely girls. I kissed them all twice. Then my wife yelled at me,
"Why don't you kiss the cook and then the servant girl! Go on!"
I did it! I did it! It didn't take me long.

- I did it! I did it! I didn't think it wrong.
2 My wife kicked up a rumpus, and with me wiped the floor,
But I only did as I was bid, a fellow can't do more.

I like to lead a quiet life. At night I like to sleep,
But when the kid begins to yell, from bed I have to leap.

- 3 One night I held it in my arms when up there came a bawl,
And in my agitation there, I let the baby fall.

"Oh! you monster!" cried my wife, "Why don't you throw the poor baby out the window?"

I did it! I did it! It didn't take me long.

I did it! I did it! I didn't think it wrong.

- 4 My wife went in hysterics, and set up such a roar!
I only did as I was bid! A fellow can't do more.

One night I came home from the club, and feeling rather gay—

It's very seldom that I'm found in the hilarious way—

I tried hard not to wake my wife but creep in unawares,

- 5 But stumbled, as a fellow will, and tumbled down the stairs.

"That's all right! you drunken loafer!" yelled my beloved, "break your infernal neck!"

I did it! I did it! I didn't think it wrong.

I did it! I did it! and here I stop my song.

- 6 My neck is dislocated, I can't sing any more.

But I only did as I was bid. A fellow can't do more.

The Indians, poetically, called the Vernal Falls the "Cataract of Diamonds." For scene beauty nature seems to have gathered together in the Yosemite more treasures within the same confines, than within any other known spot on earth. Vernal Falls is a lustre unsurpassed. Furnished colored

1 Title

THE COUNTRY SCHOOL HOUSE.

Life Posing, Colored Only, Price each, 80c., per Set, $11.50.

- | | |
| 2 The little country school house—you
Remember it; of course you do.
Within the angle snugly set,
3 Where two long yellow highways met,
And saplings planted here and there
4 About the yard, and boxed with care,
As if to typify, in turn,
The youngsters caught and caged, to learn.
5 Around, the rolling pastures spread,
With woodland patches garlanded,
6 From which the breezes gladly bore,
Sly invitations to the door.
7 Across the sills the bees' soft hum.
And from their covert in the vale
8 In plaintive pleading pipe the quail.
9 With basket and with pail equipped,
Clear-eyed, tan-checked and berrytipped.
Athwart the pastures, down the road,
10 They trudged to learning's poor abode;
The pink sunbonnet, broad-brimmed straw, | 11 The bare brown feet that knew no law
Of fashion's last; the bundled forms
That laughed aloud at cold and storms.
12 What tales the scarred desks might relate
Of triumphs gained with book and slate!
13 What lore the clapboards loose possess,
Of feats at noontime and recess!
And doomed how oft the panes to see,
14 Back up the road and o'er the lea, Haste boy and girl, new worlds to find,
The little schoolhouse left behind
15 O little country school! In vain
May critics hold you in disdain.
The greatest lessons that you taught 16 Were not by chalk and pencil wrought.
As op'd your door on fields and sky,
So likewise, just as wide and high.
17 You opened to the eyes of youth
The principles of love and truth. |

RARE OLD BIBLE PICTURES.

We have been fortunate in securing a copy of an ancient history of the "Holy Bible" in two volumes. "The whole illustration with one hundred and four useful and ornamental maps and sculptures, engraved by the best hands, from original paintings." These books were published in 1752 A. D. There are many choice pictures which do not appear in recent books and that are not common. Having been made from original paintings, many of them are very valuable. Read the list given below. You may find a picture that you have been looking for. We give in the first slide a reproduction of the title page showing the style of printing and spelling of the English of 1752.

RAPHAEL'S BIBLE.

The illustrations are, with a few exceptions, from Old Testament History. This set of slides is especially appropriate for a Sunday evening service or an art entertainment. We quote from the first page of his Bible Illustrations. "The pictures in the peristyle of the Vatican by the hand of St. Raphael engraved in copper plates with extraordinary care, and reproduced upon paper in the year 1790. A work most worthy of immortality." We will be pleased to show you this beautiful set of slides which we have in our display rack.

- 1 The Separation of Light from Darkness. "He divided the light from the darkness and called the light day and the darkness night."
- 2 The Creation of Terra Firma. "In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth and commanded that the waters be gathered together and he made dry land."
- 3 The Creation of the Sun and Moon. "He made two great lights and placed them in the firmament that they might give light over all the earth."
- 4 The Creation of Living Animals. "And God made the beasts of the earth after their own kind."
- 5 Presentation of Eve to Adam. "He brought her to Adam and Adam said this now is bone from my bones and flesh from my flesh."
- 6 The Temptation. "The woman having been deceived by the serpent took of the fruit of that tree and ate and gave to her husband."
- 7 The Expulsion from Paradise. "And He cast out Adam and placed before the paradise of Eden the cherubim and a flaming sword."

- 8 Adam and Eve. "And Eve conceived and brought forth Cain and his brother Abel."
- 9 The Building of the Ark. "Noah made an Ark for himself according to the commandment of the Lord that he might escape from the rain on the earth."
- 10 The Deluge. "The flood-gates of heaven were opened and the water prevailed over the earth and all flesh was consumed."
- 11 Noah Leaving the Ark. "The waters returned from off the earth and therefore Noah went out and his sons and their wives and every kind of animal."
- 12 Noah's Sacrifice. "Noah built an altar unto the Lord and took from every clean beast on the earth and offered burnt offerings."
- 13 Abraham and Melchizedek. "When Abraham returned from the slaughter of his enemies Melchizedek, king of Salem, offered him bread and wine."
- 14 Abraham Commanded to Count the Stars. "Behold the heaven, and count the stars if you are able; so shall your seed be. And Abraham believed God."
- 15 Abraham and the Angels. "And there appeared three men, and Abraham ran from the door of his tabernacle and worshipped upon the earth."
- 16 The Flight from Sodom. "And when Lot had gone out with his wife and children, God rained fire and brimstone upon Sodom; and his wife looking back was turned into a pillar of salt."
- 17 God Appeared unto Isaac and Said. "Go not down into Egypt but stay in the land which I will tell thee of."
- 18 Isaac and Rebecca. "Abimelech looking through a window saw Isaac sporting with Rebecca his wife."
- 19 The Blessing of Jacob. "Jacob said, I am your first born Esau, eat of my venison. Isaac knew him not and blessed him."
- 20 The Blessing of Esau. "Hast thou not a blessing for me also, Esau cried. Isaac said your blessing shall be in the fatness of the earth."
- 21 The Vision of Jacob's Ladder. "Jacob saw in his dreams a ladder extending from the earth to heaven and angels ascending and descending, and God resting on the top of the ladder."
- 22 Rachel and Jacob. "Jacob saw Rachel at the well and watered the flock and told her that he was her father's brother."
- 23 Jacob's Covenant with Rachel. "Jacob said, have not I served you seven years for Rachel? why have you given me Leah? Laban answered, I will give her also unto you when you have served me seven more years."
- 24 The Return of Jacob. "When Jacob had placed his wives and children on the camels, and led away his flocks, he returned to his father."
- 25 Joseph's Dream. "In my sleep I saw my sheaf arise and stand upright, and my brothers. I saw the sun and moon and eleven stars worship me."
- 26 Joseph Sold. "Taking him out of the well they sold him to the Ishmaelites."
- 27 Joseph and Potiphar's Wife. "The mistress having seized the border of his garment said, lie with me; but Joseph fled, leaving his garment in her hand."
- 28 Pharaoh's Dream.
- 29 The Finding of Moses. "The daughter of Pharaoh opened the basket and saw the babe crying and pitied him and called his name Moses."
- 30 Moses and the Burning Bush. "The Lord appeared in a flame of fire in the midst of the bush, and Moses hid his face."
- 31 The Israelites Passing Through the Red Sea. "Moses raised his hand over the sea and the waters rushed back and covered the horses and chariots of Pharaoh."

- 32 Moses Striking the Rock. "When Moses raised his hand and struck the rock twice with his rod, the waters rushed forth abundantly."
- 33 Moses Receiving the Two Tables of the Law. "The Lord gave to Moses on Mt. Sinai two tables of stone with the law written by the finger of God."
- 34 The Israelites Worshipping the Golden Calf. "Moses saw the calf and the multitude and was angry and cast the tables from his hand at the foot of the mount."
- 35 The Cloudy Pillar Standing at the Tabernacle Door. "The pillar of cloud descended and God spoke with Moses and they all stood at the doors of their tents and worshipped."
- 36 Moses Presenting the Law to the People. "He descended from Mt. Sinai holding the two tables in his hands, and the children of Israel saw his face to shine."
- 37 The Dividing of the Waters of Jordan. "The Priest carrying the ark stood on dry land in the midst of Jordan and all the people crossed over on dry land."
- 38 The Fall of Jericho. "Seven times the ark of the Lord went round the city and they blew their trumpets and the walls of Jericho fell down."
- 39 Joshua Commanding the Sun and the Moon to Stand Still. "The sun and the moon stood still at the command of Joshua while Israel was avenged of the Amorites."
- 40 The Division of the Land by Lot. "Eleazar the priest and Joshua the king divided by lot the whole earth for an inheritance to the children of Israel."
- 41 Samuel Anointing David. "Samuel bore a vessel of oil and anointed David in the midst of his brothers."
- 42 David Slaying Goliath. "David stood above Goliath and cut off his head and the men of Israel rising up pursued the Philistines."
- 43 Triumph of David. "When he had conquered Syria, David took the golden arms and carried them into Jerusalem."
- 44 David and Bathsheba. "David saw from the balcony of the king's house Bathsheba, the wife of Uriah, washing herself, and he took her."
- 45 Solomon Anointed King. The Priest anointed Solomon with a vessel of oil and all the people shouted 'Long live the King'."
- 46 The Judgment of Solomon. "Most wise Solomon called nature for a witness in the trial, and the true mother would not allow her son to be divided."
- 47 The Queen of Sheba's Visit. "The Queen of Sheba came from Ethiopia to Solomon with great gifts of spices and gold and precious stones."
- 48 Building of Solomon's Temple. "King Solomon commanded that they bring great and precious stones for the foundation of the temple and fit them."
- 49 The Adoration of the Shepherds. "The Shepherds came and discovered Mary and Joseph and the babe lying in the manger."
- 50 The Adoration of the Kings. "The wise men falling down worshipped Him and opening their treasures they gave Him gold, frankincense, and myrrh."
- 51 The Baptism of Christ. "Jesus came from Nazareth and was baptized by John in the river Jordan."
- 52 The Last Supper. "Jesus said to His disciples sitting with Him and eating, One of you will betray Me."

THE DRESDEN GALLERY.

Some one has said that the Dresden Gallery is an "Assembly of Collections such as can scarcely be equaled in the world." We have succeeded, at great expense, in obtaining photographs of fifty of the finest examples of the old Masters of this famous Gallery. All lovers of art, engaged in Stereopticon work, will be interested in seeing the collection which we have in our display rack under electric light. Come in and see them.

- 1 Titian's Daughter, by Titian 1477-1576. "This picture is one of the most celebrated portraits in the world. 'Titian-colored hair' excited the universal enthusiasm of the art-world." Her graceful poise, and magnificent jewels adorning her hair, neck, and arms, give the appearance of luxury. She holds a beautiful rose in her delicate hands.
- 2 The Virgin, Holy Child, and St. John, by Titian 1477-1576. This picture represents a young and beautiful woman timidly approaching the mother of God, who leans forward to graciously listen to her who is soon to know a kindred joy. At the side John the Baptist, is supporting the Holy Child who, standing in His Mother's lap, embraces her around the neck. St. Paul with a sword and Jerome with a crucifix, press forward to worship the Saviour.
- 3 The Madonna di San Sisto, by Raphael, 1483-1520. The beautiful mother with the Saviour in her arms is descending from the heavens, surrounded by innumerable heads of angels. St. Sixtus and St. Barbara kneel before her, while two charming little cherubs are in front. "It is the most finished, and perhaps the very best, work of its immortal author."
- 4 Michael the Archangel, by Penni, 1488-1528. The archangel Michael, dressed in a Knight's armour, hovers above the dragon, whom he has thrown from heaven to earth as narrated in the Apocalypse. The dragon represents Satan, and Michael's victory over him, the triumph of Christianity over Paganism.
- 5 Saint Sebastian, by Correggio, 1494-1534. It is one of the most beautiful of this wonderful artist's masterpieces. The Virgin and babe is descending from heaven surrounded by rays of light, and angels ministering to her. St. Germinion, St. Sebastian and St. Roche are in the foreground. Beneath is a little child, called "the little one of Modena," holding the model of a temple, supposed to indicate the church for which this painting was intended.
- 6 The Madonna (of the Meir Family) by Holbein. 1495-1543. The custom of presenting to a church a picture by those whose prayers had been answered gave the name votive-picture. This is such a picture. The Madonna stands in a vaulted niche of the wall, beautifully ornamented. She holds the little one whom she has saved in her arms, while the Meier family are kneeling in adoration before her.

- 7 Portrait of Hubert Morett, by Holbein, 1495-1543. The question as to the author of this fine portrait was only recently decided by the discovery of the magnificent drawing for it among Holbein's works.
- 8 The Adoration of the Magi, by Paul Veronese, 1530-1588. The Virgin with the babe surrounded by a halo of glory, sits on the steps of a fine building. An old king with a long, richly embroidered robe is kissing the Saviour's feet, while back of him stand the other kings magnificently dressed presenting their costly gifts. St. Joseph and a shepherd stand beside the holy mother. "The grandeur and freedom of the idea, the dignity and truth of the composition, the expression of the figures, and brilliancy of the coloring, place this among the principal masterpieces of Veronese."
- 9 The Marriage at Cana, by Paul Veronese, 1530-1588. "It is glowing in color, and claims attention, at once, by its magnificence. The grouping of the figures, the diversity of costumes and the grandeur of the architecture, all combine to attract and satisfy the eye."
- 10 The Dead Christ, by Salvati, 1535-1585. The Saviour is represented as being laid in the tomb by angels. It is a most impressive picture. One is lifting the dead body, another is kissing His pierced hand, while the third with clasped hands and upturned face, is imploring the aid of God the Father.
- 11 Soldiers Playing Cards in a Guard Room, by Caravaggio, 1569-1609. The soldiers are evidently men of distinction as is shown by their elegant uniforms, and the gold on the magnificent table.
- 12 The Lion Hunt, by Rubens, 1577-1640. The marvelous talent of this world-famed artist is shown in this picture. A lion has overmastered one of the hunters whom he is pulling from his horse. In the horrible scene of combat, midst the bloody struggle, a lioness is seen intent only on saving her little ones. This picture is proof of the almost universal skill of this "Prince of the Flemish School."
- 13 Satyrs and Nymphs, by Rubens. Four nymphs, with their dogs, are accosted by three satyrs laden with fruit. The contrast of these half-brutal, sensuous satyrs and the virgin modesty of the Nymphs is depicted with great skill.
- 14 The Boar Hunt, by Rubens. This is another master-piece by the same great author.
- 15 The Supplication of Esther by Strozzi, 1581-1644.
- 16 The Smokers, by Teniers, 1582-1649. "This picture is in Tenier's well-known manner and represents a subject which seems to have been almost the only one congenial to painters of his calibre and school."
- 17 A Village Festival, by Teniers. A joyous band are enjoying themselves before a Dutch village inn. They are dancing, playing musical instruments, drinking, chatting, and amusing themselves in various ways.
- 18 The Dentist, by Honthorst, 1594-1660. "The composition as well as the drawing and expression of this picture, is correct and full of life. The effect of the light in this painful scene is really admirable, and produces a shudder in looking at it."
- 19 Martin Engelbrecht, by Van Dyck, 1599-1641. "The piercing eye, the noble forehead, and the expressive mouth can only belong to a man of strong mind and character, and the conception and execution of the portrait are quite worthy the fame of the greatest of portrait painters."
- 20 Evening, by Albert Cuyp, 1606-1691. A small flock of cows and sheep are grazing on the high banks of a pond, while the shepherdess and herdsmen rest after the weary labors of the day, and the setting sun casts a reddish light over all. It is an exceedingly fine picture of repose in nature.
- 21 Rembrandt and His Wife, by Rembrandt, 1608-1674. Rembrandt, dressed in uniform, sits at a well spread table, embracing his wife with his left arm, and raising a glass of champagne with his right. His young, happy wife wears a dress of pearl colored satin, richly embroidered in gold.

- 22 Rembrandt's Daughter, by Rembrandt. "The picture represents a young girl, of graceful form and rosy complexion, whose dark eyes and red lips smile gaily at us."
- 23 A Lady in a Satin Gown, by Terburg, 1608-1681. The lady before the dressing table is viewing herself in a small mirror. All the accessories of the picture tend to heighten the effect of the lustre of the white satin dress. "As a composition of color, it is one of the most charming in the Dresden Gallery."
- 24 The Wild Boar Hunt, by Jacobson, 1610-1664. The agony of the wounded dogs, the fierceness and the fury of the attacking ones, and the helplessness of the struggling boar to escape, all render this a masterpiece of this artist who is especially gifted in painting hunting scenes and combats of wild beasts.
- 25 A Dutch Village Tavern, by A. Van Ostade, 1620-1685. A company of peasants are round a table in a Dutch village tavern. The man at the right is probably the painter himself. The hostess is pouring out brandy midst a little group in the rear, while overhead is the loft, scattered with household utensils and bits of straw and cob webs.
- 26 A Flemish Ale House, by Teniers the Younger, 1610-1694. The hostess is preparing apple fritters, midst a little group of peasants. Great interest is visible on the faces of some others, eagerly watching the accountant figuring their bill. The inn-keeper is unconcernedly chalking on the wall the number of glasses consumed.
- 27 A Hermit, by Ferdinand Bol, 1611-1681. A venerable, white-haired man is reading a large book in a solitary and tranquil place.
- 28 The Dentist, by Gerard Dou, 1613-1674. The dentist with pompous air and satisfied expression holds up as a trophy the tooth just extracted, while his victim, a distressed looking boy, well displays the feeling, of one obliged to go through such an operation.
- 29 Gerard Dou in His Studio, by Gerard Dou. The great artist looks up at us while he sketches on a leaf of a great album. His studio is filled with interesting objects, all of which are painted in the most careful manner, and with infinite pains.
- 30 The Hermit by Gerard Dou. In the court of an old monastery, the white-headed hermit is kneeling before a large book which he is intently and devoutly reading. "This picture shows, even in the smallest details, that indefatigable application and excessive delicacy which characterize the work of Dou."
- 31 The Woman Winding Silk, by Van Tol, died about 1680. An elderly woman sits by an open window surrounded by foliage. It is a charming portrait.
- 32 The Poultry Dealer, by Metz, 1615-1660. A poultry dealer, seated on a tub, is offering a cock for sale to a richly dressed young lady bargaining for it. Much truth and beauty are manifested in the animals around them. The whole is very picturesque.
- 33 The Poultry Woman, by Metz. An elderly woman, plucking a pigeon, is conversing with a young lady who is holding up a leveret in her hand which she wishes to buy. "The whole displays that fidelity to nature and vividness of imagination which distinguishes the principal works of Metz."
- 34 Gabriel Metz and His Wife, by Metz. Metz is embracing his wife with his left arm and holds a glass of champagne in his right hand.
- 35 A Dutch Winter Landscape, by I. van Ostade, 1617-1657. A number of peasants with their dogs are skating, or urging forward their sleds laden with wood, over the frozen canal, while a motherly face peers from the window of a thatched cottage at the side.
- 36 The Camp, by Wouverman, 1620-1668. Some soldiers of a cavalry regiment are assembled near a tent, and utterly heedless of the trumpeter, continue their rest and refreshment unconcerned, while the camp, extending far into the distance, is seen in the back ground.

THE DRESDEN GALLERY—Continued.

- 37 The Cavalry Engagement, by Wouverman. "The composition and execution as well as the characteristic details, obtain for this picture a place among the best productions of the celebrated artists. The design and the bearing of the men and horses are well conceived, and are in perfect harmony with the beauty and brilliancy of the colouring."
- 38 A Group of Oxen, by Paul Potter, 1625-1654. "The animals are painted with the most marvellous exactitude."
- 39 The Nativity, by Maratti, 1625-1713. "Maratti has been very successful in the design and coloring of this picture and in the harmony and grace of form. The Holy Mother and the radiant features of the angels express heavenly love and the highest form of happiness in the contemplation of the Divine Infant."
- 40 The Monastery, by Ruysdael, 1625-1681. An artist sits on the bank of a beautiful stream, into which a herdsman is driving his cattle, and two fishermen fishing. At the foot of some well-wooded mountains stands the monastery, partly in ruins. lit up by the sun's rays. The landscapes of Ruysdael are "eminently poetical and yet perfectly faithful."
- 41 The Avenue, by Ruysdael. "Whoever longs to fly from the constant turmoil of town life to the stillness of nature, will thank the great landscape painter, who has created for us in all his forests, groves and plains, a refuge from the troubles and cares of the world in the sanctuaries of nature."
- 42 The Traveling Tinker, by Mieris, 1635-1681. Before a Dutch tavern, a traveling tinker is holding up to the light an old caldron that a woman has brought to be mended. The living figures, the vine covered house, the old tree trunk, the remains of an old wagon, all are painted with great fidelity to nature, and make it a fine picture, a masterpiece of genius.
- 43 Mieris in His Studio, by Mieris. The artist, seated before his easel, has turned toward us to converse with his wife, whose portrait he is painting. The studio is very artistically furnished.
- 44 A Winter Scene, by A. Van de Velde, 1639-1672. Many peasants and townspeople are enjoying the skating, riding in the sleds, or conversing on the bank of the frozen stream. His landscapes are particularly distinguished by "an air of transparency and faithful rendering of nature."
- 45 A Lady at Her Toilet, by Netscher, 1639-1684. The lady, wearing a satin skirt and velvet tunic, is caressing a little spaniel in her lap, while her maid carefully arranges her hair. "The talent and minute care of the artist are seen equally well in the composition and drawing of the figures, and in the execution of the accessories."
- 46 The Seamstress, by Netscher. Her pleasant, womanly face, and neat, simple attire make a charming and attractive picture of a Dutch house-wife.
- 47 The Lace Maker, by Slingeland, 1640-1691. A beautiful young Dutch lady is interrupted by an old woman who offers her a cock for sale, and the little spaniel is barking violently at this intruder. "All that we see in this picture displays the great talent and indefatigable application of a great artist."
- 48 The Infant Saviour Sleeping, by Andrea Pozzo, 1642-1709. "The drawing, coloring, and composition of this picture render it one of the principal works of this painter."
- 49 A Young Girl Reading a Letter, by Peter de Horogh, 1643-1708. A happy young girl stands by a window earnestly reading a letter, and her beautiful profile is reflected in the glass panes. "The treatment is free and bold, the effect of the sun rays which glitter brilliantly on the window, is rendered with much truth and power."
- 50 The Dismissal of Hagar, by A. Van der Werff, 1659-1722. The poor, forsaken woman looks wistfully back at the home from which she is exiled, while Sarah watches her from the doorway. Abraham leans forward with outstretched hands to bless them, with piety and anxiety for their welfare, evident in his earnest face. Little Ishmael follows with lingering looks at his brother Isaac who is playfully hiding in his fathers robes.

Giant Geyser, View from Afar, Yellowstone Park
—Copyright 1907 by Mude Wineman.
Were it not a sight of regal splendor, one had thought hell had burst, so deafening was the roar. Furnished colored only $1.00.

Norris Geyser Basin, Yellowstone Park—Copyright 1907 by Mude Wineman.

This picture of Norris Geyser Basin was made one evening as the setting sun burst forth from great storm clouds, and spread a fiery glow on a region full of wonders. At the extreme right are the famed "Boiler" and the black "Growler," famed fuma, the setting sun burst forth from great storm clouds, and spread roles, forever boiling and growling. Furnished colored only $1.00.

Silver Serpent of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado—Copyright 1904 by Mode Wineman.
Mind cannot conceive the awfulness of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado River. The "Silver Serpent of the Grand Canyon" was taken at Cyclorama Point, a spot of high interest overlooking the awful abyss. Could Dante have seen the Grand Canyon, the "Inferno" would have had its habitation there. Probably at no other place on earth does the limitation of the human mind come upon man with such force as when looking for the first time on what is probably the master work of nature. Furnished colored only $1.00.

Supai Falls in Supai Land, Cataract Canyon—Copyright 1907 by Mode Wineman.
So delicate is the beauty of these water falls they have hidden themselves in a dense mass of green foliage, where birds come to bathe and sing. Furnished colored only $1.00.

Ruins of San Luis Rey Mission, California—Copyright 1907 by Mode Wineman.
It might have been Rome! But it is California where we find the classic ruins of San Luis Rey. Furnished colored only $1.00.

No. 31.—AGONY IN THE GARDEN, HOFFMAN.

THE PICTURE ROSARY

The Rosary is a form of prayer very common in the Catholic Church. It consists of the Lord's Prayer and the Angelical Salutation (or Hail Mary), repeated many times, while, at the same time, the person making the prayer is keeping his mind intent on certain events or mysteries in the lives of Our Lord and His Mother, Mary. It is a very simple method of outward invocation in inward meditation.

To help meditation, the Creed is first recited, and to gain the indulgences granted by the Church, a preliminary "Our Father" and "Three Hail Marys" are recited, followed by the Doxology, said or sung. Then the Rosary proper begins, during which a decade, or ten "Hail Marys" are said, preceded by the "Our Father" and followed by the Doxology, while the mind considers the first mystery as in accompanying scripture story. The other decades follow in like manner.

Our "Pictured Rosary" simplifies meditation by putting before the people the pictures of each event or mystery while the decade is said.

To penetrate the mind and heart more deeply with each distinct truth, the gospel story of the event may be read aloud before each decade, and, if advisable, a few pithy suggestions may be made.

The public use of this method in church, supposes a lantern in one corner of the organ loft and a screen hung at an angle before a side altar. For private use an illustrated booklet will be published.

The lantern slides need for the pictured "Rosary," "Memories of Judea and of the Nazarene," and "Memories of Galilee and of the Nazarene" are accompanied with readings prepared especially for use in Catholic Churches by a Reverend Father, who has had long experience in lantern work in the Catholic Churches of Chicago and vicinity.

The pages where these slides are listed will be found in the index under the above heading.

"IN HIS STEPS." Slide No. 67, in the Set of 150.

Copyrighted 1900 by G. W. BOND.

"In a few minutes the audience was beyond Maxwell's control. He turned to Rachel with a sad smile.

"Sing something, Miss Winslow. They will listen to you," he said, and then sat down and put his face in his hands.

"It was Rachel's opportunity, and she was fully equal to it. Virginia was at the organ and Rachel asked her to play a few notes of the hymn:

"Savior I follow on Guided by Thee,
Seeing not yet the land
That leadeth me;
Hushed be my heart and still Fear I no farther ill.
Only to meet Thy will,
My will shall be."

"Rachel had not sung the first line before the people in the tent were all turned toward her, hushed and reverent."

A letter to us from the author of "In His Steps" is given on next page.

Central Church
Topeka, Kansas, Feb. 26, 1902

Dear Sir

I was pleased with your lantern slides illustrating In His Steps, which I saw for the first time a short time ago and have referred different lecturers to them. I hope they may be used to do much good

Very cordially yours,
Charles M. Sheldon

"IN HIS STEPS."

Most conspicuous today among thinkers and workers, who are trying to promote the interest of humanity and religion, is Charles M. Sheldon. His unique and noble effort to edit The Topeka Capital, a daily paper, for one week, as he thought Christ would do, attracted the attention of the entire civilized world and aroused a keen discussion in the columns of every newspaper in the land. Prior to this, his book entitled "In His Steps or 'What Would Jesus Do,'" had become the most popular book of modern times.

In this country nearly four million copies of this book have been sold, and in Europe twelve different prominent publishing houses have issued large editions. At an expenditure of much time and money, a set of 150 slides have been made from life models, that completely illustrate this popular, thrilling and instructive story.

The extremes of society, the wide variety of religious work, from stately cathedral to the humble missions, afford a field true to life and character for illustrating this work. In these illustrations are shown palatial homes, fashionable equipages on the boulevards, elegant churches, aristocratic audiences, the preacher speaking, the cantatrice singing the tragedy of the tramp's appearance therein, the agitated after meetings, the stirring scenes following in parlors, libraries, business offices, factories and editorial sanctums scenes on the boulevards, the avenues and the busy streets; scenes among the slums, with hordes of outcasts, the mission meetings in the tent, the election crowd, the drunken mob the tragedy in palace hall and in slum street and many scenes of sublime enthusiasm and daring heroism. All these scenes follow each other in rapid succession, and chain the attention by their variety and dramatic posings.

None of these illustrations are made from paintings, or "Gallery-make-ups", but all were taken from real characters and actual scenes. Every slide is full of life, sharp and clear, brilliant and sparkling.

Sold in sets only at 50 cents per slide colored, 150 slides covering the complete book for 3 night's exhibition with printed lecture, and 50 slides, covering the complete book for 1 night's exhibition with printed lecture.

A complete copy of the book sent free with every set. No plain slides sold of this illustration. Broken slides will be replaced at 65 cents each.

Figures in full face type indicate the slides in the set of 50, which are also shown by ordinary figures on the right.

The Coming Storm

Rum's Recruits

RAMS HORN CARTOONS

The publishers of the Home Herald have given us the exclusive right to reproduce for them the famous Cartoons which were first published in the Rams Horn.

These unique pictures have been a most potent force in the presentation of truth. They are particularly strong in their assaults upon intemperance, selfishness and sin in every form.

No lecture or description is needed to accompany these slides, as each is a sermon in itself, and is prepared with the special object of carrying conviction straight to the heart. They can not only be effectively used for an entire service, but singly, in connection with slides of other sets in rounding out or teaching a particular truth.

These slides are only furnished in colors at the price of 65c each.

These slides were formerly listed at $1.00 each, but have become so popular that we are now able to offer them at 65c each. While the price has thus been lowered the quality of these slides has been strictly maintained.

We advise those interested to consult the Special Catalogue, giving a perfect representation of each of the first 100 slides, and furnished on the receipt of ten cents.

THE BIBLE.

A SERIES OF TEN SERMONS BY REV. J. T. LADD.

FIRST.—WHY DO WE HAVE THE BIBLE. The sermons under this division portray vividly the need of a divine revelation, by showing that man is not able to get a correct idea of the character of God or of human duty from nature, or civilization, or the non-Christian faiths.

SECOND.—HOW WE GOT THE BIBLE. These sermons treat of the production, preservation, discovery and present places of deposit of important Hebrew and Greek manuscripts; of ancient versions and modern translations, and of their publication and circulation.

THIRD.—WHAT THE BIBLE IS FOR. The sermons under this last division illustrate the beneficial influences of the Bible. The opinions of famous men and women are considered, and there are shown a remarkable collection of striking contrasts between the conditions of people before they became Christians and after they became Christians. These are from many mission fields.

Each sermon is so far independent that it may be used separately, and yet in the series each is intimately related to all.

Several of the sermons are specially helpful in missionary work. The pictures present the needs and the benefits of the Gospel with tremendous power. All are fervently evangelical.

THE PASSION PLAY OF OBERAMMERGAU.

WITH LECTURE BY REV. FLAVIUS J. BROBST.

At the commencement of every decade the peasants of Oberammergau enact the drama of Christ's Passion in their own Mountain Village. The theatre in which these scenes are rendered is however one of the largest in the world. During the past summer of 1900 this play was again given. The interest in this play shown by the entire civilized world was greater than ever before. People from all parts of Europe and America went there and the throngs numbered many scores of thousands.

We herewith present a series of slides taken recently of the last rendition of the play which covers the drama. They will be found to be first class.

CHRISTMAS.

The rapid increase in the use of the Stereopticon by the Church and Sunday School, has created a demand for an appropriate series of slides for a Christmas entertainment. The list which follows has been selected by Rev. J. T. Ladd, an eminent Scholar and traveler, who has used the Stereopticon with telling effect in his own Sunday School and Church work, and has thus been fitted for the task which he has so well performed, of arranging the views which make up the series and writing the accompanying lecture.

RELIGIOUS SONG SLIDES.

THE HOLY CITY.

Life Posing, Colored Only, Price per Set, $8.50

The interest of the audience in such a lecture as "In His Steps" is increased by the proper introduction of sacred songs. "The Holy City" has been illustrated by seventeen beautiful slides and appropriate title, and is one of the most popular of the present day. The dreamer is represented by life posing, and as he lies asleep on his couch, the visions described in the song appear successively upon the screen, as the slides are projected in their proper order, and the audience are held in rapt attention from the beginning to the end.

- 1 Last night I lay a-sleeping, there came a dream so fair,
- 2 I stood in old Jerusalem, beside the Temple there;
- 3 I heard the children singing, and ever as they sang,
- 4 Methought the voice of Angels from Heaven in answer rang,
- 5 Jerusalem, Jerusalem, lift up your gates and sing;
- 6 Hosanna in the highest, Hosanna to your King!
- 7 And then methought my dream was changed, the streets no longer rang
- 8 Hush'd were the glad Hosannas, the little children sang.
- 9 The sun grew dark with mystery, the morn was cold and chill,
- 10 As the shadow of a cross arose upon a lonely hill.
- 11 Jerusalem, Jerusalem, hark! how the Angels sing;
- 12 Hosanna in the highest! Hosanna to your King!
- 13 And once again the scene was changed, new earth there seemed to be;
- 14 I saw the Holy City beside the tideless sea;
- 15 The light of God was on its streets, the gates were open wide;
- 16 And all who would might enter, and no one was denied.
- 17 No need of moon or stars by night; nor sun to shine by day;
- 18 It was the new Jerusalem that would not pass away.
- 19 Jerusalem, Jerusalem, sing for the night is o'er,
- 20 Hosanna in the highest, Hosanna forevermore!

JESUS, SAVIOUR, PILOT ME.

Life Posing, Colored Only, Price per Set, $4.50

1. Title Slide.
- 2 Jesus, Savior, pilot me, Over life's tempestuous sea;
- 3 Unknown waves, before me roll, Hiding rock and treach'rous shoal;
- 4 Chart and compass come from Thee: Jesus, Savior, pilot me.
- 2.
- 5 As a mother stills her child, Thou canst hush the ocean wild;
- 6 Boist'rous waves obey Thy will, When thou say'st to them, "Be still!"
- 7 Wondrous Sovereign of the sea, Jesus, Savior, pilot me.
- 3.
- 8 When at last I near the shore, And the fearful breakers roar.
- 9 'Twixt me and the peaceful rest, Then, while leaning on Thy breast,
- 10 May I hear Thee say to me, "Fear not, I will pilot thee."

ROCK OF AGES.

Life Posings.

- | | | | |
|---|------------------------------------|----|------------------------------------|
| 1 | Introductory | 9 | Naked, come to thee for dress. |
| 2 | Rock of Ages, cleft for me! | 10 | Helpless, look to thee for grace; |
| 3 | Let me hide myself in thee; | 11 | Vile, I to the fountain fly, |
| 4 | Let the water and the blood, | 12 | While I draw this fleeting breath, |
| 5 | From thy wounded side that flowed, | 13 | When my eyelids close in death, |
| 6 | Be of sin the double cure; | 14 | See thee on thy Judgment throne. |
| 7 | Nothing in my hand I bring, | 15 | Rock of Ages, cleft for me! |
| 8 | Simply to thy cross I cling; | | Let me hide myself in thee. |

1 Title "TELL MOTHER I'LL BE THERE."

Life Posing, Colored Only, Price per Set $8.00

- | | | | |
|---|--|----|---|
| 2 | When I was but a little child, how well I recollect, | 8 | When I became a prodigal, and left the old roof-tree, |
| 3 | How I would grieve my mother with my folly and neglect; | 9 | She almost broke her loving heart in mourning after me. |
| 4 | And now that she has gone to heav'n, I miss her tender care; | 10 | And day and night she prayed to God to keep me in his care: |
| | O Saviour, tell my mother I'll be there! | | O Saviour, tell my mother I'll be there! |
| 5 | Though I was often wayward, she was always kind and good, | 11 | One day a message came to me, it bade me quickly come |
| 6 | So patient, gentle, loving, when I acted rough and rude; | 12 | If I would see my mother ere the Saviour took her home; |
| 7 | My childhood griefs and trials she would gladly with me share; | 13 | I promised her before she died, for heaven to prepare; |
| | O Saviour, tell my mother I'll be there! | | O Saviour, tell my mother I'll be there! |

CHORUS.

- 14 Tell mother I'll be there, in answer to her prayer,
15 This message blessed Saviour to her bear;
16 Tell mother I'll be there, heaven's joys with her to share,
17 Yes, tell my darling mother I'll be there.

The above illustrated song will be found a most excellent companion to the song "Where is My Wandering Boy To-Night," found elsewhere in this catalogue. Where both songs are used, each will greatly increase the value of the other.

WORK, FOR THE NIGHT IS COMING.

0 Title

Life Posing, Colored Only, Price per Set, $6.00.

(Words with Illustration on each Slide.)

- | | |
|---|---|
| 1 Work, for the night is coming,
Work through the morning hours; | 5 Work, for the night is coming,
Work through the sunny noon |
| 2 Work while the dew is sparkling,
Work 'mid springing flowers; | 6 Fill brightest hours with labor,
Rest comes sure and soon. |
| 3 Work when the day grows brighter,
Work in the glowing sun; | 7 Give every flying minute
Something to keep in store; |
| 4 Work, for the night is coming,
When man's work is done. | 8 Work, for the night is coming,
When man works no more. |
- 9 Work, for the night is coming,
Under the sunset skies;
 10 While their bright tints are glowing,
Work, for daylight flies.
 11 Work till the last beam fadeth—
Fadeth to shine no more;
 12 Work, while the night is dark'ning,
When man's work is o'er

COME HOME, FATHER.

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1 Father, dear father, come home with me now.
The clock in the steeple strikes one. | 4 Indeed he is worse, Ma says he will die.
Perhaps ere the morning shall dawn. |
| 2 With poor brother Benny so sick in her arms,
And no one to help her but me. | 5 Father, dear father, come home with me now.
The clock in the steeple strikes three. |
| 3 Father, dear father, come home with me now.
The clock in the steeple strikes two. | 6 Yes, we are alone, poor Benny is dead,
And gone with the angels of light. |

1. WHERE IS MY BOY TONIGHT?

"Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight?"

- | | |
|---|--|
| 2 Where is my wandering boy to-night,
The boy of my tenderest care;
3 The boy that was once my joy and light,
The child of my love and prayer? | 10 O could I see you now, my boy,
As fair as in olden time;
11 When prattle and smile made home a joy,
And life was a merry chime. |
| chorus | chorus |
| 4 O where is my boy to-night?
O where is my boy to-night?
5 My heart o'erflows, for I love him,
he knows;
O where is my boy to-night? | 12 O where is my boy to-night?
O where is my boy to-night?
13 My heart o'erflows, for I love him,
he knows;
O where is my boy to-night? |
| 6 Once he was pure as morning dew,
As he knelt at his mother's knee;
7 No face was so bright, no heart more true,
And none was so sweet as he | 14 Go for my wandering boy to-night,
Go search for him where you will;
15 But bring him to me with all his blight,
And tell him I love him still. |
| chorus | chorus |
| 8 O where is my boy to-night?
O where is my boy to-night?
9 My heart o'erflows, for I love him,
he knows;
O where is my boy to-night? | 16 O where is my boy to-night?
O where is my boy to-night?
17 My heart o'erflows, for I love him,
he knows;
O where is my boy to-night? |

THE OLD OAKEN BUCKET.

This old favorite poem has been illustrated with beautiful scenes from the Gulf Coast and other appropriate sections of our country, and the fifteen beautiful views as indicated below make one of the finest illustrations that have ever been brought before the public. Colored only. Price, 50 cents each.

- | | |
|---|---|
| 1 How dear to my heart are the scenes of my childhood,
When fond recollection presents them to view; | 10 The moss covered bucket I hail as a treasure,
For often at noon when returned from the field, |
| 3 The orchard, the meadow, the deep tangled wild wood, | 11 I found it a source of exquisite pleasure,
The sweetest and purest that nature can yield. |
| 4 And every loved spot which my infancy knew. | 12 And now far removed from the loved situation,
The tear of regret will intrusively swell, |
| 5 The wide spreading stream and the mill that stood by it, | 13 As fancy reverts to my father's plantation, |
| 6 The bridge and the rock where the cataract fell; | 14 And sighs for the bucket that hung in the well. |
| 7 The cot of my father, the dairy house by it, | 15 The old oaken bucket, the iron bound bucket,
The moss covered bucket that hung in the well. |
| 8 And e'en the rude bucket that hung in the well. | |

REFRAIN

- 9 The old oaken bucket, the iron bound bucket,
The moss covered bucket that hung in the well.

STAR SPANGLED BANNER.

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1 O, Say, Can You See, by the Dawn's Early Light | 4 And Where is that Banner Who's Vauntingly Swore |
| 2 And the Rocket's Red Glare, the Bombs Bursting in the Air | 5 Oh, Thus Be it Ever When Freedom men Shall Stand |
| 3 On the Shore Dimly Seen Thro' the Mist of the Deep | 6 And this be Our Motto, In God We Trust" |

HOME, SWEET HOME

- | | |
|---|---|
| 2 Mid pleasures and palaces though we may roam, | 10 An exile from home, splendor dazzles in vain; |
| 3 Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home. | 11 Oh, give me my lowly thatched cottage again; |
| A charm from the skies seems to hallow us there. | The birds singing gaily, that come at my call, |
| 4 Which seek thro' the world is ne'er met with elsewhere. | 12 Give these and that peace of mind dearer than all. |

REFRAIN

- Home, home, sweet, sweet home,
There's no place like home, there's no place like home.

REFRAIN

- Home, home, sweet, sweet home,
There's no place like home, there's no place like home.

- | | |
|--|---|
| I gaze on the moon as I tread the drear wild, | 14 How sweet 'tis to sit 'neath a fond father's smile |
| 6 And feel that my mother now thinks of her child; | The care of a mother to soothe and beguile |
| 7 As she looks on that moon from our dear cottage door. | 15 Let others delight 'mid new pleasures to roam |
| 8 Thro' the woodbine whose fragrance shall cheer me no more. | But give me, oh! give me the pleasure of home. |

REFRAIN

- Home, home, sweet, sweet home,
There's no place like home, there's no place like home.

REFRAIN

- Home, home, sweet, sweet home,
But give me, oh! give me the pleasure of home.

|--|
| 17 To thee I'll return over-burdened with care. |
| The heart's dearest solace will smile on me there; |
| 18 No more from that cottage again will I roam, |
| Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home. |
| REFRAIN |
| 19 Home, home, sweet, sweet home,
There's no place like home, there's no place like home. |

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS SLIDES.

LIFE POSINGS FOR THE FIRST RANK WORK K. OF P.

These illustrations consist of thirty lantern slides photographed from actual life.

These posings were made under the personal supervision of Captain Morris G. Boas, of the famous First Rank team of Washington Lodge No. 32, Chicago. Brother Boas has given this subject years of thought and study and spent much time and money in perfecting the work. The costumes and stage settings are historically correct and the posings strong and impressive. The slides are copy-righted by M. G. Boas.

A demonstration was made before the Supreme Lodge at New Orleans and these slides received enthusiastic approval by that august body.

PRICE

Third Rank K. of P., Wood Mounted, set of 30 slides.....	$3.00
Third Rank K. of P., Unmounted, set of 30 slides.....	3.00

The slides are furnished mounted on a special carrier which is designed to be used in the wood mounted slides. When a double dissolving carrier is desired, the carrier should be used with a double glass. The carrier is made of wood and this carrier is only fifty cents, and every set of slides is furnished with one of these carriers in case anyone desires to use them in lanterns.

There is less danger of breaking a slide when mounted in the carrier than when it is not necessary to touch the glass when the slide is being changed. The carrier keeps the slide clean.

The wood mountings we furnish adhere to the slides and are so constructed that when desired the slide can be removed without the aid of a knife.

To prove our confidence in the slides and to give you an opportunity of seeing them before purchasing, we make the following offer:

SECRET SOCIETY SLIDES, KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS—(Continued.)

To any K. of P. lodge sending us a written order properly signed and bearing the seal of the lodge, we will send set of these slides subject to ten days' trial.

They are so arranged that each picture stands about the same length of time on the screen. In other sets the slides are not evenly distributed, some slides standing only a few seconds and others stand so long there is danger of breaking the slide from heat of the lantern.

An artist may know how to illustrate a book, but is not familiar with the requirements for lantern slides.

We not only manufacture lanterns and slides, but also illustrate songs, poems, recitations, etc. Being familiar with the requirements, our slides fit the story and the story fits the slides. This set is therefore superior to any other on the market.

To any K. of P. lodge sending an official order will be sent set of slides on 10 days' trial. When complete set of both first and third rank are ordered at same time a discount of 10 per cent is allowed from list price.

A special circular regarding these slides, containing commendatory letters from Supreme Lodge K. of P. Officers, will be sent on application.

ORDER OF THE EASTERN STAR.

Our original set of O. E. S. slides illustrates the beautiful initiation ceremonies completely from start to finish—from the time the candidate enters at the preparation room door until the by-laws are signed. During this whole time, of over one hour, with the use of our slides, the lights need not be turned on. It will be evident to every member of the Order how much this adds to the solemnity and impressiveness of the work. These slides have nearly all been posed from life under direction of competent officers of the Order.

For the convenience of Chapters that cannot buy the full number, these are also listed in sets of 50, 32, 15 and 5 slides. While we would always recommend the full set of 70, the abridged sets are excellent, and the additional slides can be purchased at any time. Set No. 2, containing 50 slides, is indicated by all the dagger († and ‡) numbers; set No. 3, of 32 slides, includes all marked with the double dagger (§); set No. 4, of 15 slides, is shown by the star (*), while the set of 5 comprises numbers 66 to 70 inclusive, and is particularly desirable for those having double lanterns. Every progressive Chapter should have a set of these slides; they will add interest to the work and greatly increase attendance at the meetings.

SLIDES FROM DR. GEO. L. ROBINSON'S ORIGINAL NEGATIVES ON THE SUDAN, THE DESERT OF SINAI, HEBRON AND NORTH SYRIA

Price: 40c Plain; 80c Colored.

We take great pleasure in announcing the presentation of rare and most valuable sets of slides from negatives of Dr. Geo. L. Robinson, of the McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago. Dr. Robinson, has not only taken a conspicuous place among the foremost scholars of the day, but has distinguished himself as an explorer and discoverer in regions long considered unsafe and difficult of access.

To Dr. Robinson's other accomplishments he has added that of unusual photographic skill, as these exquisite views attest.

In presenting these slides, we offer a medium which will give a new insight into Eastern life and customs, and throw valuable light on the Biblical Narrative itself. We feel that all interested in Bible lands and Eastern life are indebted to Dr. Robinson for this series.

These views include the Sudan, revealing conditions of life in the heart of Africa; The Sinai, or South Country, illustrating the Wilderness Wanderings; Petra, Beersheba and the Philistine plains, where Dr. Robinson has made such important discoveries; Northern Syria and interesting negatives on Egypt and the Holy Land.

These comprise without doubt the most helpful stereopticon illustrations presented by any author in reproducing Biblical and Oriental life and confirming Scriptural Truth.

CHURCH AND SUNDAY SCHOOL DEPARTMENT

Foreword.

Having received many requests from churches and Sunday School workers for slides to illustrate and unfold Biblical Truths, we have established a special department to meet this need and now offer the most complete and helpful material along these lines yet given to the public.

Pastors wishing to solve the Sunday evening problem, and secure a large attendance on the part of those who are not attracted by the ordinary service on Sunday night, as well as to strengthen their ministry by giving it freshness and variety, and bring both young and old to a "knowledge of the Truth," will find what they have long been seeking.

Sunday School Workers will appreciate a method that will make the Bible a new Book as light is thrown on its teachings from the Land, its life and customs, and from the works of our greatest artists. Setting the Truths of the current Sunday School lessons in this attractive frame work, the lessons taught will no longer be abstract, but be made vital and attractive. These beautiful sets cannot fail to arouse the enthusiasm of both teacher and scholar.

Evangelists will find these sets most helpful in leading the multitude into the better life. The accompanying lectures are not only intended to be suggestive, but have been made practical and winning in tone.

Missionary Societies will find in what we have to offer, the world with its darkness and need brought to our very doors. By looking upon our Mission Schools and Churches and seeing the faces of those who represent us in the field "White for the Harvest," the monthly concert is made instructive and appealing as never before.

Manager and Literary Editor. We have placed in charge of this practical department, one whose qualifications along these lines we consider most exceptional. Our Manager, Earl B. Hubbell, D. D., has not only gathered constantly for seventeen years in Chicago, one of the largest evening congregations in this city and secured an understanding of the needs of our church, but by personal visits to the Holy Land and to the leading places of interest in Europe, Asia and Africa, has prepared himself to be of the most practical assistance to all interested in these lines.

The Plan. These slides are not only offered for sale, but for rental, at such rates as will place them within easy reach. They are usually arranged in sets of fifty slides, accompanied by lectures. The slides are colored by expert artists, who have given our slides a name of high grade quality wherever used. Engagements are arranged throughout the country as close together as possible to save time and expense in transportation, and we suggest neighboring pastors and workers forming a circuit which will insure more certain and economical service. If any organizations yet without this help will write us, we will offer suggestions making it possible to secure an outfit in the easiest method at the lowest cost. A lantern is an indispensable outfit in every church and school.

Material. The sets listed on the following pages form only the beginning of efforts along these lines. As rapidly as they can be prepared, other sets will be offered, and from the abundant resources which we now have on hand, we are in a position to supply whatever our workers may need.

Rent. For prices, terms, etc., see page 252.

THROUGH THE CAUCASUS TO ST. PETERSBURG.
With Lecture.

The beautiful Provinces of Trans Caucasia, with its grand mountain scenery, picturesque nationalities and classic associations, and Cis Caucasia with its mineral springs and fashionable resorts have been little explored by American tourists. While distance, added to the difficulties of traveling, continue to keep them comparatively unknown regions, a trip in imagination will be found intensely interesting, under the guidance of Mrs. L. C. Van Hook, who has traveled extensively in these delightful portions of Russia, and who furnishes pictures gathered on the spot.

THE NOBLE ARMY OF MARTYRS IN CHINA.

With Lecture by C. H. Case.

"Slain for the word of God and the testimony which they held."—Rev. 6:9.

The ferocious cruelty of the Boxers, inspired and encouraged by the wicked and deceitful Empress Dowager of China; and the splendid heroism and faithfulness of the missionaries and native Chinese Christians has never been surpassed in the history of the world. Over two hundred missionaries and many thousands of native Chinese Christians were murdered in the most cruel manner that fiendish minds could devise.

"They were tortured, not accepting deliverance, that they might obtain a better resurrection. They had trials of cruel mockings and scourgings, yea, moreover, of bonds and imprisonment; they were stoned, were slain with swords; they wandered about in sheep skins and goat skins; being destitute, afflicted, tormented; of whom the world was not worthy; they wandered in deserts, and in mountains, and in dens and caves of the earth."

Mr. Charles H. Case has had a long experience in promoting missionary work and a personal acquaintance with many of the martyrs. In order that he might bring their "great sacrifice" in a more real and vivid way before the public he has prepared a series of lantern slides with lecture. Many of the martyred ones had been in his home before they went to China, and some of the survivors of the siege have been at his table since their return to their own land. This has enabled Mr. Case to present many interesting facts and traits of character which would otherwise have been left out of a descriptive lecture.

TO OUR CUSTOMERS.

When sending orders in while travelling, kindly give more than one address, as it is not always possible to make prompt shipment, and mail may be delayed so that order is not received by us on the date expected

If not convenient to obtain money order, enclose a bill. The risk of loss is very small when paper money is sent by mail. For anything less than one dollar, send two cent stamps

It is not necessary to know exact price of goods for if too much money is sent, we will promptly refund balance, or place the amount to credit, as preferred.

To protect ourselves from loss, we must insist that when goods are ordered sent C. O. D., sufficient money accompany the order to pay express charges both ways. When telegraphing, deposit money with agent of express company by which goods are to be shipped, and have him wire us the order, stating amount of money deposited by Mude Wineman.

From afar the Ten Peaks, like ten mammoth ghosts, beckon the traveler to the valley of strange sights, when lo! a thundering noise frightens the spectator as a white avalanche, somewhat in the manner of a comet with a tail of star-dust, shoots down through the frosty air to the white valley below. Furnished colored only $1.00.
